TARIFF JUGGLERS FIND TAFT SPHINX

Fear Veto of Bill if They Fail to Convince the President That Schedules Meet Pledges.

PROBLEM IN DEADLINE.

Mystery for Congressional Leaders in Placid, Smiling, Judicial Demeanor of Executive.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Some of the ruling spirits among the representatives and senators are slowly coming to the belief that Esop, Fontaine, and the other writers of fables did not really know their business.

They call to mind the story of the animals who were so delighted when King Stork was sent to them to take the place of the sleepy old Log who had run their kingdom in such humdrum manner that they were tired of his rule. Then, as every one remembers, the stately but unfeeling bird proceeded to eat up about half his subjects, until those who were left sighed for the good old days under King Log.

Some of the senators and representatives thought they had reversed the old fable, and when Mr. Roosevelt was succeeded by Mr. Taft they began to sing the praises of solid wood as opposed to the strenuous and voracious birds. Now, curiously enough, the same men who only a few weeks ago were sighing with relief are beginning to wonder whether they have not made a mistake.

Signs of Discontent Seen.

Already before the African hunt has fairly begun there are signs of discontent, not at the mildness but at the mystery of the new administration. It is a fact which is becoming realized slowly but surely that the silent influence of the Taft administration is becoming more formidable every day, and this likely will be made most manifest in the final construction of the tariff bill.

Everybody knows how much difference there is and always has been between Roosevelt and Taft. They are both moving in the same direction, but they proceed along strangely different lines of attack. If Mr. Roosevelt were in the White house now there would be conferences upon conferences. He would have given his view on a great many different schedules without much regard for the constitutional limitations upon the powers of the president, and the air would have been full of forebodings and threats and mutterings of the dire things that were to happen if the wishes of the chief executive were not taken into consideration.

Roosevelt Liked a Fight.

President Roosevelt could no more keep out of a legislative fight than he could avoid taking notice of the malign tales of the nature fakers. It was not in him to sit idly by as a spectator and then act only when the finished product of congress was presented to him for his acceptance or rejection. The result was that during the Roosevelt administration almost without exception every important measure was fought out between him and congress through daily conferences and repeated compromises, so that in the long run almost everything was finished up before it was submitted to the president at all.

When the present special session was called by President Taft for the express purpose of revising the tariff many of the leaders of the house and senate hurried to the White house to find how far the president proposed to go. They expected to proceed along the strenuous line of battle of the Roosevelt administration and were completely taken aback when they found a new man in the White house really believed the constitution did amount to something, even between friends.

Grievous Error as to Taft.

When asked to say how far he would allow congress to go, and just where a veto would be interposed, Mr. Taft, to the delight of his congressional callers, declared that in his opinion it was not his business to legislate nor to attempt to dictate to congress just what it should do in the matter of specific rates of duty on any particular article. He read to them extracts from his speech of acceptance, his inauguration address, and the message calling them into special session, but there was an absence of instruction and a freedom from threat which caused the congressional callers to fall into a grievous error.

They went back and reported to their lieutenants in the house that President Taft was "dead easy," and they rejoiced exceedingly over the area of high barometer which seemed to have succeeded the constant storm centers which used to permeate the White house atmosphere. The result was that the house went booming along with the tariff bill, which raised the rates over the Dingley measure on a number of important articles. The senate committee on finance followed suit. It reduced some of the additions made by the house, but the net result of both bills was a tariff measure which, on the whole, slightly raised the rates of the existing law, so far as the general average of duties was concerned.

President Not Easy Victim.

All of this seems to have been done on the theory that President Taft was an easy going individual with an expansive smile and charming personality, who was unquestionably honest, but was much too slow in his movements to detect the game which was being put upon him.

It was true that when the framers of both house and senate bills called upon him the president listened to them patiently and without any of the outbursts to which they had become accustomed when on similar missions in the recent past. He did not say he would veto the bill unless this, that, or the other thing was done; neither did he say he would approve the measure if certain notable schedules were attended to and the rest were left to the unbridled fancy of the congressional tariff experts.

None of the things to which the statesmen had accustomed themselves seemed to happen about the White house. They were not told what they must or must not do, and they went away with the mistaken idea that almost any old tariff bill they chose to pass would be accepted at its face value by the president as a real revision.

Recently some of the party leaders who pronounced President Taft "dead easy"

LIGHTNING THOUGHT CAUSE

Many Men Fight to Save Freight Buildings from Destruction.

One man was killed and two others probably met death, while twelve were injured, five of them seriously, by a $1,000,000 fire which destroyed Elevator B of the Illinois Central railroad early today.

The immense structure was located at the foot of South Water street and occupied nearly a block of ground.

Adjoining property worth millions of dollars was threatened every moment, but at 5:30 o'clock it appeared that the danger of it catching fire was over, with one exception. The Central elevator at that time was endangered.

Lightning is believed to have caused the fire.

The Killed.

Lieut. McElliott of truck 3; probably two others, unidentified.

The Injured.

Capt. Stahl.
Lieut. Devine.
Pipeman Ramsey.
Pipeman Freer.
Samuel Wilson.
George Dieckman.
William J. O'Brien, hook and ladder No. 3.
E. Berg, engine Co. 38.

Injured Taken to Hospital.

The more seriously wounded were taken to Passavant, Polyclinic, and Emergency hospitals.

The fire started shortly after 4 o'clock, and before the arrival of the first firemen had enveloped the huge structure, and it was doomed. A general alarm was sounded, and then special calls for assistance were sent in at regular intervals until more than sixty engines were on the scene.

Walls Collapse Without Warning.

The walls of Elevator B collapsed without warning while members of Companies 41, 21, 32, 27, and 17 were in front of the building.

Lieut. McElliott was caught beneath the blazing walls and at least two other firemen are said to have been with him. Their bodies have not been recovered.

Flames Spread to Dockhouse.

The flames at 5 o'clock had spread to the new dockhouse of the Illinois Central, and the firemen began fighting to save that structure. They also were put to strenuous work to prevent the destruction of the freight buildings.

The freight houses are said to have caught on fire more than a dozen times, but the blaze was as often extinguished. For a time the blaze, fanned by the wind, reached to the docks of the International Salt company, and companies of firemen were ordered to that point.

Burning embers, torn from their fasteninkgs, were carried far over the district and threatened millions of dollars worth of property.

BILLS BUSSE ASKS PASSED BY HOUSE

Measures Grant City Power to Issue $16,000,000 More Bonds and Increase Control Over Building.

DENEEN MAY USE VETO.

Proposals Will Be Steered by a Friendly Committee When They Are Taken Up to the Senate.

BY C. S. R.

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—Speaker Shurtleff and the house of representatives made Mayor Busse and his city administration a present today of most of the legislation for which the mayor and his officials are asking. There is a suspicion that if the senate will pass the various bills as they left the house and if the governor will sign them, there will not be any great amount of weeping and gnashing of teeth even if the charter bills fall by the wayside.

The bills passed by the house included not only the bond and revenue bills, which will enable the city to issue nearly $16,000,000 in additional bonds, but also measures increasing the power of the building department and strengthening the city's power to regulate the construction of buildings and even their use.

There was opposition to all of the bills, but it was not effective and did not seriously endanger any except the one removing Chicago and other cities which pass fire escape laws from the operation of the state laws on this subject. Even that one was passed at the evening session after a hard fight for votes.

Summary of Bills Passed.

The various Chicago bills in brief follow:

BONDS—By increasing the assessed valuation from one-fifth to one-third of the full value the cities of the state are enabled to increase their bond issues 66 2-3 per cent. In the case of Cook county the assessed valuation, now $477,190,399, would be $795,317,331. On this increased assessed value bonds could be issued up to a total of $39,765,726, or an increase of $15,906,207 over the issues now outstanding.

TAXES—By decreasing the tax rate permissible to be levied against the assessed value of property by the various taxing bodies the attempt is made to offset the increase in assessments and hold taxes down to their present amount. In Chicago the present law fixes the minimum city rate at $1.80. The new law would reduce it to $1.10. In Cook county the present minimum is 65 cents; the new law would reduce it to 40 cents.

BUILDINGS—The Cermak bill is intended to give city councils in cities and the president and trustees in towns and cities the power to regulate the construction, use, improvement, and repair of buildings and to create districts within which no building other than those defined by the ordinances as fireproof shall be erected.

FIRE ESCAPES—This bill, also introduced by Cermak, relieves cities which have fire escape ordinances from the operation of the state laws as enforced by the state factory inspector. If the state laws were enforced against the big office buildings of Chicago they would be plastered with fire escapes.

Bond Bill in Friendly Hands.

The bond bills which permit the increase in the bonding power with no other action than that of the passage of ordinances by the council and their indorsement by the mayor will go to Senator Gardner's committee in the senate. Gardner is a friend of Mayor Busse, and the senators who are opposed to the legislation have no idea they can be delayed in committee. They are likely to come out about as rapidly as they enter and to be on the senate calendar by next week.

An effort will be made to amend them by tacking to the bond bill a requirement for the submission of every bond ordinance to popular vote. An effort may be made to amend the series to make effective after Jan. 1, 1910, by which time the fate of the consolidation bill in the charter series, the bill providing for the increased bonding authority, will have been decided by the voters if it has the good luck to be passed by the legislature.

If present indications are of any value neither of these attempts will be successful, and it is likely that the bills will be sent to the governor in their present form. What he will do with them is an open question.

Governor Would Heed Protests.

If considerable protest arises in Chicago against the bestowal of unrestricted bond issuing power on the city council the governor may veto them.

No personal considerations for Mayor Busse's welfare would restrain him from doing so if it became apparent that the taxpayers of the city were afraid of the legislation. In spite of the present adverse conditions under which the opponents of the bills in the senate are fighting, it may be possible for them to secure amendments, and in that case it is probable the house would refuse to concur.

Mr. Shurtleff promised Mayor Busse that he would get his legislation through for him if it were possible, and most of the influential members of the house have been tied up by similar promises. Mr. Shurtleff carried out his part of the bargain, taking personal charge of the measures when they were on second reading and subject to amendment, and again today when they came up for passage. He did not have much difficulty.

House bill 293, the essential one of the whole series, was passed by a vote of 84 to 59. Representatives Fulton, Maclean, Mills, E. J. Murphy, William Murphy, Murray, Naylor, Pierson, and F. J. Wilson were the Cook county representatives who voted against it. After it had been passed, there was nothing for the house to do but to pass the companion bills, which seek to restrict the tax levies.

Bills Explained by Shepard.

Attorney Frank Shepard of Chicago, who has had the bills in care of the city administration, gave out the following statement this evening in explanation of their effect, should they become effective:

"The bills commonly designated as the mayor's bond bills increase the bond power of the several municipalities of the state 66 2-3 per cent without increasing the maxi-

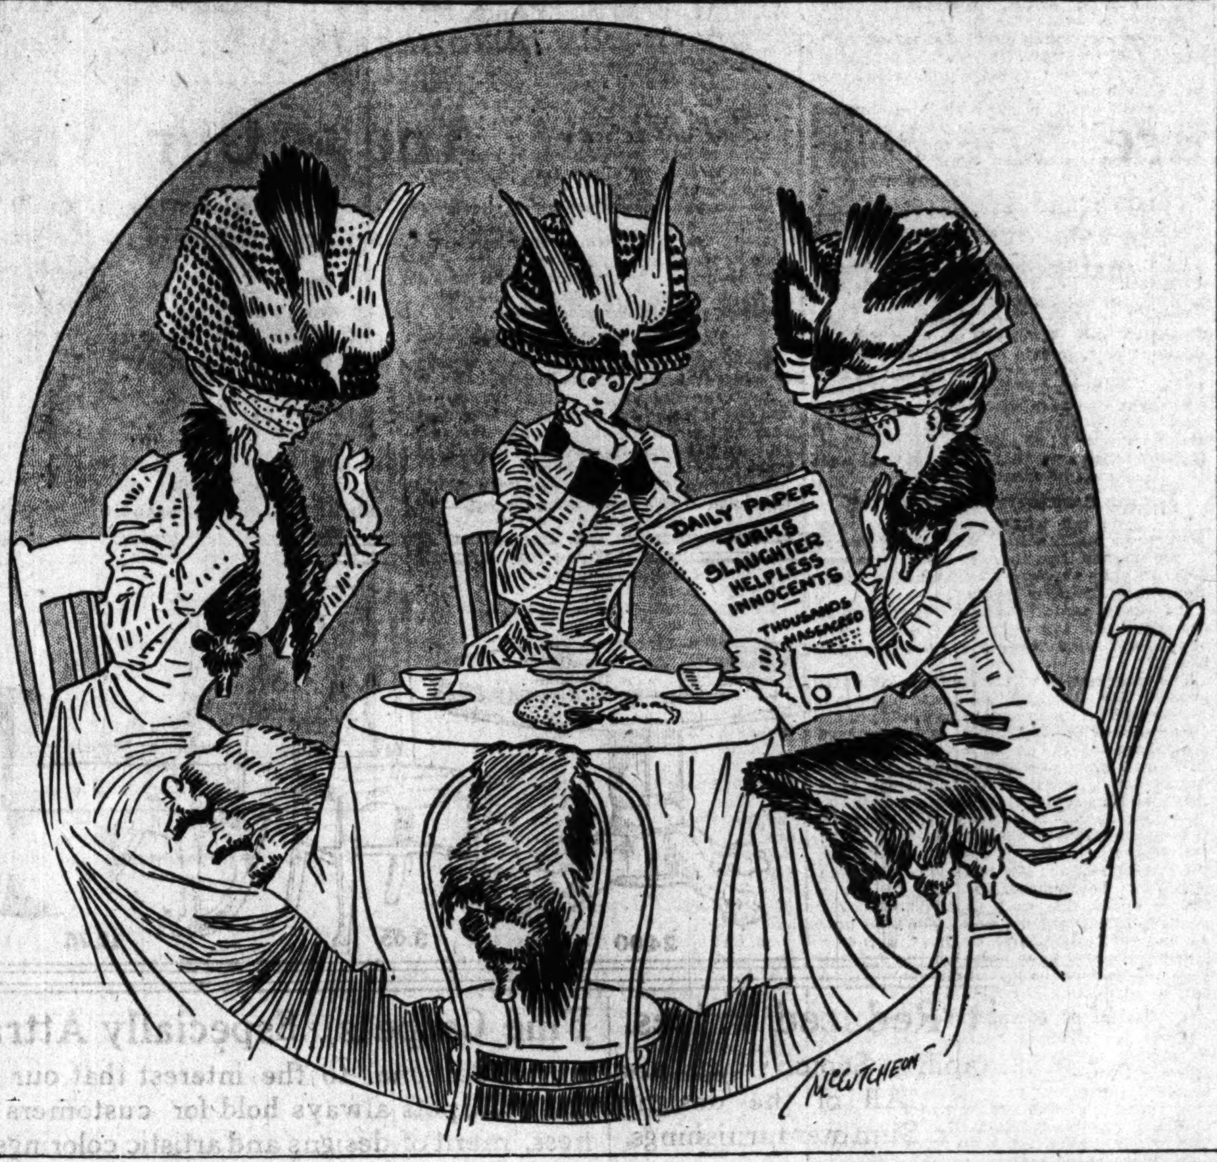
"ISN'T THIS SLAUGHTER PERFECTLY TERRIBLE!"



SCHLAU LOSES POLICE JOB

Lieutenant Is Discharged When Found Guilty by Trial Board.

RELEASED PAROLED CONVICT

Conflicting Evidence in Capt. Evans' Case to Be Considered.

Lieut. Robert Schlau, the commanding officer of the town hall police station, was discharged from the force yesterday by the police trial board on the charges growing out of his unwarranted release of Joseph Joyce, a paroled convict accused of burglary. Attorney Francis S. Noonan, who prosecuted the case, announced in the evening that his next step would be a demand for the indictment of the policeman by the grand jury.

Capt. Michael P. Evans, director of the police bureau of identification, who failed to identify Joyce as a known criminal, was censured tacitly in the finding of the trial board. A transcript of the testimony of the captain, which is strangely conflicting in spots, will be submitted to Chief of Police Shippy "for his information." The chief then will decide whether charges against Capt. Evans are warranted by the evidence.

The charges on which Lieut. Schlau was convicted emanated from his conduct in the investigation of a burglary at the residence of James S. Falkinburg, 144 Winthrop avenue, on Feb. 10 last.

The Accusations.

The three accusations, each of which was sustained, were:

Neglect of duty in releasing the prisoner, Joyce, after he had been identified by Mrs. Falkinburg, as the robber of her apartment.

Unbecoming conduct in insulting Mrs. Falkinburg with the insinuation that her diamonds were taken by men she was entertaining.

Mutilation of public records, namely, the police arrest book from which the name of Joseph Joyce was erased subsequent to his release.

The trial board was a unit in finding Schlau guilty on all counts, but there was a division on the question of punishment. Civil Service Commissioners Michael McKinley and Hiram D. Fargo took the stand that discharge was merited by the flagrancy of the offenses, but Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler thought that the punishment should be mitigated by Schlau's twenty years of service with a good record.

Schlau Denies Undue Influence.

The intimation all through the case was that Schlau knew Joyce, but released him because the accused man is a brother of Thomas Joyce, controller of the Congress Hotel company, who married the widow of a brother of Chief Shippy. Schlau denied this. Thomas Joyce paid the expenses of Schlau's unfruitful trip west to search for Joseph Joyce after the scandal became public.

Capt. Evans had considerable difficulty in convincing the trial board that he was ignorant of the identity of Joyce. He testified that the failure of identification of Joyce as a paroled convict was due to the inexperience of a green employé with the Bertillon records. Later recalled to the stand, he told of a telephone conversation he had had with Thomas Joyce the day the brother was brought to the bureau.

The first day on the stand he had testified that he had not talked to Thomas Joyce. He explained the discrepancy by saying that the telephone conversation took place an hour after the prisoner left the bureau. Thomas Joyce testified that the conversation took place while his brother was at the bureau.

Story of the Robbery.

Mrs. Falkinburg told the trial board that she was robbed in her flat by two men, one of whom she subsequently identified as Joyce. She fainted and the burglars brought her water and also fanned her. They left after taking her diamonds, and also making note of her name, promising to send her the pawn tickets.

When she went to the station with her husband to complain of the robbery Lieut. Schlau took her into his office and said:

"This job doesn't look right to me. Tell me who those two men were you were entertaining in your room and I'll get your diamonds back."

Mrs. Falkinburg said she became hysterical and appealed to her husband and the police officer later repeated the insinuation in the presence of Mr. Falkinburg.

Tells of Identifying Joyce.

She also told of going to the station a month later and identifying Joyce as one of the men who robbed her. He had been arrested with a man by the name of Olson, now in the county jail, who had burglars' tools in his possession. She never was notified to go to court to testify against him, and the next she learned was that he had been released.

Lawrence Malm testified to going to the Town Hall police station and finding Joyce's name erased from the book. Desk Sergeant Shearin, on duty, declared the erasure had been made on the lieutenant's orders. The books were produced at the hearing and the erasure found.

When told of the verdict Schlau said he would make no comment at this time.

BURGLARS GET $5,000 HAUL IN JEWELRY STORE ROBBERY.

Thieves Steal Street Car Tools to Pry Off Bars at Place of John Townsend, 1554 Wabash Avenue.

For the third time in a dozen years the jewelry store of John Townsend, 1554 Wabash avenue, was entered by burglars early yesterday morning and took 100 watches, 150 lockets, and some plated ware worth $5,000. The burglary was discovered a few hours later by Townsend, the aged owner, when he opened the place.

The burglars stole tools owned by the Chicago City Railways company, which is placing new rails in Indiana avenue near Twenty-first street, to pry off three heavy iron bars which protect a rear window of the store. The men used acid in testing articles stolen. Two safes containing $50,000 in jewelry were not tampered with.

John Howard, 76 years old, was caught by Capt. Patrick Harding of the Shakspeare avenue station last night as he was leaving the home of Mrs. Albert L. Glende, 1083 West Fullerton avenue, which he had burglarized. He admitted, the police say, he has been arrested before on burglary charges and could not resist an old desire to steal.

DUTCH POPULACE AT PALACE; HEIR EXPECTED MOMENTARILY

Ministers of Holland Gather Near Apartments of Sovereign and Queen's Condition Is Declared Satisfactory.

THE HAGUE, April 28.—At a late hour tonight an enormous crowd was waiting anxiously outside the palace for news of the birth of an heir to the throne of Holland.

The ministers are in attendance at the palace, and every preparation has been made for the event. The physicians report Queen Wilhelmina's condition as completely satisfactory.

A rumor which spread during the course of the evening that a princess had been born caused intense excitement, but it proved to be untrue.

APRIL SHOWER AT MIDNIGHT.

Thunder Storm Surprises the Theater Crowds, Following Day of Rain and Hail.

An April shower, with the usual accompaniment of thunder and lightning, swept over the icty shortly after midnight.

Persons on the streets in the downtown district and others who were riding on surface and elevated cars, were startled by a flash of lightning followed by a cannonading in the heavens that seemed to shake the skyscrapers.

Lightning struck a building at 277 West Madison street and another at 153 Jefferson street, but no damage resulted.

Lightning struck near the Chicago avenue police station and blew out two fuses connecting the switchboard over which other police stations are called by the private telephone. The service was put out of commission for several hours.

Many electric lights in the Evanston police station and in its vicinity were put out this morning when lightning struck the wires. Several telephone poles and many trees were blown down by a high wind in Glencoe.

Hail fell early in the morning and the succeeding rain continued throughout the day with brief interruptions. In the early evening there also was a thunder storm—and more hail.

WETS WIN RIOTOUS ELECTION

Fights, Threats, and Scores of Arrests in Chillicothe, O.

MILITIA PLAYS A BIG PART.

Sheriff Opposes City Officials to Give Drys Fair Chance.

Chillicothe, O., April 28.—[Special.]—Ross county today was carried by the wets after a bitter election fight, during which the local company of state militia was called out to give the drys a fair contest in this city. There were frequent clashes on the streets, and many of the anti-saloon workers were attacked by sluggers while at the polls.

The wets had the backing of the city officials, and it is alleged that the entire police force was out in plain clothes working for the liquor interests. Many of the dry watchers at the polls were arrested on patched up charges and kept in prison for the greater part of the day.

The sheriff of the county came to the aid of the dry forces and swore in many deputies, at the same time calling out the local militia company, armed with clubs instead of rifles, to enforce order. The sheriff, carrying a warrant sworn out by anti-saloon workers, attempted all day to arrest Chief of Police Pendergast, but was unable to find him.

Drys May Contest Election.

Despite all of the safeguards, it is declared the saloon forces used fraud and the election probably will be contested by the drys. The county was carried by the wets by a majority estimated at 2,000, the city having given them 1,800 majority.

At least one man was seriously injured as a result of the campaign against the saloons. The Rev. George L. Pake of Portsmouth, O., was assaulted by a "wet" on the street. His left temple bone was laid bare by a blow with steel knuckles.

The battle began as soon as the polls opened at 5:30 this morning. Every polling place in the city was guarded by detectives. When it was seen that these could not do the work needed by the drys, Sheriff J. Henry Swope and Judge John W. Coldsberry swore in 100 deputy sheriffs to control the situation. The county officials declared they would see the "drys" got a square deal. They had heard complaints by the drys that the board of elections refused to appoint dry challengers and inspectors.

Cameras Weapons of Drys.

To see that no saloons were open, and could furnish voters with liquid arguments, women, armed with cameras, guarded both front and rear doors. Several of the cameras were smashed by the saloon workers, and Miss Myra Powell was arrested by a city policeman and taken to jail. Several others of the camera squad were arrested later.

The Rev. C. W. Eldredge, superintendent of the Cincinnati division of the Anti-Saloon league, who has been active in the campaign, and who was recently rotten egged by "wets" while he was speaking at Adelphi, was arrested, charged with violating the 100 feet limit at a polling place. The police arrested several other "dry" workers, all men, on the same charge.

In answer to this "dry" detectives swore out warrants for the arrest of five "wet" workers, charging them with attempting to bribe voters. The "wets" pleaded not guilty in the city court, and each was held for the grand jury under $300 bond.

Police Chief Assaults Worker.

When J. D. Wilhgott, secretary of the local option committee, called at the city jail to see the Rev. Mr. Eldredge, it is claimed by the "drys" that Wilhgott was refused admittance and was assaulted by Chief of Police Pendergast. Municipal officers refused the "drys" admission to the jail to see the "dry" workers who had been arrested on one pretext and another.

Late this evening, when Police Captain Schaffer heard that habeas corpus proceedings had been started for the release of the "dry" prisoners, he weakened and turned all of them loose.

The fight extended all over the county, and carriages and automobiles carried the "dry" detectives to various voting precincts outside the city.

WALSH DEFENDED BY VAN VLISSINGEN

Forger Denies Either Banker or Fred M. Blount Knew Definitely of His Misdeeds.

EXAMINED BY ROSENTHAL

Attorney for Rosenfeld and Rosenberg, Accused by Convict, Brings Other Names Into Case.

The names of John R. Walsh and Fred M. Blount were brought into the recital of Peter Van Vlissingen's misdeeds yesterday, under circumstances which at first promised a sensation.

After a secret conference between Van Vlissingen, the attorneys, and Referee in Bankruptcy Frank L. Wean, the matter was dropped after a perfunctory question and answer.

The matter was precipitated by a question put to Van Vlissingen by Lessing Rosenthal, attorney for Maurice Rosenfeld and Bernhard Rosenberg.

"What information did you have that John R. Walsh and Fred M. Blount had any knowledge of your practices?" asked Attorney Rosenthal.

"I had no information prior to the time I was convicted," replied Van Vlissingen.

"What information did you obtain subsequent to Nov. 16, 1908, that led you to believe that either Mr. Walsh or Mr. Blount had prior knowledge of your practices?" was the next question asked by Attorney Rosenthal.

"If you would permit me to talk with you a few moments, I think you would withdraw that question, Mr. Rosenthal," replied Van Vlissingen.

"No, I think I'll let the question stand," returned the attorney.

"Before I answer that question I would like to confer with the referee and the attorneys privately," said Van Vlissingen, appealing to Referee Wean.

Private Conference Effective.

An adjournment was taken and the interested parties went into a private office, where a conference lasting five minutes was had. When they returned to the courtroom Mr. Rosenthal revised his question as follows:

"Did you have any facts disclosed to you prior or subsequent to Nov. 16, 1908, which led you to believe, or do you know of your own knowledge that these men knew what you were doing?"

"I do not know of my own knowledge that Mr. Walsh or Mr. Blount knew anything about the matter," replied Van Vlissingen.

"Or did you learn of any one outside of Rosenfeld and Rosenberg who knew what you were doing?" continued Attorney Rosenthal.

"Mr. Rosenfeld and Mr. Rosenberg were the only ones who knew the state of my affairs so far as I know, and I do not think any of my other customers suspected me," said the witness.

As a result of the above line of questioning the record will show Mr. Walsh knew nothing of Van Vlissingen's misdeeds.

Visit to the Equitable Trust.

The question of whether Mr. Walsh and Mr. Blount could have known about the forgeries was brought out by a series of questions relating to a visit made by Van Vlissingen and Mr. Rosenfeld to the office of the Equitable Trust company. The visit was made for the purpose of clearing up some questions in regard to the title on property at the corner of Evans avenue and Forty-ninth street, which was being purchased for a Catholic institution and for which the Equitable Trust company was advancing the money. Van Vlissingen testified that he had made a loan on this property, the original notes and mortgage having been sold to T. J. Lefens and William C. Seipp, and that a forgery of this mortgage was among those held by Maurice Rosenfeld.

"The matter was talked over in my presence by Mr. Rosenfeld and others in the Equitable Trust company's office, and when I left I was under the impression that some of the people there suspected me, but I do not know positively," said Van Vlissingen.

Calls It Injustice to Walsh.

At the close of the hearing Mr. Van Vlissingen made the following statement regarding the Walsh matter:

"Mr. Walsh, poor man, is overburdened with troubles and it is a shame to have his name injected in this proceeding. I tried to prevent it, but Lessing Rosenthal forced it from me. That prompts me to make this statement.

"Mr. Rosenthal came to the penitentiary on Jan. 25, and he himself informed me that Mr. Walsh knew my secret, apparently for the purpose of asking me about it at the hearing. I told Rosenthal this afternoon at the conference what he had done, and if I were a free man I would rather go to prison than to be placed in the position he was placed in as he stood before Referee Wean and listened to what I had to say of him.

"It is most unjust that Walsh's name should be dragged into this trial for some purpose not now evident and I sought by my refusal to answer Rosenthal's question to protect him as much as Walsh, but he would not permit me to do so. Now that Walsh's name has been brought out I want the matter understood."

Rosenthal Says "Accident."

Attorney Rosenthal's version of the affair was as follows:

"It was more or less accidental that I brought up the name of Walsh. I did not know that Van Vlissingen knew that John R. Walsh was cognizant of his forgeries when I asked the question. In the conference Mr. Van Vlissingen admitted that he did not know of his own knowledge that Mr. Walsh knew anything about his affairs, and therefore I revised the question to meet that contingency, with the result that the record shows that he knew nothing. That is all there is to it."

Mr. Walsh's comment on the day's developments in the case was brief and to the point. At his residence in the evening the former banker had the following to say:

"I knew absolutely nothing about Van Vlissingen's misdeeds. Any statement that I had such prior knowledge is a plain lie."

When seen in the evening at his home, Mr. Blount, who was vice president of the defunct Chicago National bank, said:

"I did not know that Van Vlissingen was a forger, but I suspected it. I do not just remember the date when my attention was first called to the matter of certain peculiar things in connection with his business transactions, but it was some time before the exposure. I did not investigate it any further and I do not think Mr. Walsh knew any more than I did. I believe, however, that Van Vlissingen thought that I knew what he was doing, but as a matter of fact it was only a suspicion."

The afternoon hearing before Referee Wean was mostly occupied with questioning of Van Vlissingen by Attorney Rosenthal. There were frequent clashes between the witness and attorney over the form of questions put to him, Van Vlissingen insisting time after time that questions were not specific enough to permit of an answer that would not be misleading.

Forbids Cross Examination.

Early in the afternoon proceedings Referee Wean took occasion to advise Mr. Rosenthal that as this was simply a hearing of creditors for the purpose of ascertaining as far as possible any concealed assets, and as Van Vlissingen was not on trial, he could not permit a cross examination, and that the attorney must not try to refute the story Van Vlissingen had told.

"I will try to follow your honor's ruling," said Mr. Rosenthal, "and will endeavor to confine my questions to the point, but in view of the sensational statements which the witness has made against parties who are my clients it seems as if we might have an opportunity so fas as possible to refute them."

"I will make no objection to Mr. Rosenthal cross questioning the witness regarding the facts he has testified to, if he will bring his clients here and put them on the stand so that I may cross examine them in the same way," said Attorney George Peak, who represents the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee in bankruptcy. Referee Wean declared that such a proceeding was not relevant in a bankruptcy proceeding, and the examination was continued.

Tells of Movements in Chicago.

Van Vlissingen told of his movement since coming to Chicago a week ago and stated he had spent much time examining the books and papers of his office and had written out his recollections in a book, which he delivered to his attorney, James L. Turnock. Asked where he had done the work, he begged to be excused from answering.

"I was in seclusion," he said, "and there are so few places in Chicago where I can find the seclusion that is absolutely necessary for me to have that I would not like to divulge the place." He was not pressed for an answer.

"Is there anything more that you ought to tell?" asked Attorney Rosenthal.

"That is a hard question to answer. I am not consciously concealing anything, but to answer your question I would have to search my mind for the incidents of the last four or five years and remember all that I have told in the last two days," replied Van Vlissingen.

"When, with relation to the time that you started in business, did you first begin forging?" was one of the questions asked him.

"I began business for myself twenty years ago, and I forged my first mortgage and note four or five months afterwards. The first one I made, I remember, the name was Spitz. I think the first name was Christian. I am not sure whether I sold it or used it as collateral, but I think the latter was the use I put it to," said Van Vlissingen.

Becomes Desperate Toward End.

In answer to another question as to his reasons for making two or three copies of the same mortgage, he replied:

"I did it to raise money. At first I did little of that sort of thing, but towards the end, when I became calloused or careless or desperate, whatever you may call it, I did it quite often. I don't know just how many I made because toward the end events came so fast I had no chance to check up."

"The end was unexpected?" asked Attorney Rosenthal.

"No, I wouldn't say that. I had been expecting the end for twenty years, ever since I first started to forge. But as time went on, I kept on hoping, and I tried to avoid thinking about it as much as possible, and I never let myself check up to find out just how much forged paper I had out at one time. I don't even know when I first realized that the situation was hopeless. It dawned on me gradually; it didn't come to me over night, as some people say."

"Did you know that you were in a hopeless situation as long as ten years ago?" he was asked.

"Some days I thought the situation was hopeless, and other days things looked brighter and I thought I could pull out. But I kept on getting in deeper and deeper all the time, and all the time I was trying to divorce my mind from the thoughts of my crimes. I tried to have as little knowledge as possible of the extent of my forgeries."

Doesn't Remember His Statement.

"Didn't you tell the state's attorney the amount of your forgeries, approximately, saying they were between $600,000 and $700,000, and didn't you later tell Mr. Gardner when he went to visit you at Joliet how much forged paper you had issued?" asked Attorney Rosenthal.

"I don't know what I told the state's attorney. My mind was hazy and they kept asking me if it was a certain amount and I said 'yes,' and then they asked me if it was more and I said 'yes' until I couldn't answer any more. When Mr. Gardner came to Joliet to see me he wanted to tell me how much he thought I had forged, but I asked him not to, and later I did hear it from Mr. Lefens, but it went in at one ear and out the other, for I didn't want to know."

Another question that Attorney Rosenthal asked him was: "Did you purposely keep your books so that they were misleading?"

"No," replied Van Vlissingen slowly, "I did not purposely intend that they should be misleading, but in the later years, when I was working nights and Sundays, I could not keep the books up. Of course I could not let any one else keep them for me, because they would have found out what I was doing, so when the end came they were in a tangled condition. If you will let me have access to my books and papers for four or five days I will be able to tell exactly how many forged documents I made and sold, what moneys I paid out on account of them and to whom, and I can straighten out the whole tangle, but without the books and papers I cannot answer many of the questions you have put to me."

Books Speak for Themselves.

"I think, your honor," said Attorney Rosenthal, addressing Referee Wean, "that the books will speak for themselves, and that with the assistance of an expert bookkeeper we can find out what we want to know, without calling on Mr. Van Vlissingen for help."

"I would suggest that you try it and see what progress you make," said Van Vlissingen, "and then you will be glad enough of my assistance."

"In the last three or four years, when customers were withdrawing their business from you, didn't you think that they had begun to suspect you?" asked Attorney Rosenthal.

"No, I didn't think any of them suspected me," said Van Vlissingen.

"How about Emil Blatz? Knowing what your practices were, weren't you afraid that he suspected you when he began withdrawing his money from you?"

"Yes, I did think that he drew more money out than could be accounted for by the fact that he was building a house. In fact, about a year and a half ago Mr. Lefens told me he had heard a complaint from a certain party, which I took to be Emil Blatz, that I had made a collection and had not made returns as soon as I should. I tried to smooth it over, but I was afraid that Blatz might suspect, although he left his collections with me as usual even after that, only he did not buy any more mortgages. However, one member of the Blatz family who had a number of forged mortgages, sent two of them to me just a few days before the crash, which I could not pay."

"Sticking" His Old Friend.

The only time that Mr. Van Vlissingen showed any signs of breaking down during the afternoon was when he told about "sticking" his old friend Dr. W. T. Belfield.

"You were a close friend and roommate of Dr. Belfield, were you not? Did you not think that he suspected you when he failed to give you any more business?" asked Mr. Rosenthal.

"It is not true that he ceased giving me business, and I feel sure that he did not suspect me. I sold him a little paper, and up to four years ago he did not have a forged piece, but now unfortunately he has some. Yes, we were friends, and I may say still are, for not long ago he sent word to me at Joliet that he had no hard feelings against me."

"Isn't it a fact that Albert Madlener would not have anything to do with you socially three years ago?" asked Mr. Rosenthal.

"Absolutely the reverse is true," replied Van Vlissingen.

"Did you ever sell Harry F. Williams, who formerly worked for you, any forged paper?" was the next question.

"No," replied the witness.

"Any reason why you discriminated against him?" asked Attorney Rosenthal.

Van Vlissingen waited a moment and then replied: "I don't know why I treated him so well."

His Deals with Bartholomay.

Taking the statement which the trustee has drawn up from the books showing as nearly as can be determined the amount of forged paper and payments made on same, Mr. Rosenthal asked the witness if it was true that he had received from Henry Bartholomay the sum of $16,000 for forged mortgages sold to him during the last four years and that during that same time he had paid out to him nearly $250,000.

"I don't think that is correct. I have not seen the statement that you are referring to, but although I am sure that I paid Bartholomay more money than I received I think the figures stated by you are erroneous," he replied.

A few questions were asked by Attorney Peak during the afternoon, one of which was:

"Did either Mr. Rosenfeld or Mr. Rosenberg ever ask you if any of their friends held any of your bad paper?"

"Yes," replied Van Vlissingen. "Mr. Rosenfeld did. He asked me once if I had dealings with certain of his friends, and he named over four or five of them and wanted to know what kind of paper I had sold them. One of the men he asked me about was former Judge Philip Stein, and I assured him that the mortgages I had sold him were all right. My recollection is that I did not deal with the other men he mentioned."

Paying Rosenberg and Rosenfeld.

"Can you tell without reference to your books how much money was paid by you to Rosenfeld and Rosenberg in the four months prior to your exposure?" was another question put by Attorney Peaks.

"I cannot state definitely. It was up in the thousands, but the books and paper will show, and from them I could tell to the penny."

The examination will be continued this afternoon. Mr. Rosenthal said last night that he was not sure yet whether he would put his clients—Maurice Rosenfeld and Bernhard Rosenberg—on the stand or not. Both of these men when seen after yesterday's hearing declared that they would not say anything without advice from their attorney.

"I appreciate that we are put in a bad position by the false story told by this man," said Mr. Rosenthal. "A few years ago, under the law of Illinois, the testimony of a felon would not be allowed, but now he has a chance to tell this story that he has cooked up in the penitentiary, and I don't see how we can refute it. After the hearing is over possibly we will have something to say, but I cannot disclose the line of my examination now by permitting any statement."

Detail of Morning Session.

When the morning hearing began Van Vlissingen testified that he had seen Mr. Rosenfeld probably between five and seven hundred times; on the average of three or four times a week when he was in the city, and Mr. Rosenberg much less frequently. The meetings were held in his private office.

Q.—Were these matters touching the existence of your forgeries ever discussed by you with them in the presence of any one else during the period you have mentioned?

A.—Not any more than the conversations that I have related at the Equitable Trust company, where that was hinted at, but not definitely gone into, it was only hinted at in a remote way.

The witness then told of Fred M. Schmidt coming to his office and buying a $6,000 piece of paper when Rosenfeld was present.

Q.—Now what had been the character and manner of Mr. Rosenfeld's conversation with you before Mr. Schmidt came in?

A.—It was his usual character and manner, a combination of urging and threatening.

Q.—What was Mr. Rosenfeld's manner to you while Mr. Schmidt was present?

A.—It was such as not to arouse any suspicions on Mr. Schmidt's part.

Q.—Was it friendly or unfriendly?

A.—His demeanor changed and became friendly, apparently.

Q.—Did Mr. Rosenfeld at any time ask you whether the paper that you were selling Schmidt was good or bad?

A.—He did not.

Q.—You testified yesterday that you told Mr. Rosenfeld in December, 1904, of the fact that other of your customers and friends were also sufferers in the same way that he was.

A.—I did.

Q.—Now, I want you to state whether at any time in your talks with Mr. Rosenfeld his importunities of you for money, to which you testified, whether he ever asked you whether you were doing anything for any of the other victims to replace their loans?

A.—No, he never did.

Q.—Did you ever discuss with him whether any of them knew what you were doing?

A.—Yes.

Mentions Other Customers.

Q.—And what did you tell him about that?

A.—I told him that so far as I knew there was no suspicion against me amongst any of my other customers, excepting Mr. Rosenfeld and Mr. Rosenberg, and possibly some of his people I was not in connection with.

Q.—Did you consult with Mr. Rosenfeld as to how you might keep the others from knowing it?

A.—I never consulted with him. I had conversations with him that tended in that direction.

Q.—Did Mr. Rosenfeld ever make any suggestion to you as to whether you could raise any money from these other people with which to pay him off?

A.—One one occasion, it was probably early in 1905, he told me that he was willing to stand a large loss on the papers he held and that he would give me an opportunity to sell them, and he suggested that I might sell them to Mr. Orb or Lefens and Seip or the Blatz people. He may have mentioned some other names, but I remember those.

Q.—And was that after you told him that those that he had were many of them forgeries?

A.—It was early in 1905—after I had told him about his affairs.

Sold Forgeries to Friends.

Q.—And I think you have testified that at that time when you told him about it you separated the forgeries from the genuine?

A.—Yes, at the time I told him about that I did that, or shortly afterwards.

Q.—And after this talk about perhaps you could sell them to Lefens and Seip he did give you back some of the forged papers and you did sell them to some of those people, did you not?

A.—He did give me back some of the forged paper; I used some of it with Lefens and Seip as collateral, and I sold some of it, but I could not say definitely now who I sold it to without an examination.

Q.—And you used some of it as collateral to a loan that you made at the time you put up the collateral with Lefens and Seip; that is, you didn't put the forged paper that you got back from Rosenfeld up as collateral for a loan you had already obtained?

A.—No, I obtained a new loan from Lefens and Seip.

Q.—On the faith of this forged collateral?

A.—On the faith of my note plus the forged collateral.

Claims He Told Rosenfeld.

Q.—Did Mr. Rosenfeld ever ask you what you did with this forged paper that he gave back to you?

A.—He never did. I told him, though.

Q.—You did tell him? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did you tell him? A.—I told him on some occasions that I had used some of the paper as collateral.

Q.—That is, referring now to the forged paper that he gave you back? A.—I do, yes, sir. And on one occasion when he returned paper to me——

Q.—Forged paper?

A.—Forged paper, he asked me what—if I had any preference and I told him that the paper I would like to have back was the paper that had as long to run as possible.

Q.—Do you remember selling or putting up as collateral any of that forged paper which was returned to you by Rosenfeld to any of the Rudolph Brand people, the Brand family?

A.—I am almost positive that some of it went there, one or two or three. I can definitely refresh my recollection on that so that I can be sure.

Q.—That is, those facts are ascertainable; ascertainable in detail? A.—Absolutely without question.

Q.—And your testimony about it can be corroborated by records, dates fixed? A.—If that is permissible under the rules of evidence, yes.

Had to Have Money.

Q.—You remember having a talk with Mr. Maurice Rosenfeld about the time of the failure of the Chicago National bank?

A.—Yes, sir; shortly after the failure of the Chicago National bank he came to me once early in the morning—by that I mean probably between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Q.—See you?

A.—He did see me in my private office, and we spoke about the failure of the bank and his losses, and he said that he was desperate; that the people with whom he was doing business—probably meaning his relatives—would be apt to lose confidence in him and might take his matters entirely out of his hands.

Q.—Take their business matters?

A.—Their business matters. And in that event there was no telling what might happen to me, but that he would have to have money, and that he wanted me to understand distinctly that he had to have money and he had to have lots of it and he had to have it quick; said he didn't care how I got it, but he had to have it.

Q.—Do you remember any particular expressions that he used in that connection?

A.—O, yes. He would talk for awhile, then he would say: "D—— it, I want money, you hear me? You understand, I have got to have money." Something like that. I couldn't give the exact language.

Thought Visitor Excited.

Q.—What was his manner towards you as to whether it was threatening or not?

A.—O, he was highly excited at that time, and his manner was threatening to a degree that he wanted to make it plain to me that he must have money, must have it quick, and must have it in large amounts.

Q.—During these times you have testified about, or at this time during the period covered by your testimony, did either or both of these gentlemen, Mr. Rosenfeld or Mr. Rosenberg, know that you were defrauding Mr. Lefens and Mr. Seipp and Mr. Kramer—John Kramer?

Mr. Rosenthal—Take one at a time, it would be better.

Mr. Peaks—I think he will be able to answer it at once in the affirmative, but I will take them one at a time if you please.

Mr. Van Vlissingen then named Mr. Lefens, John Kramer, the Blatz estate, Henry Bartholomay, and Rudolph Brand.

Q.—Do you remember an occasion when Mr. Henry Bartholomay and Mr. Maurice Rosenfeld met in your office by accident?

A.—They met at my office several times; the last time they met at my office was on the 16th day of November, 1908. Mr. Bartholomay was in my room and I was—it was after I had told him where he stood and he was in my room on the Monday morning when I went to the state's attorney's office, and he was with me and the door was half open, and we had been talking over the matters, and Mr. Rosenfeld came and came in the door and said, "Anything doing this morning?" meaning could he get a check. I told him to come back tomorrow.

Q.—Mr. Bartholomay was in your private office, as I understand it? A.—Yes, sir.

Separates Good from Bad.

Q.—In going over those papers and separating the good from the bad, you did that in his presence?

A.—I did.

Q.—And how did you do it, by looking at the size of the numbers stamped on it by the numbering machine?

A.—I did that also.

Q.—And did Mr. Rosenfeld ask you how you distinguished the good from the bad, or did you tell him?

A.—I don't remember that definitely.

Q.—When you separated them into two packets in his presence?

A.—I can tell you this much about it: I pointed out to him sometimes where he could recognize my handwriting in the signatures—where I thought he could.

Q.—But after pointing out the good from the bad you separated them for him, then he knew which were good and which were bad?

A.—If he was willing to take my word for it, yes.

Q.—Well, you told him that truthfully, did you not?

A.—I did.

Q.—And left them all there with him separated in that way?

A.—No, he put them back in the box in the different boxes.

Q.—Did he distinguish them or keep them separate?

A.—Kept them separate.

Testifies Rosenfeld Held List.

Q.—Did you furnish a list to Mr. Rosenfeld of the bad loans?

A.—I furnished him a list of all the loans, all that he had purchased, and I indicated on that list—that list was in writing, it wasn't a typewritten list, and I indicated on that list which loans were good and which loans were forgeries.

Q.—Did you ever have a conversation with him in which he suggested to you that you might by appealing to these customers of yours, who were your personal friends, raise money and give it to him?

A.—On the occasion of my going with him to his safe deposit vaults to sort out the papers, which was early in December, 1904, he told me that my friends would have to raise money to pay him in order to save me from disgrace, and that he thought they would do it on account of my social connections with them. No, on account of their friendship for me; I will correct that. And I told him then——

Q.—Did he name them? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who did he name?

Van Vlissingen then told of a visit to Rosenfeld at his residence, saying:

Said Matters Were Desperate.

"I told him then about how affairs stood at my office, not with any degree of definiteness, excepting as to the immediate danger. I didn't tell him about everybody I owed to, but I told him that matters were desperate and that I didn't think I could continue more than a short time longer, and maybe it would be a matter of a few days, but surely I had all I could bear then, and, while I didn't think I could go on under any circumstances, he had better leave me alone for a short time, any way. And he said that he also had his troubles and that he had often thought of the cold waters of Lake Michigan; that he was almost desperate and he didn't know what to do."

Q.—In that conversation did you say anything to him with reference to your ability to dispose of forged paper fast enough to meet the maturities and the demands on you?

A.—I told him that I was getting in deeper all the time, and that it was next to impossible to sell paper fast enough to take care of the different debts that were pressing, including his. There were a number of other things that pressed me hard. He is not the only man who received a great deal of money on account during those four or five years.

"Families in Ignorance."

Q.—Did Mr. Rosenfeld or Mr. Rosenberg, or both, ever state to you during this period after you informed them of the situation in December, 1904, whether the members of their family, people whom they represented, knew of the fact that they held the forged paper? A.—They always told me that members of their families were in ignorance of the fact.

Q.—And what if any conversation was there ever on the subject of whether those persons should be told or ought to be told or would have to be told? A.—There was conversation to the effect that unless I made payments faster than I did they would have to be told.

Q.—Who made that conversation? A.—Mr. Rosenfeld would make that conversation frequently, would make that suggestion.

Q.—That they would have to be told. And did he say what the consequences then would be or might be? A.—Well, that he wouldn't be able to control it then.

Says Both Expressed Despair.

Q.—Did you ever have any conversation with either Mr. Rosenfeld or Mr. Rosenberg, or both of them, in which they expressed themselves as having an opinion with reference to whether you could ever hope to pull out of your difficulties and pay everybody off?

A.—Yes, several times, with both of them or with each of them separately. And it may be that that subject came up at the time I saw them together in the building on Fifth avenue. They would sometimes say they didn't see how I could ever pull out, and I would tell them that I knew I couldn't; there was no hope of it.

Q.—After December, 1904, when you informed Mr. Rosenfeld and Mr. Rosenberg of the situation and of your relations with Lefens and Seipp and these others, and during the time that Lefens and Seipp still had confidence in you, were dealing with you, buying paper from you, did Mr. Lefens ever ask you whether you were still doing business with Mr. Rosenfeld and Mr. Rosenberg, still making collections for them?

A.—I told him that I was doing business with them and that I was collecting their paper, but I did not tell him that I was selling them paper.

Van Vlissingen then told of his confession, his visit to the state's attorney's office, where he said: "I answered all questions that were put to me by any one. Mr. Lackner, Mr. Lefens, or Seipp or Buts, excepting when Mr. Lefens touched on the question of Mr. Rosenfeld; then I told him that I wouldn't speak to him about it."

Q.—And on that same day—— A.—He said he thought he knew how things stood. I told him that I couldn't help that; that I couldn't help it at that time.

Q.—Mr. Van Vlissingen, in the statement which you made at the state's attorney's office, was there anything in it that you now recall which was not entirely in harmony with the testimony you have given on this hearing in any particular?

A.—I would have to read the statement before I could answer that.

Case of Modified Truth.

Q.—Did you have anything in making that statement, in mind, except to tell the entire truth?

A.—I did not tell the entire truth because I did not tell about Mr. Rosenfeld's matter, and all the questions that I answered I answered truthfully excepting with reference to the amount that was involved, on that point I told them that I would not tell that definitely.

Q.—Did Mr. Rosenfeld or Mr. Rosenberg ever object or express any dislike to permit you to make collections of the principal sums as notes matured which they held?

A.—Yes, naturally.

Q.—And what did you tell them?

A.—At the beginning, when I first told them about the forgeries, I told them that they would have to let me continue to make collections for them of their principal and interest.

Q.—Why? A.—Because there were forged papers out on some of the good papers they held, and that if they started to collect them themselves or had some one do it for them that the chances of exposure would become great. They both wanted their insurance policies and abstracts, and I told them that they should leave those with me for the same reason.

Q.—And they did so? A.—Yes, with, so far as I can remember, one exception.

This ended the direct examination and the morning session.

LABOR FEDERATION DROPS ITS FIGHT ON JUDGE HONORE.

Leaders Agree Not to Oppose Candidate, but Mark Mack and Carpenter for Defeat.

Officers of the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday decided to drop their opposition to the reëlection of Judge Lockwood Honoré. In a conference with Judge Honoré in the latter's courtroom, President John Fitzpatrick and Secretary Edward N. Nockels of the labor federation admitted that they had nothing against the jurist.

The meeting between Judge Honoré and the labor leaders was arranged by Attorney D. G. Ramsay, a member of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

When Attorney Ramsay learned that Judge Honoré's name had been placed on the federation's list of "injunction judges," with Judge Julian W. Mack and Judge George A. Carpenter, he immediately went to the office of the federation and demanded that President Fitzpatrick and Secretary Nockels go before Judge Honoré and tell him what their grievances were.

After listening to some of Attorney Ramsay's arguments, President Fitzpatrick and Secretary Nockels admitted that they knew of no injunctions that Judge Honoré ever had issued against labor unions, and they willingly accompanied the lawyer to the courtroom. There they told the judge it was "all a mistake," so far as they were concerned, and they knew of no labor organizations that are fighting his reëlection.

Labor's fight against Judge Mack and Judge Carpenter, however, will be carried out to a finish, according to present plans. Those of the opposition faction on the federation's executive board who were opposed to fighting Judge Mack and placing his name on the list of "injunction judges" marked for defeat, during the day became reconciled to the policy of the "administration."

Mrs. Raymond Robins, who personally is friendly to Judge Mack and who "wished to goodness Judge Mack never had issued the injunction against the Associated Building Trades," appeared at the office of the federation bright and early and took a hand in the situation.

After a vigorous discussion with other board members, Mrs. Robins finally decided that labor must "make an issue of the injunction question." It was agreed that Judge Mack in many ways had shown friendship to labor.

Secretary Nockels and President Fitzpatrick, however, argued that Judge Mack "showed duplicity" by postponing the granting of the injunction until the day following the primaries, and that labor can't afford to discriminate between persons on the injunction issue.

BAR PRIMARY VOTE TO BE EXCLUSIVE.

Chicago Association Rules Only Members Can Participate in Judicial Test.

OTHERS TO BALLOT APART

Republican Leaders Say Party, Not Candidates, Will Bear Campaign Expense.

The bar primary of the Chicago Bar association to vote on candidates for judges of the Superior and Circuit courts will be restricted to members of the association. The ballots will be sent out May 11 and will be counted May 15.

The Republican party managers, after a conference with a committee from the Republican judicial nominees, announced there will be no assessment of judicial candidates for party purposes, that the party machinery will be set in motion at the proper time, and that the fifteen nominees in all probability will organize a campaign committee of their own outside and beyond the regular party organization.

All Favor Limited Vote.

The board of managers of the Chicago Bar association met during the afternoon and thrashed out the proposition of a general bar primary at which all attorneys practicing actively at the Cook county bar might participate. The decision was practically unanimous, according to Vice President Charles P. Abbey, in limiting the voting eligibles to the 1,150 active members of the Chicago Bar association. Mr. Abbey said that in the first place it would be a difficult task to ascertain the names of the active practicing lawyers in Cook county, speaking generally.

The bar primary ballot will be arranged alphabetically and without regard to party affiliations of the candidates. There are three candidates for Superior court judge, Republican, Democratic, and Socialist. There are forty-five candidates for Circuit court judges, representing the three parties named.

Each member voting will be compelled to vote for one candidate for Superior judge and for fourteen candidates for Circuit judge.

Party Aid Without Assessment.

Chairman Charles W. Andrews and Postmaster Daniel A. Campbell, representing the Republican county executive committee, conferred during the day with a committee from the Republican judicial nominees. The conference was held at the Republican headquarters, 76 Fifth avenue.

At the close of the conference Chairman Andrews said:

"There will be no assessment of the judicial nominees. The Republican organization will throw its entire strength into the campaign. It is now being discussed among the candidates as to the propriety of naming a committee outside of the regular organization which will manage the campaign for the nominees."

REASONS FOR LIMITATION.

Chicago, April 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There has been some discussion lately in the newspapers of this city regarding the primary to be held by the Chicago Bar association for the selection of judges to be voted for at the June election. This discussion discloses considerable sentiment in favor of such a primary being thrown open to the entire bar of the city. I am writing you this letter, not for publication, but for the purpose of suggesting to you reasons why THE TRIBUNE should not favor such an open primary, and in the hope that THE TRIBUNE may not beforehand depreciate the effect or influence that should be given to the primary limited to the members of the Chicago Bar association.

The directories give the names of about 5,500 lawyers in the city of Chicago. A large percentage of these so-called lawyers do not practice, but are engaged in other business, such as real estate, insurance, brokerage, etc. A large percentage of the remainder have little or no practice in the courts or acquaintance with the judges.

The Chicago Bar association has about 1,200 members. It comprises in its membership a large majority of the practicing lawyers in good standing. It is not a close corporation, nor is it governed by any set or clique of men. Any respectable licensed attorney may become a member upon application and on the payment of dues, which are only $12 a year. There is no reason why any reputable lawyer should not be a member. In fact, it would seem to be his duty to become a member. The association always has earnestly striven to enlarge its membership. It has no selfish aims. Its chief effort has been to maintain the high standing of the profession and of the judiciary. It has no party affiliations or partisan interests. Its management always has been free from political bias. It is highly representative of the best element of the entire bar of Chicago.

Under these circumstances there are many reasons why a primary for the selection of judicial candidates to be recommended for election in June should not be thrown open to the entire bar of the city:

1. It would be impracticable to determine in such a primary who are entitled to vote or to identify the voters.

2. It would give opportunity to the unworthy judicial candidates to form combinations and by unfair methods to influence votes.

3. The vote of the disreputable lawyer would count for as much as the vote of the most respected; that of the most ignorant for as much as that of the most intelligent.

4. In such a vote the Bar association would be placing its members upon an equality with those who have been rejected from its membership for want of proper qualifications, and even with those against whom criminal indictments or disbarment proceedings are pending.

5. The Bar association might be put in the position of recommending to the people judicial candidates whom a majority of its members think unworthy.

6. It would remove one of the principal incentives for nonmembers to join the Bar association and assist in maintaining the standard of their profession.

7. It would place the decision in the hands of lawyers not in active practice and who have no acquaintance with the sitting judges and judicial candidates.

8. The result of such a vote could not be relied upon with confidence by the public and would probably be disregarded by the voters.

9. No body or set of lawyers would feel bound by such a vote nor have any incentive for doing active work to promote the election of judges so selected. Yours truly,

CHANGES IN ELECTION BOARD

Powell's Choice as City Treasurer Results in Shakeup.

CANNON TO BE CHIEF CLERK.

Nathaniel Hudson Slated for Appointment as New Member.

The election as city treasurer of Isaac N. Powell, former chief clerk of the board of election commissioners, makes necessary a general shakeup of that body. County Judge Lewis Rinaker, official head of the election machinery of Chicago, is expected to make official announcement of the changes tomorrow or Saturday.

It virtually is certain that John C. Cannon, president of the commission, will assume the duties of chief clerk, filling the vacancy caused by the election of Mr. Powell. It appears quite as certain that Nathaniel Hudson of the Twenty-fifth ward will be named by Judge Rinaker to fill the place on the commission vacated by the transfer of Mr. Cannon.

When the new board is called upon to reorganize, the presidency left open by Commissioner Cannon's change of place probably will go to Commissioner Thomas F. Judge, senior member of the commission and the only Democrat on the board.

Abel A. Bach to Be Secretary.

The position of secretary, which Mr. Judge has filled for ten years, will be conferred upon Commissioner Abel A. Bach.

No intimation has come from Judge Rinaker as to what may be his plans for the reorganization of the commission, but men close to the political chieftains were satisfied last night that the new régime in control of the vast election system of the city will be announced as indicated above.

The chief clerk is charged with the active duty of handling the large force of clerks which prepares for the technical affairs of the chain of primaries and elections necessary under the election laws.

Mr. Cannon is one of the political leaders of the Twenty-sixth ward and has been closely associated personally and politically with Judge Rinaker, who dominates the election system. The understanding is that Judge Rinaker wants Mr. Cannon to become chief clerk.

Deputy Chief Clerk for Years.

Nathaniel Hudson has been deputy chief clerk for several years. He has been closely in touch with the Lake View Republican organization, which recognizes the leadership of James Pease.

The promotion of Commissioner Judge to the presidency is regarded as recognition of his long service on the board. He was appointed on Feb. 1, 1899, and since has served continuously. In March, 1899, he was elected secretary, the first Democrat to fill that post, and has been secretary ever since. He is from the Twentieth ward and was reappointed by Judge Rinaker last year.

Commissioner Bach is from the Thirty-first and intimate with Gov. Deneen, who lives in the same ward. He managed the Deneen Chicago campaign in the primary fight last summer. He was appointed to the election board on Dec. 1, 1905, by Judge Orrin N. Carter.

CARTER H. HARRISON READY TO RETURN HERE NEXT WEEK.

Former Mayor Declares He Is Coming Back to Stay, Having Decided to Reenter "Active Life."

"I am going back to Chicago to stay, this time," declared Carter H. Harrison in Pasadena, Cal., yesterday. "I have been urged persistently to get back into active life and I have decided to do so."

The former mayor and his family have completed packing at the Maryland hotel in Pasadena and will start for this city next week, arriving May 12. Mr. Harrison will go to Mount Huron, Mich., for a brief visit and then return here to plunge into politics, the objective of which is said to be the mayoralty.

"I will not return to southern California until I am old and have rounded out my career," said the former mayor in Pasadena. "Then I shall spend my declining years in this sunshine."

"You'll be a candidate for mayor again?" he was asked.

"Would Roger Sullivan like to have me admit such a thing?" he laughed. "Say, rather, that I am going back to attend to my own business. My brother, Preston, has been writing to me daily for weeks that it is important for me to give up a life of pure recreation and make my home again in Chicago."

FIND NO FUND FOR SANITARIUM.

City Officials in Vain Discuss Means of Raising $100,000 to Finance Early Work.

Prospects of getting an early start on the recently authorized municipal tuberculosis sanitarium this year dwindled yesterday as the result of a conference of city officials held in Mayor Busse's office. The trustees of the institution had been advised that they could not make their tax levy this year, but it was thought it might be possible to find $100,000 that could be borrowed temporarily from the city funds. The proposition was discussed at the conference, which was attended by the mayor, Corporation Counsel Brundage, Controller Wilson, Chairman Snow of the council's finance committee, Health Commissioner Evans, and Dr. Theodore B. Sachs. The officials failed to find $100,000 which the city does not need.

SENATORS ACT ON WATERWAYS PLAN

Committee Reports Favorably on Bill for Deep Canal Across State.

HOUSE ALSO HEARS PLEAS

Speakers Declare Power Idea Cannot Be Tolerated as Sufficient.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—That sleeping beauty of Illinois, the deep waterway project, awoke, yawned, and sat up in the senate today. If some cruel statesman does not take a pillow and smother it, as was poor Desdemona, it may live to try its fascinations on the house, in which branch of legislative endeavor it still sleeps.

Senator Frank P. Schmitt's subcommittee, to which the senate waterway committee had intrusted the framing of the waterway bill, reported the results of its labors to that committee this afternoon, and the committee, well pleased with the effort, voted, after an explanation of its provisions, to recommend it out. Senator Juul will have the honor in the morning of offering the bill to the senate as reported from the committee, and the first deep waterway bill will be placed on the calendar for action.

While the senate committee was taking this progressive action, the house of representatives was sitting in a committee of the whole to hear a discussion of the waterway project, the first sign of life which has been betrayed on that side of the corridor. The speakers there, including engineers and representatives of the societies interested in the canal project, insisted that the water power idea could not be tolerated as sufficient and that federal coöperation must be secured for the building of the deep ship canal.

Governor to Appoint Board.

The senate bill proposes to develop water power and dig as large a canal as possible, with or without federal aid, providing it can be ascertained in advance of the undertaking that $20,000,000 will be sufficient to produce a channel not less than twenty-four feet deep through Joliet and not less than fourteen feet over the rest of the course.

The report submitted with the bill is signed by Frank P. Schmitt, Chairman R. J. Barr, Edward C. Curtis, C. S. Hearn, F. W. Burton, H. M. Dunlap, and Neil S. Juul.

The bill provides for the appointment, by the governor, of a nonpartisan board of five commissioners to have charge of the work. Their terms of office are fixed at six years and their salaries at $5,000 per year, except that of the chairman, who is to have $7,500.

It is required that the commissioners, before commencing work, shall obtain carefully prepared estimates to show whether the proposed work, exclusive of the locks, can be done within the limit of the $20,000,000 bond issue. The work shall not be begun without federal coöperation unless such a showing can be made.

Provides for Canal's Size.

For the depth of the waterway it is provided that a channel not less than twenty-four feet deep and three hundred feet wide through the city of Joliet, and a channel not less than fourteen feet deep and two hundred feet wide over the rest of the course, shall be required, with a water level not higher than forty-two feet within the city of Joliet.

Modern swing bridges must replace the old bridges. They are to be constructed by the state and maintained at the joint expense of the state and the municipalities using them. The right of occupation and use of public property in aid of the proposed waterway and the right of condemnation of private property upon due compensation to its owners is given to the commission.

It is provided that all work on the waterway shall be let to the lowest bidders and that all contractors and the state as well shall insure the men working on the waterway against injury or death in the course of their employment.

Board to Force Health Rules.

Provision is made for the establishment of zones within which the commissioners shall have the power to establish sanitary regulations and to enforce the same.

The issue of $20,000,000 of bonds, payable in twenty years and redeemable in the discretion of the commissioners in ten years, is required to be made in bonds of such small denominations as to make them the subject of popular subscription for investment. A restriction against the lease of any water power right for a longer period than ten years or for a longer period than twenty years by way of renewal is included in the measure. It also contains a direction to the commissioners to treat with the government of the United States for federal aid in the construction of the locks and in extension of the canal, with a view to a deep waterway from Lake Michigan to the gulf of Mexico.

WOMEN FIGHT OVER ESTATE OF MAN KILLED BY AUTO.

Jessie Nichols Alleges She Was Thomas Clancy's Common Law Wife—Anna Jones Tells of Engagement.

Miss Jessie Nichols, claiming to have been the common law wife of Thomas Clancy, who was recently killed by an automobile, and Miss Anna Jones, who says she promised to marry Mr. Clancy, confronted each other in Judge Cutting's court yesterday. Miss Jones was one of the witnesses called in an attempt to show that Mr. Clancy never regarded himself as a married man.

The court proceedings grew out of Miss Nichols' demand that she be appointed administrator of Mr. Clancy's estate.

Both Miss Nichols and Miss Jones worked in the same department store and eyed each other disdainfully as Miss Jones was called to the witness stand. She was asked if she knew Mr. Clancy.

Miss Jones stated that she became engaged to Clancy just before Christmas.

Several letters were read. These were alleged to have been written by Miss Nichols to Mr. Clancy. One of these contained a statement admitting there had been no marriage ceremony performed. The court's decision will be announced May 4.

Clancy's estate was small, but should Miss Nichols get control of it she would have the right to sue the owner of the automobile which caused Clancy's death.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE CAUSES $70,000 LOSS IN STOREHOUSE

President of Wool Company Overcome by Dense Smoke While Attempting to Cover Up Machinery.

Fire of mysterious origin caused $70,000 damage in the storage house of the Boynton Wool Scouring company at Cherry and North Branch streets last night.

G. W. Boynton, 1783 Oakdale avenue, president of the company, was overcome by dense smoke, which also greatly hampered the firemen. He had entered the building with Henry Schaller and was covering some of the more valuable machines to protect them from water when he fell. Mr. Schaller called a fireman and they carried Mr. Boynton to the street, where he was revived in a few minutes.

A night watchman discovered the blaze in the drying room on the second floor of the three story building and sent in an alarm.

The building is owned by Mr. Schaller, who lives at 695 Fullerton avenue. His loss will be about $10,000.

Mr. Boynton declared fully half of his stock had been ruined and that his loss on machinery would be $10,000.

Young Woman Who Rescued Man Caught in Lace of Machine Belt.

Miss Marguerite Albertis Lacey

Presence of mind and courage on the part of Miss Marguerite Lacey, 18 years old, 1740 West Fifty-sixth street, saved William Street, a belt dresser employed by the Columbus Shirt company, 120 Market street, from what seemed certain death yesterday. Street was oiling a belt when a sleeve of his shirt caught on the lacing. He was being pulled into the mechanism when Miss Lacey seized him around the waist and dragged him away. Street escaped with a fracture of his left arm.

After saving Street, Miss Lacey ran to a telephone and notified the police. Street was taken in an ambulance to St. Luke's hospital. Miss Lacey is employed by the shirt company as a sewing machine operator.

DEADLOCK ROUTS E'EN POESY

Alschuler Boom in Verse Results in Negligible Success.

HON. M. S. LINK THE BARD.

But Crass Legislators Resist Rhyming of Aurora with Itself.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—Undeterred by the lack of results attending the assault made last week on the deadlock by Senator John C. McKenzie, the Hon. Michael S. Link, from the town of Mitchell in the county of Madison, being a Democrat, a stock raiser, a representative, an orator, and a poet, took a swat at it today. Mr. Link probably was justified in reasoning that because a middle weight like McKenzie could make no impression it did not follow that a heavyweight could not take it in successfully.

Mr. Link weighs approximately 230 pounds on the hoof and has conducted himself so demurely in preceding sessions of the general assembly that when he came from retirement today he nearly upset the deadlock in pure surprise. When his cheerful countenance was observed arising from behind his spectacles and his request that he be allowed to explain his vote was heard in the joint session, the assembled statesmen looked at him in profound astonishment.

Folks at Home Querulous.

"All I want to say is just this," said Mr. Link. "Every time I go home the folks down my way come around and want to know what we fellows think we are doing up here. Here we are squandering the people's money——"

"Three cheers," cried a number of appreciative legislators, awaking from the trance in which Mr. Link's appearance had thrown them.

"Vote for Hopkins," shouted some of the faithful followers of the ex-junior senator.

"Not on your life," replied Mr. Link, thereby destroying that hope.

"Vote for Hopkins," pleaded the faithful earnestly, as they could win the day if they only won Mr. Link.

Not for Hopkins in Ninety-Nine Years.

"Not in ninety-nine years," the obdurate member shouted back.

"Vote for any one," urged some of his Democratic auditors.

"I will when I get ready," said Mr. Link, stubbornly. "I've got this floor and I'm going to keep it, with the consent of the chairman. Now, you fellows over there, you can't do anything to elect anybody. You can't sit over there for ninety-nine years. Come across here and help us. We'll give you a man you can elect, and then we'll all go home.

"If you think Aurora is the only town in Illinois that can furnish a United States senator, we'll give you a man from Aurora."

"Hopkins?" asked the still anxious legislators.

"No, not Hopkins," replied the slightly exasperated Mr. Link. "This man is a true follower of the principles of Jeffersonian democracy. Come across, you fellows, and help us elect a man of true Jeffersonian principles. You know this man, and you know his brother, Sam. You know he is of ancestral virtues, and big hearted, and strong, and reliable. Come across and help us elect him. I've got a little poem here I'll read in finishing. It's about the senatorship."

Aurora Rhymes with Itself.

"Attention for the poem," said Acting Chairman Chiperfield, quieting the unruly assemblage. Link read his poem. Its clear title to poetic qualities was demonstrated by the rhyming of the name "Aurora" in one line with the name "Aurora" in another, and its plain purpose was to advance the interests of Representative George W. Alschuler of that city.

When Mr. Link sat down Representative Abrahams tenderly handed him a glass of water and the legislators nearest to Mr. Alschuler drove him out of the hall of the house under a bombardment of papers, books, and light projectiles. He flew with his elbows raised to protect his head and took refuge in the distanct perspective.

On this eventful ballot the vote of Albert J. Hopkins was 78. That of Mr. Alschuler was 20.

mum taxes permitted to be levied by such municipalities or against the taxpayers. House bill 293 increases the assessed value from one-fifth to one-third of the full value of property determined by the assessor.

"To illustrate: The full value of the property of Chicago, as found by the assessing tribunals for 1908, was $2,385,951,995. Under the assessment law one-fifth of this full value, or $477,190,399, was set down as the assessed value, upon which assessed value the tax rates were determined and extended and the debt limit fixed.

"The constitution of the state limits the indebtedness of each municipality to 5 per cent of the assessed value of the taxable property of such municipality, so 5 per cent of $477,190,399, or $23,850,519, is the maximum amount of indebtedness which Chicago may incur, or of bonds which it may issue under the present law.

Would Permit $15,906,207 Advance.

"By house bill 293 one-third of the full value of the property is taken as the assessed value instead of one-fifth, as now, so that the assessed value of the property of Chicago for 1908 under this act would permit an indebtedness of $39,765,726, or an increase of $15,906,207.

"To protect the taxpayers from a possible increase in taxes, the companion bills were drafted. For instance, house bill 294 decreases the maximum aggregate tax rate limit of 5 per cent in the Juul law to a maximum aggregate tax rate limit of 3 per cent.

"And, to further illustrate, assume the property to be of a full value of $30,000, one-fifth of which is $6,000, which is now set down as the assessed value. This would carry a tax of $300 under the present 5 per cent limitation of the Juul law, and permit an indebtedness of $300 under the 5 per cent limitation on indebtedness. By the new act, one-third of the full value, or $10,000, would be taken as the assessed value, which would still carry a tax of $300. Under the amended 3 per cent limitation of the Juul law it would permit of an indebtedness of $500 under the unchanged constitutional debt limit of 5 per cent."

Teachers Appear with Pleas.

Representatives of the Chicago school teachers appeared before the house education committee in behalf of the bill which requires that not less than seven-eighths of the money raised in the educational fund be applied to the payment of the salaries of teachers. The board of education was represented in protest against the measure by Secretary Louis Larson.

The teachers submitted the following schedule as "ten years of ups and downs in the salaries of 2,000 experienced school teachers":

Year.	Primary.	Grammar.
1898	$875	$900
1899	875	900
1900	800	825
1901	875	900
1902	800	825
1903	850	875
1904	850	875
1905	850	875
1906	850	875
1907	900	925
1908	875	900

The lack of quorum prevented the committee from taking action on the bill.

No Action on Text Books.

In the senate educational committee an attempt was made to secure action on the report of a subcommittee recommending two text book bills for passage, one by Senator Ettelson fixing maximum prices for books throughout the state and the other by Senator Potter providing for county uniformity and declaring that no book should be sold in any one place in the state at a higher price than sold in any other.

Chairman Landee of the committee counted noses before he submitted the report and discovered that the opponents of text book regulation owing to the absence of some of the committeemen had the advantage by two votes. Thereupon he abruptly adjourned the committee.

The house committee on parks and boulevards reported favorably a redraft of the old forest preserve bill which was submitted to the Cook county voters several years ago. At that time the hopes of the outer belt park advocates were defeated by legal complications in which the act became involved after its adoption by the people. This bill, introduced by Fieldstack, is an attempt to revive the project.

ONE PAROLE BILL PASSED BY SENATE

State Board of Pardons Given More Power by the Billings Measure.

SALARY RAISE REFUSED.

Jandus' Proposition to Cut the Fees of Prosecutors Receives Favor.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—One of the two bills proposing the organization of a board of paroles and the extension of the parole system was passed by the senate today and one was defeated. The measures were companion pieces, introduced by Senator Billings, but it is believed that the failure of the unfortunate one will not affect materially the program.

The bill which was passed declares that the state board of pardons shall be the state board of parole and shall meet monthly at Joliet and at Chester. The present parole law is preserved practically intact, but the amendments contained in the Billings bill provide that the board may release a prisoner without securing for him an occupation and a home if, in its judgment, he is capable of making an honest living independently. In such case he may be paroled under the supervision of a parole agent.

The board is given authority to appoint a chief parole agent and such other parole agents as may be necessary, not to exceed one for every fifty prisoners. The salary of the chief parole agent is not to exceed $2,500 and that of the assistants not to exceed $1,500 a year. The board is required to maintain an office at Joliet and one at Chester and is given authority to employ a clerk at each office. This bill was a companion to senate bill 261, which amends the act creating the state board of pardons.

Salary Increase Bill Beaten.

The second bill was intended to complete the reorganization of the board by increasing the salaries of the board members from $2,000 to $4,000 a year, with an additional $1,000 for the president. It was defeated by a vote of 11 to 19, but notice of a motion to reconsider tomorrow was given. Without it the reorganization will be accomplished so far as the extension of the duties of the pardon board are concerned, but the qualifications and salaries of the members will remain the same as at present.

Other bills passed by the senate were:

By Jandus, S. B. 44—Provides that the state's attorney shall not be entitled to the fee of $15 for conviction in other cases than of murder, manslaughter, rape, kidnaping, and forgery, unless the case shall be tried by jury or unless the trial shall occupy more than one full day, and then only in case the court shall expressly order that such fees be allowed.

By Hay, S. B. 69—Authorizes the governor to appoint a state inspector of apiaries, with power to inspect apiaries suspected of having the disease known as foul brood.

By Dellenback, S. B. 313—Provides that in cases at law tried by a jury, the Appellate court to which it may be appealed shall reëxamine the case only as to errors of law, and that the determination of the Appellate court as to the findings of facts shall not be "final and conclusive as to all matters of fact in controversy in such cause."

Primary Revision Is Defeated.

Senator Dunlap's bill to revise the primary act by declaring that the vote on United States senator shall be taken as state wide and not by districts and by providing for the rotation of the names of all candidates on the primary ballot was killed, its enacting clause being stricken out on the second reading.

Both the senate and the house passed a joint resolution authorizing the governor to appoint a commission of five to represent the state at the centennial anniversary of the battle of Lake Erie to be held at Put-in-Bay island.

BILL THREATENS DRY LAW.

Proposed Statute Would Lessen Powers of Local Optionists in Rural Communities.

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—A bill which threatens the local option law was reported out of the house license committee this afternoon and at the evening session of the house was advanced to second reading.

It practically eliminates the township feature of the act, the provision which enabled the rural vote to close saloons in many cities, by declaring that the word "town" shall not include any territory which lies wholly within any city or village.

Further it declares that the words "intoxicating liquors" shall not include beverages which contain less than 2½ per cent of alcohol, beer containing about 3½ per cent.

Manufacturers of candy, drugs, and groceries appeared before the house committee on manufactures to explain why they would be unable to comply with the Chicago city sealer's bill providing that commodities and merchandise sold must be marked with the net weight number or measure of the commodity contained.

W. C. Hughes of the legislative committee of the National Candy Manufacturers' association said that the actual weight of candy in boxes of standard sizes varied considerably. George L. Douglass, representing wholesale grocers and certain drug interests, asserted that bottles vary in contents, despite the best intentions.

Telephone companies were given a jolt tonight when the house committee on corporations voted to report out the bill fixing maximum rates throughout the state, and another requiring interchangeable service in all telephone exchanges. The rate bill fixes maximum charges for telephone service in cities of 100,000 or over as follows:

For public telephones, $100 a year; for business telephones, $75 a year; for residence telephones, $18 a year.

A delegation of Chicago retail merchants interested against the Jones bill limiting the employment of women to eight hours a day, came down today in an effort to reach a compromise which would make the limit fifty-four hours a week or fifty-six hours a week, permitting ten or more hours' work one day a week and limiting the employment of women for the remainder of the six work days to nine hours a day.

PAYS $5 TO ESCAPE ARREST.

Enoch Purnell Alleged to Have Entered Oak Park Premises Before He Had Right.

To avoid being arrested on a charge of housebreaking, Enoch Purnell 605 Woodbine avenue, paid $5 yesterday to C. R. Phillips, 341 North Forest avenue, River Forest.

Purnell was found by Phillips digging a hole in the basement of a residence at 433 North boulevard, Oak Park, which he recently purchased from Phillips. The former owner held Purnell had no right to enter the premises before May 1.

The men almost came to blows it was stated and appealed to Justice Kendall who ruled in favor of Phillips.

Successful Candidate for Forester, Who Tells Plans for City Beautiful.

J. H. Prost

NEW BEAUTY ERA FOR CITY

Jacob H. Prost Outlines Plans as Prospective Forester.

WILL ASK AID OF CITIZENS.

Trees to Be Planted in Zones According to Nature of Soil.

A new chapter in the history of efforts to make Chicago a city beautiful opens with the appointment of a city forester. Redirection of attempts to improve districts by the planting of trees and shrubs, which heretofore have gone wrong because misguided, will revive waste places. Through the application of scientific methods, success is assured where there have been many failures.

These are the optimistic views of Jacob H. Prost, who led all competitors with 92.50 percentage in the civil service test to secure a head for the department of forestry. Under a recent ordinance providing for the establishment of the department, the city forester will assume charge May 1. The appointment of Mr. Prost remains to be made by Mayor Busse, but it is understood that the successful candidate of the civil service test will be the appointee.

Aided by Eastern Cities.

There will be a great deal of pioneer work in Chicago," said Mr. Prost yesterday. "I will have plenty of good guides, however, for many eastern cities have accomplished much in the beautifying of business and residence sections.

"I have given the soil and atmospheric conditions a good deal of attention since I have been here. If I had not done that, I could not have passed the examination so well, because many of the questions had to do with just those features of tree planting in Chicago.

"The average citizen has little conception of how much can be done in the way of making streets and home attractive, but a grateful change can be wrought by persistent effort. It will take time and it will be tedious, but the result will justify the time and money expended.

Will Divide City Into Zones.

"If I am appointed I must divide the city into zones. I propose to let the residents of each zone know what trees will best thrive there.

"There is sandy soil along the lake shore north and over most of the north side. This soil will grow many varieties of trees. The same soil is found on the south side over toward the lake. But on the west side and the southwest sections there is heavy clay soil, in which few varieties of good trees will thrive.

"If we can get a tree started where its roots will not be suffocated by escaping gas the leaves and the branches will do all that is needed in the way of throwing off soot and dirt.

Will Seek Aid of Citizens.

"No appropriation has been made by the city and I presume the work will be mostly of an advisory character. We will urge citizens to plant trees in their own yards and warn them against the varieties that cannot thrive here.

"Improvement associations will be asked for financial assistance in purchasing plants for the barren districts. The Women's Outdoor Art league and similar organizations have undertaken work that is highly commendable, and the information that this department will have at hand will be turned over to them."

SMITH MAY PLEAD IN PERSON

Former Judge Who Seeks Pardon Without a Lawyer.

GOES TO PRISON SATURDAY.

Plan Is to Await Action of Board in Joliet Penitentiary.

Former Circuit Judge Abner Smith, under sentence to the penitentiary for conspiracy in the wrecking of the Bank of America three years ago, yesterday made public the line of conduct he intends to adopt during and after the presentation of his plea for pardon before the state board of pardons at Springfield tomorrow.

The former jurist, who has fortified himself with a formidable collection of signatures and letters from forty Cook county judges and former members of the bench and several hundred lawyers, does not expect the board to render its decision for two weeks, and the intervening wait will be spent in the penitentiary at Joliet, according to the scheme unfolded.

According to a member of the board of pardons who was interviewed by long distance telephone last night, former Judge Smith's case will be heard by the board in the offices in the statehouse about 9 or 10 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Smith, who is reputed to be practically penniless, said that in all probability he will go to Springfield to make his plea in person, but that he had not decided definitely. Then, if the schedule is carried out, he will return to Chicago and surrender himself to Sheriff Strassheim, to be taken to the penitentiary in due form on Saturday to wait in prison for the decision of the board.

At the Criminal Court building former Judge Smith said: "My conviction is an outrageous miscarriage of justice and the people will be convinced of the truth of my statement when all the facts are made public.

"I have been working day and night for weeks in the preparation of my case."

EXONERATES FIREMAN KERR.

Inspector Says Mistake Was Made Connecting Him with International Theater Inquiry.

H. W. E. Kerr, city fireman, was not the "soubrette fireman" at the International theater at the time of the investigation which resulted in the revocation of the theater's license by Mayor Busse a few days ago.

Fire Inspector O'Donnell said yesterday that a mistake had been made by his office in giving out Kerr's name in this connection. Kerr had been assigned to the theater, he said, but William Hanrahan of truck company No. 7 had been substituted.

The blame for the nonenforcement of the theater fire regulations lies between Hanrahan and William Miller of engine company No. 117, who was stationed at the theater before Hanrahan. Kerr had never been at the theater, according to the fire department officials.

Objection to paying for city firemen stationed in theaters has been made by Max and David Weber and Kohl & Castle. Their attorneys called on Assistant Corporation Counsel Haft during the day and informed him of the objections and declared that a bill for injunction would be filed against the city to restrain collection.

SHE THINKS JAMES GETS ENOUGH NOW

Woman Trustee Fights Big Appropriations for University of Illinois.

IN DANGER OF A MEDAL.

Many Legislators of the Same Opinion Expressed by Mrs. Alexander.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Carrie Alexander of Belleville, a trustee of the University of Illinois, described that seat of learning as being "money mad" when she appeared before the house appropriations committee this afternoon in a protest against the university appropriation bill. For some reason, whether it be right or wrong, many of the legislators are of the same opinion, and Mrs. Alexander will have difficulty in escaping a medal.

She protested against the increase of over $1,500,000 for which the university is asking in its appropriations bills this year.

Cites Trip to Europe.

"Two years ago," she said, "the university was given $30,000 for a veterinary school. Most of this money is untouched, and all that was spent was used in sending President James to Europe. This year the university is asking for $150,000 for this school, which does not exist.

"The university is asking $150,000 for increased salaries and it does not need it. The salaries paid at the university now will compare with any paid in any university in the country. President James has a salary of $10,000 a year and there is only one university president in the country who receives more. That is the president of the University of California, who receives $12,000. The University of Chicago, the University of Pennsylvania, and Harvard are the only universities which pay as much.

Other Things He Has.

"Mr. James not only receives this salary but he has the free use of a house. He is furnished with light and water and the state gave him $2,000 for furnishings when he went in. That isn't all—he has the stabling of three horses free.

"At the University of Michigan President Angell is given $7,000. President Hadley of Yale receives $7,000 and $1,000 additional for entertaining. In all the neighboring states the salaries paid to the presidents of the state universities do not average higher than $7,000 or $8,000."

HAS "WHOOPING COUGH" PARTY.

Only Guests of Wilmette Child Next Saturday to Be Victims of Recent Epidemic.

Elizabeth Webber, 4 years old, daughter of E. R. Webber, will be the hostess at a unique party next Saturday afternoon at her home in Wilmette. The event will be a formal farewell of the epidemic of whooping cough which has prevailed in the village for the last few weeks.

Eligibility of the guests rests on whether they have had the whooping cough. Children who are still afflicted with the malady may attend as well as those who have gone through the stages of the cough.

The number of children who fell victim to the epidemic in the village during the last two months is estimated at nearly 200.

FREE HIDE GUARD CAMPS AT CAPITAL

Independent Tanners and Shoemakers Start Campaign for Untaxed Material.

CULLOM FOR LOW DUTY?

Reported Illinois Senator Will Favor Demands of Manufacturers' Committee.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—The advance guard of the contingent which proposes to prevent, if possible, the imposition of a tariff on hides reached Washington today. From now on there promises to be a lively campaign against what the free hide people term the fight of the beef trust to crowd the leather industry to the wall.

J. Harry Selz of Selz, Schwab & Co., Milton S. Florsheim of the Florsheim Shoe company, and J. F. Pratt of the Smith-Wallace Shoe company, all of Chicago, and W. M. Fitzgerald of the Bradley-Metcalf company and E. Zohrlaut of Milwaukee came to Washington today and laid the advance lines of a free hide campaign. These men are representatives of the independent tanners and shoe manufacturers of the country.

The Chicago delegates will interview Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury, tomorrow, and also Speaker Cannon and Senator Cullom. Friday President Taft will receive the committee and he will be told then that unless hides are restored to the free list the beef trust will obtain absolute control of all leathermaking industries to the detriment of a third of a million wage earners in those occupations.

Busse Asks for Free Hides.

The free hide men carry credentials from Mayor Busse of Chicago and other prominent central western men. Senator Cullom has received a letter from Mayor Busse urging him to consider the claims of the shoe men and tanners. He will meet the committee tomorrow. Some little interest is expressed by members in the outcome of the Cullom interview. There is a surprise in store for the hide boomers, if certain reliable sources of information are correct. Senator Cullom will not join the majority of the finance committee in voting for a tax on hides. It is known that he favors their free importation, and, contrary to general report, he will be found with the advocates on that side of the controversy when the time comes for voting. At the present time Senator Cullom is on the "opposed" list of the free hides committee, as are the senators from Iowa and Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. The senators from Michigan and Indiana are counted as favorable to the abolition of the duty on hides.

The committee which has reached Washington appears to be made up of determined men. The delegates representing the independent tanners and shoe manufacturers of St. Louis and the southwest are scheduled to reach here tomorrow. By that time the movement for free hides will be well organized and under way. Several of the members of the committee were in Washington a couple of weeks ago with a large delegation of tanners and she men who sought to obtain concessions from the committee on finance before the tariff bill was reported to the senate.

Cut Off Short by Aldrich.

Chairman Aldrich, it is reported, cut them off short in their efforts to present their side of the hides question to the committee, and now with their feelings well aroused they are back determined to make a demonstration to the senate of their needs in regard to tariff revision. The argument that a duty on hides will mean advanced prices in leather, forced by the beef trust, which now is extensively engaged in the tanning business, and that consequently there must follow increased prices for shoes, harness, belting, and all leather goods, will be freely used.

An exhaustive treatment of the lumber schedule of the tariff bill by Mr. Simmons of North Carolina was the feature of the session of the senate today. Mr. Simmons spoke for three and a half hours in support of the retention of the present tariff, which, he maintained, was but a revenue rate. Several times the national Democratic platform of 1908, which declared for free lumber, was injected into the discussion by Republican senators, and Mr. Bacon of Georgia remarked that he was not bound by declarations written into a platform at midnight by a few interested men. Burkett of Nebraska, whose home city is Lincoln, sought to state when and where the Democratic platform actually was drawn, but Mr. Simmons refused to yield time to prolong that discussion.

Asks Income Tax Amendment.

Mr. Brown of Nebraska advocated a constitutional amendment for the collection of an income tax, thereby placing it beyond the power of the courts to further hold that such a tax was not constitutional.

"We owe this to the people," he said, "because there has long been an earnest and determined demand for an equitable income tax." They had, he declared, accepted the decree of the court and had become resigned to the fact that such a law was unconstitutional, but he claimed that congress owed it to them to be given a chance to say whether the constitution should be made to sanction a system of taxation approved by the majority of American citizens and by the economists of the entire civilized world.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the discussion of the last two days in this body led by the able and eloquent senator from Texas brings home to every senator the commanding and imperative necessity for the adoption of such an amendment."

Lower Duty on Paper and Pulp.

The senate committee on finance is understood practically to have decided to place a duty of $5 per ton on printing paper and of $1.38 per ton on wood pulp, which is a slight reduction from the Dingley rate in both cases. A canvass of the senate, however, has almost convinced the committee that it will be difficult, if not impossible, to get any duty through, and as a consequence the committee is in a quandary as to how to proceed further.

The committee is giving a favorable ear to the representations of the advocates of a duty of 25 or 30 per cent on crude petroleum, but no definite decision has been reached. The favorable tendency of the committee does not embrace petroleum products, as it is believed that they are included under other heads.

Senator Aldrich, as chairman of the finance committee, has prepared an amendment regulating the action of the president in carrying into effect the maximum and minimum provision of the bill. The purpose is to place the authority for the imposition of the maximum rate in the hands of the chief executive without giving him such latitude as would permit an abuse.

Plan Board of Revision.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—Two hundred and twenty-six commercial organizations representing a membership of several hundred thousand merchants, manufacturers, and business men of various lines throughout the country have joined a vigorous movement to stop the present tariff agitation and provide for a board of experts to study the whole question and revise the schedules in the light of their researches.

Prominent individual business men are supporting the movement, which has grown out of the national convention for a tariff commission held in Indianapolis on Feb. 16, 17, and 18.

Some of those who are interested in the subject estimate that about $10,000,000 a day is lost to merchants and manufacturers by the bickerings in congress and what they call the grasping selfishness of overprotected interests. Many prominent business men in this and other cities have sent to the National Association of Manufacturers their views on the subject.

have begun to have qualms. So far as can be learned the president has not changed his attitude in the slightest degree. There are no substantial reports of any threats of a veto, and yet all of a sudden certain stand pat senators have become afraid of the man in the White house. They have begun to recall that while he made no threats he likewise emitted no promises. They were not bullyragged into doing or undoing anything, and some senators who were extremely opposed to any compromise with the sentiment for lower rates are beginning to change their tone.

It seems to be in the air that President Taft is contemplating a veto of the tariff bill unless it is a good deal more responsive to public sentiment than it appears to be in its present shape. No man has any authority from the president for saying that such a thing is in prospect, but no one has any guarantee that it isn't. Quite a number of senators seem to be convinced all of a sudden that President Taft meant what he said while at Hot Springs that if the tariff bill to be passed by congress did not appear to be in spirit as well as in letter a complete redemption of the pledge made in the Chicago convention he would veto it without hesitation, and would not be deterred from taking such action because it was alleged to be a party measure.

Taft Proves a Puzzle.

And so it has come about that some senators who but a few short weeks ago were felicitating themselves upon the fact that the flaming sword had been transferred from the White house to equatorial Africa and that its place had been taken by a morocco bound copy of the constitution of the United States are now yearning, actually yearning, for a short, sharp, fierce, but decisive, run in with the man who holds the veto power in his hand. They would like to know just how far they can go, but they cannot find out. Most of them hated Roosevelt because he was not in sympathy with them, but at least they never had any difficulty in learning in advance just how far they could go without risking the loss of public sentiment.

Now it is all different. They appear at the White house, state their cases, present their arguments, report progress on the tariff bill, and go away without any one being ruffled, but also without anybody being completely informed as to the final decision of the master. The president appears to take every case "under advisement," and congress has begun to speculate as to what will happen when he hands down his decision.

There is, therefore, a growing tendency in the senate to pay a little more attention to some of the general principles repeatedly laid down by President Taft. Letters have begun to arrive here declaring that if the president should veto any bill which is little more than the reënactment of the Dingley law he would become at a bound the most popular man in the country.

Judicial Habit Fixed.

Some senators with the idol of political expediency before them are afraid he will do this thing merely for the purpose of securing his own reëlection, even at the expense of a Democratic house of representatives. Others who know him better are aware of the fact he would neither veto nor refrain from vetoing any bill presented to him because of the effect on his own political fortunes. This latter class, many of whom are loyal, are now just beginning to remember and fear the fact that the judicial habit is strong with the new president. He has been as careful about committing himself as if he were actually on the bench, and there has come to be something like a panic in certain quarters lest he may review the whole tariff construction as he would a case in court and hand down an opinion based upon facts rather than upon sentiment or upon political prospects.

At this stage of the game under the Roosevelt method leaders in the house and senate would be pretty well aware of just how far they could go and save a veto. Up to the present time, however, no one seems to be posted as to where the dead line will be on tariff when President Taft takes it up for his personal consideration. There is a mystery about the president's intentions which is rapidly creating a panic in congress, and some of the representatives who voted for high rates are now imploring senators to cut down these figures because they are afraid of a veto, which would mean for them almost certain annihilation in their districts.

BULLDOGS HALT BURGLAR'S RAID.

New York Woman Bound and Tied to Chair Tells Police by Phone.

CONRIED RISK WINDFALL

Metropolitan Opera Company Profits $150,000 by Death of Impresario.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, April 28.

Police headquarters got a telephone call for help from a woman at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The woman said she was Mrs. Louise Mann, wife of a physician, of 535 West One Hundred and Eleventh street. She said she was bound to a chair and that a robber was going through her home. Headquarters hurried two policemen to the Mann apartment, which is on the ground floor of the Montford apartment house. Mrs. Mann was still tied to a chair in the library. The skin on her wrists was broken, her ankles were cut by pieces of rope, and she was nearly unconscious.

Burglar Ties Woman, Then Robs Home.

After she had been revived she said she sent her maid out to a store to get some things for dinner. The maid hadn't been gone five minutes when a dark complexioned man of medium height rang the door bell and asked to see the doctor.

Mrs. Mann showed him into the doctor's reception room and had turned to go out when the stranger grabbed her around the neck. He forced her into a chair, tore a large piece out of the sleeve of her waist, stuffed it into her mouth as a gag, then proceeded to bind her heels and wrists to the chair. Then he started rummaging through the house. The intruder wandered back into the kitchen where Dr. Mann's two bulldogs were snoozing. They set up a howl and the burglar left hurriedly, still warning Mrs. Mann not to raise an alarm. Mrs. Mann said more than $500 worth of jewelry was missing.

Opera Company Benefits $150,000 by Conried's Death.

The Conried Metropolitan Opera company will benefit to the amount of $150,000 by the death of Heinrich Conried. Needless to say, the late director of the Metropolitan did not leave this amount to the company in his will, his feelings towards the opera company not having been the pleasantest at the time of his retirement. The $150,000 is the amount of the insurance policy which members of the company had the foresight to take out on the director's life when he was selected by the Metropolitan Opera and Real Estate company to control the destinies of the opera house. Several members of the company have been changed since then, but the premium always has been paid, even during the last year, when Mr. Conried had nothing to do with the company.

The policy, it is said, was taken out at a time when Conried's health was perfectly good. It simply was protection in the case of Conried's death to the new company which then had been formed. Later when Mr. Conried's health became bad, when it was decided the company should pass under the control of Gatti-Casazza and Dippel, the policy assumed a new value.

WORLD CRUISE WRECKS NAVY?

Sixteen Ships Alleged to Have Suffered Grave Damage.

ALL WILL BE REMODELED?

New Types to Be Like Monitor with Less Superstructure.

New York, April 29, 3 a. m.—[Special.]—The World this morning prints the following story under a Washington date:

"The navy department has announced that the sixteen battleships which made the trip around the world are to be remodeled, thus practically confirming the reports current since the return of the fleet that the voyage practically wrecked the navy.

"Since the return of the fleet it has been reported at various times that masts had been sprung, plates loosened, and that the intricate electrical machinery, including the fire control, was hopelessly out of order and other things had happened. Nevertheless the navy department insists the ships stood the voyage better than expected, which leaves to the imagination what the original expectation or fear had been.

New Type Like Monitors.

"It is proposed to make of the sixteen battleships a type something like the old monitor, save that the new type will have more freeboard. All the cumbersome superstructure which at present adorns the battleships and which affords a splendid mark to the enemy's guns will be taken off.

All that will appear above the decks will be a turret fore and aft and the funnels for boilers and the wire "waste basket" type of mask, which will be used for the lookouts.

"It is asserted by those who criticise the navy department that this remodeling is an admission the armor belt on the battleships was misplaced. The innovation raises the armor belt to a point where it will become more effective, because taking off the superstructure will, it is calculated, raise the ships one foot higher in the water and consequently the armor belt will be in the desired position. The ships could not have been raised otherwise without the danger of turning turtle or becoming unseaworthy.

Fighting Mast to Go Out.

The fighting masts are to be dispensed with. They not only have proved useless but cumbersome and easily put out of commission. On the other hand, it has been proved that the wire basket type of mast may be punctured many times without the danger of collapse.

"It is fine food for the critics of the navy department that of the twenty-five first class battleships in the navy only four are in condition for service. They point out the fact that the American citizens in Asiatic Turkey are compelled to look for protection of their lives and interests to such British battleships as are in the Mediterranean waters.

"Even the Massachusetts, Indiana, and Texas are laid up for repairs while the single battleship left on the Pacific is out of commission at Puget sound.

SCHOOL PENSION ATTORNEY SENDS IN BILL FOR $4,300.

Board of Education Auditor Surprised at the Amount, but President of Board Finds It Reasonable.

Attorney fees of $4,300 in a little over a year is a pretty stiff price for the school pension trustees, who have charge of the payment of teachers' pensions in Chicago, to pay for legal advice in the management of their affairs, in the opinion of George T. Custer, auditor of the board of education.

Mr. Custer expressed his opinion forcibly yesterday when the matter of signing a voucher for the amount in favor of I. T. Greenacre, attorney for the pension trustees, was referred to him. The voucher was sent up from the office of Secretary Lewis E. Larson for the auditor's signature, but it did not go back again until Mr. Custer had "said things" about it.

"I don't know what this money is paid out for, nor how long Mr. Greenacre has served the pension trustees, but I do know that it is a good sized sum to pay an attorney for the legal work that the pension trustees require. The woods are full of lawyers who do not make that much in a year. I was paralyzed when I saw that voucher; that's all."

Miss Louise L. Kilbourn, president of the board of teachers' pension trustees, defended the payment of the sum to the attorney.

President Schneider returned from Springfield yesterday morning and commented on the educational bills which he urged before the educational committees of the legislature. He declared that he is disappointed in the adoption in committee of the amendment which proposes to pay salaries of $2,000 a year to members of the board of education.

Sleeplessness

Two Continents Searched by a Brooklyn Woman for a Cure Without Narcotic Drugs—a Harmless One Found by Accident.

Many troubled with sleeplessness are afraid to use drugs. It's a wise fear. Others use Trional and similar drugs, believing them harmless—it's a mistake. Any drug that will not cure is harmful.

Drugging the brain destroys its activity. Mental activity is just as necessary to the brain as physical activity is to the body. It is in this respect that Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer excels, it does not FORCE sleep as narcotics do. It makes NATURAL sleep possible by vitalizing the brain, and does not contain Alcohol, Chloral, Morphine, or other harmful drugs.

Whether the trouble is extreme wakefulness or fitful, unrefreshing slumber, Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer will cure it effectively by supplying to the brain the elements that have been worn out by years of mental toil, worry, excesses, bad habits and dissipation.

A single bottle will cure some cases, others require more, depending on the seriousness of the case and the patient's susceptibility to treatment, but a cure is certain in all cases.

In respect to Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer, would say that I have given it a fair trial and found it a great benefit in my case, which was one of chronic sleeplessness. I have suffered for more than ten years, have been under all sorts of treatment. Have had medical practitioners in Germany, England and the United States prescribe for me, without any result. Have tried the "Kneipp" cure with electric baths. Have been treated by osteopathists, and even by hypnotists, without success. By a mere accident I learned of Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer, and it has given me the one thing I value more than anything on the face of the earth—SLEEP.

TURKEY LIBERAL WITH OLD RULER

Abdul Allowed to Retain Servants and Live in Luxurious Retirement.

TROOPS TO KEEP ORDER.

Commander of Army Directed to Maintain Martial Law for a Month Longer.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28.—The former ruler of the empire, Abdul Hamid II., is to be kept a prisoner in a large house with walled grounds on a height overlooking Saloniki, which lately has been occupied by the Italian commander of the international gendarmerie. He is not to be put on trial, as has been widely reported in Constantinople, for he is considered to be above the law.

It was thought wise to keep the deposed sultan in European Turkey, remote from the capital. His household will be administered for him upon a generous scale and his life will be safeguarded, as he earnestly besought when notified of his dethronement.

Abdul Hamid, with four wives, five daughters, and two of his younger sons, two eunuchs, and a comparatively large number of female servants, was taken from the Yildiz palace last night and started under an escort to Saloniki. The party proceeded by steam launches to the landing near the railway, and a special train on which they were placed left at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Scene of Exile's Departure.

Fifteen minutes before the train started several court carriages arrived. From the first descended the former sultan, wearing a gray civilian suit with a fez. His face was paler than usual, but his restless eyes showed no trace of his inner feelings. No tongle or hand of soldiers on the platform saluted the fallen sovereign.

Abdul Hamid led his daughters by the hand. With these he entered the saloon carriage. He then assisted his wives, who followed next. They were mostly young women, eleven in number. They did not wear the usual veils, but extremely transparent shawls, through which their faces could be seen, and coquettish evening mantles, many colored silk skirts, and elegant scarfs. Two eunuchs and six footmen followed. These let down the curtains of the harem carriage, but the women, who saw for the first time in their lives a railway, whispered loudly, rejoicing in their unusual liberty, and put aside the curtains.

The former sultan reappeared and demanded a glass of water for his son and cigarets for himself. The signal for departure was given and the train moved, causing the women to give a cry of alarm. The train conductors had strict orders to make no stop until Saloniki was reached.

Volunteers Feted by People.

The streets of the capital are filled with Macedonian volunteers. They are being feted by the citizens at the coffee houses and restaurants, which are all full to overflowing. A brisk business is being done in the sale of pictures of the sultan and of miniature flags inscribed with "Liberty, Fraternity, Equality, and Justice." Hodjas and Softas, who had not been seen in recent days, now are reappearing in the public places and conditions are assuming a normal aspect.

The huge square inside the railings of the war office presented an unusual scene this afternoon. Thousands of soldiers of the late garrison were seated, cross legged, in companies in a great semi-circle, while officers made the rounds and picked out those suspected of active complicity in the mutiny. The men, however, were cheerful. They chatted and smoked and appeared to bear their disgrace lightly.

Mahmoud Schelket Pasha, commanding the forces, today intimated his intention to purify the capital of all subversive elements and to establish a salutary example to the army. He said that he would have no half measures, but would thoroughly clear up the situation. For this purpose a state of siege would be prolonged for about a month, but it would be relaxed in the European quarter soon. Referring to the deportation of Abdul Hamid, Gen. Schefket expressed the opinion that this measure was absolutely necessary in the interest of future peace in the empire.

Little Ceremony at Court.

Mehmed V. was attending to his court duties today, receiving officials at Dolmabagtsche palace, where he has taken up his quarters in a plain and unceremonious manner. Access to the palace is easy and the sultan's conversation is familiar, the whole being in striking contrast with the conditions that prevailed at the Yildiz. The absence of troops at the palace is marked and only a few policemen are on duty at the entrance.

Carassa Effendi, a member of the deputation from the national assembly which yesterday conveyed the fetva to the Yildiz palace, tells a graphic story of the dramatic scene which closed six centuries' dominion of the boundless power of the padishahs. When the deputation arrived at the palace the scene was one of utter desolation. The investing army had cut off the water, gas, and electric supplies and had stopped the ingress of food, so that all the palace officials already were suffering from hunger and panic.

While waiting to be introduced to the sultan the members of the deputation carefully examined their holsters and pistols, and, according to Carassa, had Abdul Hamid shown an armed hand he would have been shot on the spot.

Abdul Enters in Fear.

After much delay the unwelcome visitors, surrounded by twenty black eunuchs, were ushered into the sultan's apartment, where stood the sultan's son, Prince Abdur-Rahim. Presently the sultan entered in a bewildered manner. He was dressed negligently, as though his clothes had been hastily donned, in civilian attire. His arms hung at his sides and his hands trembled.

After a silent salute Essad Pasha pronounced in slow tones the decree of deposition, at which the sultan shuddered. There was a painful silence, followed by an equally painful colloquy, lasting a quarter of an hour. Abdul Hamid appealed for his life and for the lives of his family. He protested his devotion to the people and his innocence in recent events.

For a moment tears trembled in the sultan's eyes. Then he supplicated the soldiers in attendance to swear that they would not take his life. The deputation brought the interview to a close and Abdul Hamid humbly saluted them as they departed.

Not one of the Constantinople newspapers has a good word for Abdul Hamid, whose life and reign are being held up to universal execration. On the other hand, the accession of Mehmed V. is regarded as the dawn of a new era.

This action followed the communication of the fact of the accession to the throne of the new sultan to the state department by H. Kiazim Bey, the Turkish ambassador, and similar information from American Ambassador Leishman at Constantinople. THROWS CHILD UPON TRACK BEFORE APPROACHING TRAIN.

Michigan Central Engineer Stops Locomotive in Time at Gary, Ind., and Little Girl Escapes Unhurt.

After throwing a 5 year old girl in front of a passenger train on the Michigan Central railroad in the outskirts of Gary, Ind., yesterday morning, a roughly clad man disappeared in the thick underbrush with the apparent intention of allowing the helpless infant to be killed. The approaching train was under good control and the engine was stopped about twenty feet from the child.

The engineer picked up the little girl and placed her in the hands of William Miller, a policeman, who had witnessed the incident. The little girl, who had not uttered a cry, was well dressed and apparently comes of good parentage.

The name she gave to the police is believed to be Zaletto. Miller has requested that he be allowed to adopt the child if her parents cannot be found.

A search was made during the day for the man who threw her on the tracks, but was unavailing.

BEACH HARGIS FOUND GUILTY; SENTENCED TO LIFE TERM.

Youth Who Shot Father, Breathitt County Feud Leader, Convicted of Murder Charge.

Irvine, Ky., April 28.—The jury in the case of Beach Hargis, who was tried on a charge of killing his father, Judge James Hargis, returned a verdict of guilty, and he was sentenced to life imprisonment today.

This was the second trial of Hargis, the first having resulted in a mistrial.

The murder of Judge Hargis by his son Beach occurred in the father's store at Jackson, Breathitt county, on Feb. 6, 1908.

SHIPPY'S JOKE ON AUTO PARTY.

Chief Causes Arrest of Albert Mohr and German Guests on Charge of Speeding.

Two visitors from Germany who came to Chicago to inspect the Illinois Steel company's plant spent an uncomfortable half hour yesterday at the stockyards police station. With two employés of the steel company and Albert Mohr, vice president of John Mohr & Son's boiler works, they were "arrested" for speeding in an automobile.

Their arrest was only a joke—perpetrated, it is said, by Chief of Police Shippy.

Mr. Mohr is a close friend of the chief, and some years ago when Shippy was captain at South Chicago he was made the victim of many a prank which Mohr "framed up." Chief Shippy's opportunity to get even arrived when somebody notified him that Mohr and his party were on the way to visit the stockyards. Inspector Clancy was told to arrest those in the auto for speeding, but not to lock them up.

The inspector, however, carried out his part of the program "to the limit."

ROMANS REFUSE TO BE DONE.

Too Popular at Georgia Girl College, Pianist Is Fired.

Rome, Ga., April 28.—[Special.]—Prof. L. Relc Shocel, otherwise known as Schockel, Scoheiki, Scoechki, Skoechi, etc., but in reality Luther R. Shockley of Decatur, Ill., has been fired as head of the music department of Shorter college.

This action by the college authorities follows and is a result of Shockley's effort to prove there is something in a name. The professor is mighty handy on the piano, but he figured that as plain Shockey of Illinois he wouldn't startle the natives, even if he could tear off the classical to the tune of Paderewski. So he made a few lightning passes over his original cognomen, parted it in the middle, and descended upon Georgia with his baton flying.

Gets Good Job on Name and Front.

As Shocel of Poland, a descendant of virtuosos of time honored length and breadth, he made an instantaneous hit. He got the best job in his line that the town affords. Shockley is naturally of good front. When he twisted his mustache to delicious points, threw in a nifty goatee for good measure, put on a loosely cut coat, over the shoulders of which he let his hair flow poetically, he got right next to the faculty and landed in a hurry.

As time went on it developed that Shockley was not only gifted with the piano, but there on the girl proposition. Shorter is a college for young women and soon, too soon, it became evident that the Polish virtuoso was teaching other things than music—or at least another kind of music than that carried on the score—to the pupils of the school. This was foreign to the wish of the youth of the community and caused the swains of Rome to rise and mutiny.

Changed Name to Help Profession.

Shockley makes no bones about the deception. He says he gave his name the European paraphrase in order to help him out on the concert stage. He declares the change was made openly in his home town, and that there's no harm done, as he delivers the goods with the keys. Further, he avers that he was canned without cause, and that the college will have a lawsuit for breach of contract on its hands. In reply to this the college officials state that Shockley, besides traveling under an assumed name, was too friendly with the students for the good of school discipline.

Shockley was born of poor but respectable parents in Decatur. His father is a carpenter, and builded better than he knew. Luther early developed a taste for music, and when he got to be a man he allowed his hair to grow long, put a velvet collar on his coat, and started out as a Polish pianist. It is declared that he never crossed the ocean, but he has a fine line of conversation about European scenery and the old masters.

WILLSON HANGED IN EFFIGY.

Placard Placed on Figure at Ghent, Ky., Also Threatens the Life of Taylor.

Ghent, Ky., April 28.—An effigy of Gov. Willson today was found hanging in front of the postoffice. On the figure a placard was found which read as follows:

"Gus Willson, infamous governor of Kentucky. Friend of the American Tobacco company. Governor who pardons guilty and bloody assassins. Bill Goebel is dead, but his friends ain't. Let Taylor come back and we will fix him."

The straw man was not cut down until 10 o'clock.

LAST MEAL TWO WEEKS AGO

Aged Husband Says He Did Washing to Get Food.

ACCUSES FAMILY OF CRUELTY

Awarded Dower Right in Property of Wife, Who Gets Divorce.

"It is two weeks ago Tuesday since I had a meal. I have had crackers, yes, and some water. For the last three years I have had meals given to me on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday by people on North avenue for whom I turned washing machines. The other days I got nothing. I spurn offers of food from friends because I am too proud."

This was the answer of Nils W. Froman, 60 years old, to the suit for divorce brought by his wife, 63 years old, yesterday before Judge Kavanagh in the Superior court. While Mrs. Froman was granted a decree on the ground that he drank continually and lived like a hermit in the basement of their home at 1235 Newport avenue, Froman will receive his dower right in her property and in $2,200 which she inherited from her parents.

"They Treated Me Like Dog."

"I took care of her children," said Froman, who formerly was an engineer at the Manierre school. "They have treated me like a dog. I have cleaned their skirts and their gloves and transposed fourteen pages of music in a day for 10 cents.

"Why, I have brought thousands of pints of beer into the house and Mrs. Froman always got her share.

"Last December I was in my dark, cold room alone, dying from thirst. I was so hoarse I could not make myself heard, so I threw a shoe against the door. A neighbor heard the noise and gave me water."

"Do you get drunk?" asked Judge Kavanagh.

"Not in three years."

Accuses Church Goods Dealer.

Mrs. Leo Kaul sued for separate maintenance, accusing her husband, a dealer in church goods, of cruelty. She says her husband provided for her and their two children in a "respectable, but economical manner" for eighteen years, until July 6, 1908, when he told her he was about to leave and directed that she move into an $18 a month flat, dispense with servants, and do her own washing. Since then, she alleges, he had not provided for her suitably.

TRADE TO FOLLOW POPULAR REGIME.

Rapid Development of Turkish Resources Expected by Advanced Officials.

REVOLT HELD UNLIKELY.

Adherents of Abdul Hamid May Cause Turmoil for a Time in the Provinces.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—"From now on there will be parliamentary rule in Turkey. The new sultan will be merely a figurehead."

A high official of the Turkish government who is in constant receipt of messages from Constantinople describing the course of events announced this belief today.

"The Turkey of the past," he continued, "with its palace clique, fattening upon the vitals of the people, has gone. Enter a new Turkey, in which the people, through their chosen representatives, are the real rulers."

"What do you think of the new sultan?" I asked him.

"Although he has been in seclusion, he has followed events both in his own country and abroad. He has a good mind and a warm heart. But the part he will play in Turkish affairs will be small. Parliament will constitute the government, and he must carry out its will. Failure to do so will cause his deposition as summarily as that of Abdul Hamid."

"Can peace and order be restored promptly to Turkey?"

Civil War Not Expected.

"In view of the events that have occurred the world should give my countrymen an opportunity to adjust themselves to the new conditions. There will be turmoil for a time, of course, but there will not be civil war, as has been predicted in various quarters. The Armenians are heart and soul for the cause of the Young Turks. The great mass of the Moslem population are pledged to it. The Albanians, the Serbs, the Bulgarians, the Greeks, all the races of the empire, realize that there is nothing but advantage to each and every one of them in the new order of things.

"You may be sure, therefore, that tranquility will come within a short time. Had Abdul Hamid loyally and faithfully observed his oath to respect the constitution he today would be upon the throne of the empire. But he failed to realize the temper of the people and he followed his usual policy of intrigue and corruption with the result that today his brother rules."

"What will be the policy of the new government?"

Believe Country Is Saved.

"At home, education of the people and development of our resources; abroad, the maintenance of peace and preservation of our territory. We are a loyal, patriotic people. We have seen ourselves despoiled of province after province. We foresaw the inevitable end of a corrupt, cowardly régime. In giving our country a new government we believe we have saved her from annihilation."

There is reason to believe that these views have been presented to the president and the state department and are considered to be correct. In the matter of education Abdul Hamid never was friendly to the spread of learning among his subjects and was greatly opposed to missionary schools, regarding them as hotbeds of sedition. It was only after continuous pressure that he granted official recognition to American educational, charitable, and religious institutions, although some years before the United States approached him on this subject he had given this recognition to similar institutions of European powers. It is stated by the Turkish authorities here that under the new government the American people may expect the most liberal treatment of their countrymen engaged in missionary work.

Unquestionably it is true that the work done by American missionaries aided materially in raising the standard of thought in the Ottoman empire. The freedom they have enjoyed, their fearlessness in the expression of ideas, and their attitude towards their government naturally have influenced the Turks with whom they came in contact. Scattered as they have been throughout Turkey, they have formed centers from which liberty has radiated, and this in spite of their consistent refusal to mix up in any way with political affairs.

Great Strides in Industry.

If conditions quiet down as the Young Turks hope, unquestionably Turkey will make great strides industrially within a short time.

"The American people do not realize the vast extent of our resources," observed the Turkish official quoted above. "We have gold, silver, iron, and coal mines. We have antimony, bismuth, lead, and other minerals. We have the labor. I tell you that with good government Turkey within a decade will become one of the great powers of the world.

"The policy of the old government was to discourage foreign trade when it tended to inform the people of the advance made under free government. Sultan Abdul Hamid refused to permit typewriters to enter the empire, because he was afraid they might be employed for the reproduction of revolutionary circulars. The printing press was under constant surveillance. Now our people will have an opportunity to embark in countless lines of trade and industry, assured of protection in the proper conduct of their business."

In spite of the optimistic views of the officials named, close observers do not anticipate such swift regeneration for Turkey as he predicts. In the first place the mass of the people are illiterate. Ill feeling exists between the different races. A riot frequently is started because an Armenian strikes a Turk. The coreligionists of the latter gather and attack the Armenian. The friends of the Armenian come to his rescue. The whole town becomes involved in the fray and murder and pillage follows. This is the history of many of the troubles which today are taking place in Asia Minor.

Plan to Preserve Order.

It is understood here that as soon as the Young Turks are in control and have organized their government along satisfactory lines they will dispatch sufficient troops to the disturbed regions to preserve order. Fortunately under the reforms granted fifteen years ago there are Armenians as well as Turks in the army. They have acted together to secure the establishment of the new régime. Their coöperation in behalf of a general recognition of the new government and the execution of its orders undoubtedly will have a strong influence with the populace and may be efficacious in the restoration of tranquility.

Much, of course, depends upon how the Moslems accept the deposition of Abdul Hamid. His stronghold has been in Asiatic Turkey. His adherents may be able to stir up a revolution against the new government, though to do so probably would mean that the prison of the retired sultan would be changed from a palace to a grave.

As the Young Turk party is pledged to a strong foreign policy, it is likely that an attempt will be made by the new ministry to revise the treaties with foreign powers, including the United States, under which they have the right of extra-territorial jurisdiction; that is, their citizens when charged with crime in the empire are tried by the consuls of their respective countries. Various efforts have been made from time to time to induce foreign governments to relinquish this right. Undoubtedly failure to secure legal reform in past years has been due in part to foreign interference in the withdrawal of a considerable portion of the population from responsibility to the laws of the country in which they choose permanently to reside.

Many Courts in Session.

Half a dozen courts of different nationalities are in session daily in Constantinople, administering as many different systems of law. In numerous instances these litigations are between persons who were born and live in Turkey, and yet, by a pretext of protection or by some pretense of naturalization, they assume to be subjects of a foreign power and thus escape the jurisdiction of the local tribunals. Besides this obstacle, legal reform has been hampered by the absence of competent judges, trained advocates, and of a public opinion which recognized an impartial and independent administration of justice.

The Young Turks are understood to be determined to place the judicial system of the empire upon as high a plane as that occupied by the courts of other nations. To accomplish this result the tribunals now open will have to be swept clean of their occupants and high minded men versed in the law appointed. The United States, in common with other states, will be reluctant to surrender the right of extra-territoriality until convinced that its citizens can secure justice.

SIEGE OF HADJIN MISSIONS TOLD BY MISS ROSE LAMBERT.

Telegram, One Bearer of Which Was Slain, Reaches Constantinople in Appeal for Help.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28.—A telegram was received here today from Miss Rose Lambert, one of the besieged American woman missionaries at Hadjin. It sets forth the danger surrounding Miss Lambert and her companions, who are quite alone. The messenger who first started with the message to the telegraph office was shot down on the way. The communication is dated Hadjin, April 26, and says:

"The rising against the Christians of Hadjin began nine days ago. The government sent troops to suppress the fighting between Mohammedans and Christians, but the men were not strong enough numerically to restore order. Many are dead and wounded on both sides.

"Desperadoes occupied the Armenian cloister five days ago and have been firing on the people without interruption since. The Armenian churches are now showing white flags, indicating that there will be no further resistance, yet the shooting and the plundering continue. Many shops have been robbed and others undoubtedly will be. The Armenian settlements and villages in the province have been burned and many persons killed.

"Hadjin is almost entirely without food, and animals in the city are dying of starvation. The provincial authorities have been appealed to both orally and in writing to send more troops to Hadjin, but thus far without result."

RELIEF FUNDS ASKED.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Food, medical assistance and shelter are much needed by both Armenians and Mohammedans in the disturbed districts of Asiatic Turkey, according to a dispatch received from Ambassador Leishman at Constantinople and the American National Red Cross society has undertaken to aid the sufferers. It already has sent $1,000 by cable to the ambassador for relief work and today Miss Mabel Boardman of the executive committee announced that the Red Cross would be glad to receive and transmit contributions.

ATTORNEY LYMAN SOUGHT BY POLICE

Indictment Is Returned by Grand Jury Charging Him with Embezzlement.

POLITICIAN IS OUT $4,000.

Ex-Ald. Brenner Thinks Borrower Owned a Mortgage Put Up for Security.

Attorney George H. Lyman, 163 Randolph street, is sought by the police. Former Ald. N. T. Brenner of the Ninth ward is out $4,000 as a result of the accused man's alleged peculations.

After an investigation by State's Attorney Wayman the grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against Lyman, charging him with embezzlement. Every effort to find the accused lawyer was made, but it was said he had fled from Chicago.

The trouble started, it is said, when several months ago Attorney Lyman sold a note to Brenner secured by a $4,000 real estate mortgage. When Brenner attempted to collect the note he found it was claimed that the mortgage was owned by Dennis McCarthy, 1650 West Jackson boulevard, who had given it to Lyman to be held in escrow pending a business deal.

Delay in Issuing Warrant.

McCarthy, with Attorney James J. Kelly, 100 Washington street, went before Judge Hume in the Harrison street branch of the Municipal court and asked for a warrant for the arrest of Lyman. Judge Hume, it is said, told the men that it might not be necessary to have the attorney arrested. He asked them to wait until he could telephone Lyman and have him come into court.

Attorney Kelly and his client waited in the courtroom until Lyman had time to arrive at Harrison street. But he did not come, nor was it possible to reach him again by telephone. Judge Hume then issued the warrant, but the accused attorney could not be located.

Judge Hume, in explaining the incident, said that he was sorry that Lyman had escaped. He said that in refusing to issue the warrant for his arrest at first he had expected to adjust what he thought to be merely a civil difficulty and one which could be easily adjusted.

Court Wanted to Be Courteous.

"I asked the men to wait while my bailiff telephoned Lyman and had him come to my court. I was informed that Lyman was out, but that the bailiff had left word with him to come to Harrison street on urgent business when he arrived. When Mr. Lyman failed to appear in the course of an hour I issued a warrant. It was Saturday and it is hard to get bonds on that day, so I wished to give him a chance to explain."

Judge Hume also said Attorney Kelly and McCarthy asked for the warrant for Lyman's arrest in the presence of the clerks, bailiffs, and a number of others who were in the courtroom and that any of these might have "tipped off" the contemplated proceedings to the attorney.

Two Indicted on Extortion Charges.

State's Attorney Wayman during the day struck a blow at members of alleged "Black Hand" societies when the grand jury returned indictments against two Italians charged with attempting to extort money from citizens by the use of threatening letters. The actions were directed against Vincenzo Geraci and Isadore Carlino.

Geraci is accused of attempting to extort $3,000 from Dr. Peter Cutrera, 204 Milwaukee avenue. Carlino is accused of attempting to extort $365 from Joseph Macaluso and his wife, 382 Clark street.

Both of the complaining witnesses received threatening letters, signed with crosses and daggers and threatening death unless the money was paid to the members of the alleged "Black Hand" society.

TWELVE GUARDS DISMISSED FROM ELGIN INSANE ASYLUM.

Supt. Podstata Enforces Discipline, Declaring Some Attendants Cannot Stand Prosperity.

Twelve attendants were dismissed from the Northern Illinois Hospital for the Insane at Elgin by Supt. Podstata in the last six weeks "because rigid discipline is imperative." The men and the causes of their dismissal are:

B. C. Achterman, March 18, intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Charles Henley, March 18, neglect of duty.

W. T. Penninger, March 18, disorderly conduct.

Eugene T. Craine, March 14, neglect of duty and insubordination.

E. B. Johnson, March 18, intoxication.

Frank Mason, April 5, intoxication.

F. L. Rea, April 12, striking patient.

Ruth Urdang, April 14, insubordination and neglect of duty.

Charles Williams, April 18, insubordination.

Nathan B. Harrelson, April 23, intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Edwin Loveredge, April 23, intoxication and disorderly conduct.

John Nelson, April 24, insubordination.

"Some of the attendants cannot stand prosperity," said Supt. Podstata yesterday. "A patient can hang himself in a few minutes if an attendant is not on hand. The influence of the recent dismissals has been exemplary."

In addition to the twelve guards discharged, sixteen left voluntarily in March and April.

SILENT SOCIALIST MEETING SUBSTITUTE FOR "TALKFEST."

Leaders Call "Unusual Gathering" After Permit Is Refused for "Peace Demonstration" in Grant Park.

A "silent gathering" of 5,000 Socialists on the lake front next Sunday morning in a "May day and peace demonstration" yesterday was planned by Secretary G. T. Fraenckel of the Socialist county central committee and other Socialist leaders.

The "peace" demonstration also will be in the nature of a protest against the action of President Foreman of the south park board of refusing to grant the Socialists a permit to hold a "talkfest" in Grant park next Sunday in connection with the opening of the national peace congress.

It was then that the leaders sent out a call to Socialists to gather in the park opposite the Montgomery Ward building, minus banners and oratory. A series of "peace" meetings also has been arranged for the afternoon in different parts of the city. No request for a permit for the "silent" meeting has been made.

BOOTH CO. HEARING ON MAY 12.

Bankruptcy Petition Now Merely a Technical Matter, as Creditors Want It Dismissed.

The bankruptcy petition pending against A. Booth & Co. was set for May 12 by Judge Landis yesterday while sitting in the federal bankruptcy court. The bankruptcy proceeding is now regarded merely as a technical matter, forced to remain in the bankruptcy court and take its natural course in spite of the fact that all interested parties, including the petitioning creditors, want it dismissed.

PREPARE FOR CHOIR CONCERTS.

Workmen Transforming Coliseum for Two Events Given by Knights of Columbus.

A large force of workmen are transforming the Coliseum into a beautiful concert hall for the Gregorian choir concerts of the Knights of Columbus on Sunday next.

A stage will be built in the middle of the hall, large enough for the chorus of eighty members and the orchestra of ninety pieces.

The concerts promise to be artistic successes.

HOLD ARTIST ON GIRL'S CHARGE.

Plaintiff Says She Was Attacked in House Where She Was Employed.

Accused by Louise Buttner, 15 years old, Arnold Hill, an artist, with offices in the New Era building, Blue Island avenue and West Harrison street, was yesterday held to the Criminal court in bonds of $8,500 by Municipal Judge Stewart. The girl was employed as a domestic in Hill's home, 7007 Lincoln street, where, she told the court, he induced her to drink wine on several different occasions and on April 22 attacked her.

GERMS ARE MENACE TO MAIL CLERKS

Packages of Cultures Improperly Tied Are Sometimes Sent by Physicians.

POSTAL WARNING ISSUED.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Orders Such Matter Be Scrutinized.

The practice of some physicians in sending improperly packed disease cultures through the United States mails has resulted in a warning to postmasters by Joseph Stewart, second assistant postmaster general, concerning this class of mail matter. Hundreds of packages of this character pass through the Chicago postoffice daily and the employés have to watch carefully to see that they are prepared according to the postal regulations.

"It isn't any joke to find a package containing disease germs half untied staring you in the face," J. R. Young, assistant superintendent of mails, said yesterday in speaking of the careless way in which some of these culture parcels are wrapped. "As far as we know there has been no case of a contagious disease in Chicago traced to mail packages, but if the postal regulations are followed there absolutely is no danger of infection from this source."

One package of diphtheria germs came into the Chicago postoffice recently in cotton with only a pasteboard box for the outside wrapping. Sputum sent for analysis for tuberculosis has been sent by physicians in glass bottles with only wrappings of corrugated pasteboard, and in one instance a bottle was placed loosely in a paper box. Strangely enough, in none of the cases was the containing bottle broken.

Measures for Protection Taken.

"Some physicians not only seem to have no knowledge of the postal laws, but indicate a disbelief in their own statements that these bacilli are dangerous as a source of infection," Assistant Postmaster Hubbard said. "The department has done everything possible to prevent the exposing of its employés to disease and for this reason has adopted methods of sending disease germs through the mails so that it is impossible to be exposed to the diseases.

"In the first place, the law absolutely forbids the sending of these germs to any person or place except municipal, state, or federal laboratories. If they are sent to other persons or institutions it is in violation of the postal regulations."

It was pointed out by Mr. Young that physicians by not obeying the mailing instructions in sending specimens for analysis to laboratories in many cases might be the unintentional cause of injuring their patients' chances for recovery. If on the analysis depended the treatment of the case and the specimens were destroyed by the postal employés the successful treatment of the case might be impossible.

City Experts Do Not Use Mails.

The culture specimens analyzed in the Chicago municipal laboratory for physicians are not sent through the mails, but by messenger. Health Commissioner W. A. Evans, in order to facilitate the giving out of the results of analysis, communicates first by telephone to the physicians interested and later by letter.

Will Attend Congress of Nurses.

Miss Harriet Fulmer, superintendent of the Visiting Nurse association, will leave on Saturday for Liverpool, England, to attend the jubilee congress of district nurses. Miss Fulmer has been appointed by Dr. Evans to represent the health department of Chicago at this meeting.

NEWS OF THE SOCIETY WORLD

Mrs. Marshall Field Returns to Chicago for Short Visit.

MANY WEDDINGS IN APRIL.

Grace Barker, Maude Bonney, and Eva Pauline Hammon Brides.

Mrs. Marshall Field has returned from Ottawa, where she spent a few days. Mrs. Field is expecting to go to Europe, but the date of her leaving has not been decided. She probably will spend the entire summer abroad. Mrs. Field was one of the hostesses to Mrs. Frank Mackey, who paid a visit to Chicago late last week. Mrs. Mackey, who had spent the winter in California, tarried long enough to attend one or two of the late opera performances as Mrs. Field's guest, but hurried on to New York on Monday to prepare for sailing for London.

Mrs. John H. Hamline, 1621 Prairie avenue, is opening her summer place at Lake Forest early, and she and her debutante daughter, Miss Josephine Hamline, are leaving immediately to take possession. Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Gage, too, have closed their city apartments and will open "Pelham Lodge," their summer place at Waukazoo, on the north shore of Macatawa bay, Mich., the coming week.

There will be a large reception on Monday afternoon for the delegates to the peace conference, at which women of social prominence will act as hostesses. Mrs. Bryan Lathrop has been asked to invite eight or ten of her friends in this capacity. Thus far she has on her list: Mrs. Harry Pratt Judson, Mrs. Alexander Stevenson, Mrs. R. Hall McCormick, Mrs. John J. Glessner, Mrs. H. H. Kohlsaat, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Miss Jane Addams, and Mrs. Charles Henrotin. Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant is now out of town, but also will be asked to be of the party if she returns home in time.

The hour of the reception is 4:30 p. m. in the foyer of Orchestra hall.

Yesterday was a good old fashioned wedding day, with the echo of the bells coming from all parts of the city. This usually is true of late April days, for only the brave bride may flaunt her marriage date in the face of the superstitions of May, and to let April pass by means waiting for June. The marriage of Miss Grace Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Barker, 4023 Indiana avenue, and Max Lewis Richards was one of the biggest celebrations of the date. The wedding took place at 7:30 o'clock last night at the residence of the bride's parents, the Rev. A. K. Parker performing the service. Miss Bessie Barker, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Mrs. Ivan de Mitkiewicz, who was Miss Kate Richards, sister of the groom, was the matron of honor. Miss Laura Wheeler and Miss Peachy Randle were the bridemaids. Mr. Richards' attendants included Carr Tompkins as best man and S. A. Tucker Jr. and Frank H. Templeton as ushers.

Only the family attended the wedding service, but a large reception followed. The bride wore an empire gown of white satin, embroidered and trimmed with duchesse lace and pearls. A half wreath of orange blossoms caught her veil and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore pale green embroidered messaline and carried a basket of white lilacs, and the matron of honor was in a gown of white Irish lace, with white lilacs for flowers. The bridemaids wore pale green messaline gowns, with the same flowers as the other attendants. The date was the twenty-seventh anniversary of the wedding of the bride's parents.

After a wedding trip of a month the bride and groom will be at home at 6137 Madison avenue after Sept. 1.

On the north side the wedding of Miss Maude Bonney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bonney, and George Schnur of Glencoe was a quiet family service, celebrated at the residence of the family, 216 Cass street, which also was the birthplace of the bride—a fact worth noting in these moving days. The marriage took place at 8:30 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Stone of St. James' performing the ceremony. The bride's sister, Mrs. Harry L. Pound, and the groom's brother, Bertram Schnur, were the only attendants.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Pound wore apricot chiffon trimmed with Japanese embroidery and carried pink sweet peas. After an eastern trip Mr. and Mrs. Schnur will live in Chicago, the apartment not having been decided on as yet.

The marriage of Miss Eva Pauline Hammon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Hammon, 683 West Adams street, and Harvey T. Woodruff was a quiet family celebration of yesterday at noon. The Rev. Mr. McLaurin officiated.

Miss Alberta Hammon, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and William Brownlee served Mr. Woodruff as best man. The party was completed by two tiny girls, Elizabeth Atherton and Harriet Vaughan, who scattered flowers before the bride.

Instead of the regulation wedding gown and veil the bride wore a white serge tailored suit with a large white straw hat trimmed with plumes. She carried lilies of the valley. Miss Hammon wore Salome silk of champagne shade and carried white sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff will take a wedding trip and return to be at home at 2133 Washington boulevard.

◆

The National Park seminary girls in Chicago will be interested in the marriage of one of their number, Miss Ellen Vivian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Vivian of Houghton, Mich., and Charles Hall Moss, also of Houghton, which took place at 6 o'clock last night at Trinity Episcopal church, the Rev. Z. T. Barney Phillips officiating. A dinner followed at the Stratford.

Mrs. Vivian and Miss Vivian came to Chicago early in the week to prepare for the wedding. Mr. Vivian was not present, having been detained in Houghton because of illness in the family—given also as the reason for the coming to Chicago for the service. In his absence Mrs. Vivian gave her daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Philip Thomas of Duluth served the bride as matron of honor and Miss Kathryn McGrath of Chicago, who entertained for the bride to be on Wednesday, was maid of honor. William McGrath of Chicago served as best man.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon over white satin, with tulle veil, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Thomas wore pale rose satin and carried white roses, and Miss McGrath wore pale blue satin with white roses. Mrs. Vivian was in blue chiffon over white satin, trimmed with oriental lace, and carried sweet peas. After a visit to most of the interesting points in the east the bride and groom will live in Houghton.

Mrs. James Wallace Thomson and Mrs. William B. Keel of Oak Park will preside at the spring flower breakfast to be given at 12:30 o'clock today by the members of the Nakama club of Oak Park. The breakfast will be given in Field's east tearoom and covers will be laid for 150.

The announcement this year that for the first time a Radcliffe scholarship worth $200 is to be awarded to the western girl ranking highest in an entrance examination to be held in Chicago during June is of much interest to college circles. The announcement was made by Miss Mary Dixon, 7 Chalmers place, secretary of the Radcliffe College Alumnæ club of Chicago, at a recent meeting of the organization held at the residence of Mrs. Edward T. Lee, 5615 Monroe avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Schweitzer, Master Henry Schweitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund G. Fiedler, Mr. and Mrs. I. K. Hamilton Jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Zieger, Miss Elfriede Zieger, Mrs. W. G. Kroeschell, Miss Ida Kroeschell, and Miss Paula Kroeschell of Winnetka, L. Kramer, Miss Lillian Glanz, Miss Adeline Glanz, Alexander Glanz, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Eddy, Mrs. L. M. Wise, Mrs. F. W. MURIEL WHITE IS A COUNTESS

Ambassador's Daughter and Nobleman Joined by Civil Rights.

RELIGIOUS CEREMONY TODAY

Bride Is 29 and Her German Husband 30 Years Old.

PARIS, April 28.—Miss Muriel White, daughter of the American ambassador to France, was married in the mairie of the Eighth arrondissement of Paris at noon today to Count Hermann Scherr-Thoss, an officer of the royal Prussian cuirassiers.

This simple civil ceremony was performed in person by Roger Allon, the mayor. Only a few of the immediate members of the families of the bride and bridegroom were present. Countess Scherr-Thoss, the bridegroom's mother, was not present on account of ill health.

The ceremony consisted of a recitation of the laws of the French republic defining the obligations of husband and wife and the subscription of the couple thereto. The mayor then delivered a brief address in which he expressed his good wishes for the pair, and referred to the distinguished career of the bride's father and the ties uniting France and the United States.

Count Is 30 and Bride Is 29.

Ambassador White and William H. Buckler, secretary of the American legation at Madrid, acted as witnesses for the bride, while Count Scherr-Thoss, the elder, and Prince von Radolin, the German ambassador to France, did the same thing for the bridegroom. The others present were Mrs. White, Count and Countess Montsaulin, W. K. Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford Stuyvesant, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Rutherfurd, Miss Buckler, Jack White, and the members of the American embassy.

The marriage register showed the age of the count to be 30 and that of the bride to be 29. The full name of the bridegroom is Hermann Roger Hans Christow Scherr-Thoss.

Church Wedding Takes Place Today.

The religious marriage, which will be much more pretentious, will take place at St. Joseph's church tomorrow. Mr. White will not be present on account of the action of the Catholic church in forbidding a Protestant service in connection with the marriage. The bride will be given away by her brother, Jack White. Count Scherr-Thoss has four brothers in Paris, but none of them attended the civil service.

The wedding presents, which have come from America, Germany, France, and Italy, were displayed at the embassy in the afternoon. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a cabochon sapphire and diamond bracelet with a ring to match. Count and Countess Scherr-Thoss gave the bride a diamond crescent, table silverware, a piano, and furniture. Ambassador White gave his son-in-law a motor car and Mrs. White gave him a silver mounted dressing case. Mr. and Mrs. White gave their daughter a diamond tiara and earrings, a dinner service, and a dressing case.

Some of the Gifts and Givers.

In addition the following gifts were displayed:

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Chandler, old lace; Jack White, a silver dressing table service; Mr. and Mrs. Levi P. Morton, a silver center piece; the duchess of Aosta, a ruby and diamond brooch; Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. Reid, a massive George III. candelabra; Lord Rosebery, an old ruby brooch; Mr. and Mrs. Rutherfurd Stuyvesant, a jeweled butterfly; W. K. Vanderbilt, a diamond necklace; the Spanish ambassador to France and his wife, a silver gilt candelabra; Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Rutherfurd, a diamond and pearl necklace; Lord Haldane, an old silver punch bowl; Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, a silver tureen and a diamond beryl pendant; Mr. and Mrs. Julian White, a check for $5,000; Joseph Coates, antique furniture; Mrs. John Day, Louis XIII. wall lights; Mrs. Edith Wharton, Louis XIV. lace; Prince and Princess Radolin, a gold vase; Count and Countess Apponyi, a diamond and sapphire brooch; Lord Cromer, an old silver inkstand, and Walter Gay, a picture.

Among the many others who sent gifts were Sir George Trevelyn, the Duchess de Rohan, A. J. Balfour, M. and Mme. Nelidoff, Count Portales, Mrs. George Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills, and many other members of the diplomatic corps in Paris and the French aristocracy. No invitations were sent to sovereigns and no gifts received from them.

DOCTOR HOUSEWIFE DECORATOR AGREE

Economy—Beauty—Durability

In the decoration of the Walls of Flats, Apartment Houses, Tenements, Dwellings and all buildings in which people live, sleep or work, is easily within the reach of all who are interested.

The Alabastine Company will send free designs for wall and ceiling decoration, together with samples of Alabastine tints and positive proof that Alabastine is far superior to any sort of kalsomine—more economical—more durable. All that we ask you to do is to fill in and mail the coupon below.

There is a Saving

Alabastine is a powder, ground from alabaster rock that adheres to the wall or ceiling without the use of glue, paste or hot water.

The colors are artistic, restful and above all permanent—they never rub off—they never fade.

The rooms tinted or decorated with Alabastine can be occupied immediately after the departure of the decorators.

In retinting an Alabastine wall the new coat is simply put over the old, and the wall is better than before.

This reduces the cost and time of redecorating at least one-half, and largely removes the elements of muss and confusion always connected with the necessary washing and scraping when kalsomine or wall paper has been used.

Alabastine
The Sanitary Wall Coating

Lowers Lighting Expense

Alabastine is more artistic than wall paper—more effective than paint—more permanent than kalsomine—costs less than either.

It is a well established fact that wall papers eat up and absorb light while brush tinted walls such as are produced with the soft, velvety Alabastine tints, reflect light, make the rooms cheerful, protect the eyesight, save nerves and temper and reduce lighting bills.

The wall or ceiling that is covered with Alabastine will last clean longer than a wall or ceiling covered with any other material. The Alabastined apartment does not have to be redecorated as often as a painted, papered or kalsomined apartment.

Owner—Agent—Renter—All Profit When Alabastine Is Used

In Residences—city or country—In Apartments and Hotels—In Office Buildings, Factories, Hospitals or Schools—there is no wall covering that equals Alabastine. It is a perfect germicide. Disease germs and insects cannot thrive where it is used, neither can they find a lodging place in it or behind it. Alabastine is absolutely fireproof in its nature and is very efficient in preventing the ignition of any surface.

Use Alabastine, then note how much brighter, how much lighter the apartment will be, how much healthier, how much cleaner it will be, how much more desirable to live, sleep or work in.

Alabastine is carefully packed in sealed packages—it sells for 55c for any of the regular tints and 50c for brilliant white. Complete directions for use on every package.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

Edward A. Walsh, citizen of Meriden, Conn., and the real pitching kid of the American league, will roll into Chicago this afternoon and probably will be a full fledged White Sock, duly signed and pledged, before another sun has set.

This news, conveying joy to the south side of Chicago and grief to all sides of seven other cities in these United States, was flashed forth from humble Meriden yesterday. The big fellow, acting on his own initiative and anxious to do his share, or more than his share, toward bringing another pennant to the White Hose, left his home at 11:40 o'clock yesterday forenoon bound for this city. The tidings came as a pleasant surprise to President Comiskey and the privates in the Sox ranks, for Walsh had told none of them of his plans. Most of the players expected him to report soon, but that was as far as their expectations went.

Manager Bill Sullivan had a hunch there would be something doing when, during the game of Tuesday afternoon, he received a telegram from Big Ed's attorney. In effect the message said: "Do you think terms between Walsh and the Chicago club could be arranged satisfactorily if Walsh should come to Chicago?" And the wise manager answered with one word—"Yes." So Eddie must have hiked home at once, on reading this response, for there was much packing to be done.

Confab in Sight Today.

President Comiskey and Walsh and Sullivan probably will talk things over after today's battle with the Naps on the south side. There is likely to be a compromise on the salary question. Undoubtedly Commy would have been willing to meet the big pitcher halfway if the latter had reported here before this. As it is there is no denying the fact that Walsh's presence on the team will boost the team's pennant chances a lot, and the Sox boss will not allow any trivial considerations to stand in the way of getting Edward's name on the bottom of a contract.

Walsh's return to the fold will make the Sox pitching staff one of the greatest ever put together. With Frank Smith going at a whirlwind pace and showing no signs of letting up, Scott making good, and Doc White up to his old tricks, the present stable is almost good enough to sweep the card, and it is hard to see how the club can fail to finish among the first three with the other iron man and demon finisher added.

President Comiskey has not heard from the big pitcher since February. Walsh was holding out for a salary of $7,500. He was given a substantial bonus for his great work of last season and Commy evidently thought he would be content with this and the prospect of another one at the end of another good season's toil.

Walsh Ready to Pitch.

Before leaving Meriden yesterday Walsh said:

"I will be glad to be back with the Sox again. I have been pulling for them right along. Billy Sullivan's assurance that matters can be arranged satisfactorily is the reason for my leaving Meriden. My work at Yale put me in shape and I am ready to pitch right now."

While Big Ed was starting on his long journey his teammates were resting quietly at home, peeved at not being able to take another fall out of the hapless Browns. The game was called off early, and the St. Louis club, carrying much baggage and three large ciphers as souvenirs of their sojourn here, set out for Detroit. We wish them much luck on their voyage.

M. Lajoie's Naps Today.

M. Lajoie's Naps will appear here this afternoon for the first time this season. Frank Smith, effective against them as well as every other club in the league, will ask to pitch—"be asked" being a misleading phrase where Smithy is concerned. Frank has had a long rest, not having worked since Monday. The Cleveland club will remain until Saturday night if it is not discouraged before that time. Detroit is due for a Sunday game. The battle postponed from last week's series will be played on Monday, an open date on the schedule of both teams.

While snow, hail, and rain were combining to make pastiming impossible the workmen stuck to the task of rebuilding the first base pavilion on the south side, and at nightfall had something to show for their pains. The seats are almost ready for occupancy, there being but one more section to build. There still remains the task of putting a roof over them, but it is almost certain the job will be completed before Sunday.

Fielder Jones a Linguist.

F. Jones of Portland, president of the Sheep Creek Lumber company, has been heard from again. In a letter to a fan in this city Jones sends the following message to John Anderson, of whose departure he had not heard, or to Frank Isbell:

"Svenskerne og en eller to Norskere er ved dag og nat paa udkig onskende af hjertet at diu maa bekomme, ikke allene verden's 'Ball Kjempe,' men men Keiser af alle som foelger the games. Gud vere med dig, og haabende at aldrig noget sterkere en Lemon maa komme i dit van, og at dun vil altid bli Moder's beste son, er ve alle som en Norsk og Svensk med dig. Disse forbandede Yankier tror dem selv at vere de enneste ting vor herre gav vid og forstand og krefter, mod og villie til at komme fram til storhed, men du vil for altid ta det ud af deres hode," or words to that effect.

Jones always was suspected of being a Norseman, but the foregoing proves conclusively he is not. A kindly interpreter, who admits he does not know exactly what language the above was written in, translates it freely as follows:

What the Ex-Manager Wrote.

"The Swedes and one or two Norwegians up here are watching you day and night, wishing from the bottom of their hearts that you may become not only the world's ball champions, but also the czar of all who follow the games. God be with you, and we are hoping nothing stronger than lemon (Persian for lemon and seltzer) ever will be your habit and that you always will be mother's best son. We are all, as one Norwegian and Swede, with you. These blamed Yankees think they are the only things our Lord has provided with intelligence and strength, courage, and the will to progress to greatness. But you will take it out of their hides forever."

The missive is signed "Ex-Manager." His next will be in the Swamp Poodle tongue and addressed to J. Atz.

Wheeling Will Present Weak Lineup Against Grand Rapids.

Evansville, Ind., April 28.—[Special.]—The Central league season will open here tomorrow with Fort Wayne playing Evansville. If the weather is favorable it is believed a large crowd will attend the initial game. Chill of Indianapolis will umpire.

There will be a parade before the game along the principal streets, and Mayor John J. Nolan will pitch the first ball. Special seats have been reserved for ladies. On Friday there will be elaborate ceremonies at the park, when the pennant flag will be raised.

Last year was the first time Evansville won the pennant in the league. President F. R. Carson of South Bend arrived tonight to witness the opening game here.

Other opening games are scheduled as follows:

Dayton at Terre Haute, Grand Rapids at Wheeling, and South Bend at Zanesville.

TRIBUTE PAID "DOC" POWERS.

Thousands of Persons Pass Bier of Late Catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28.—[Special.]—Paying tribute to one they admired as a ball player and loved as a man, 5,000 persons passed before the bier of Dr. Maurice R. Powers tonight. The line for hours extended two blocks and a detail of policemen was necessary to keep the crowd moving and give all a chance to get admission to the flower filled parlor. The Philadelphia National league players attended in a body as well as many other ball players. The floral pieces were many and magnificent. Banked around the entire room were roses, lilies and other flowers. Every club in the American league sent set pieces. From President Johnson of the American league was a beautiful bunch of more than 300 roses with a ribbon bearing the word "Safe."

The Normals have signed Jimmy Cock, who used to play third base for Capt. Anson, and will use him for the first time this year on Sunday against the Athletics.

Two tallyho parties have been arranged to take in the Logan Square game on Sunday. The game will mark the first appearance this year of the Leland Giants in the Chicago league.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Cincinnati, O., April 28.—[Special.]—Meek as so many cosset lambs during the early innings of today's game, Chance's men suddenly tore off their disguises, converted themselves into ravenous wolves, snatched away from the Reds the victory which apparently was cinched, and plunged a stiletto deep into the vitals of Clark Griffith. Score, 6 to 5.

The Cubs indulged themselves in one of those familiar whirlwind finishes which, like so many others, proved absolutely irresistible and wiped out in five or six glorious minutes in the ninth inning a lead of three runs which had looked so safe that half the chilled throng had left the park and the other half merely staid on to help Griff gloat. They would have witnessed a worse licking than they did but for some sensational fielding behind Ewing by Paskert and Mowrey, both of whom cut off safe hits and one of whom performed a double play that snipped off the winning rally.

Reds Have Own Way.

For eight innings Cincinnati had things all its own way. By bunching hits in the opener the Reds gathered two tallies, added a pair to them in the sixth when Reulbach, who had been remarkably steady, issued a couple of consecutive passes, and made the fifth and last run with a pass, a single, and Sheckard's miraculous stab of a line drive which normally would have netted Mowrey a home run and would have put the game beyond reach of the Cubs.

In the same eight innings Bob Ewing's spitter held Chance's men helpless all but in the seventh round, when they gave plenty of warning of what they had up their sleeves by stinging Bob for three hits and two runs, all after two were out. The Cubs were peerlessly led to that ninth inning victory, for none other than Frank Leroy himself started things by swatting a clean single into right field. Steinfeldt poled a long fly out to left, but Paskert was playing deep and roosted under it when it came towards earth. Nothing deterred, Joe Stafford Tinker, hero of many a more thrilling drama, smashed one so hot that Mowrey was plucky to stick his fingers against it and had no chance of stopping. Hofman followed with a line slash into center, on which Chance trotted home, and only two runs were needed to tie her up.

"Zim" Soaks Sphere.

Zimmerman, bound to go out in a blaze of glory if J. Evers insists on resuming second base tomorrow, pulled a vicious drive, after which both Lobert and Mowrey dove in vain. Paskert tore in on the drive to cut off the tying tally at the plate if possible, but fumbled the ball in his eagerness and it bounded gleefully back toward the fence. Tinker and Hofman scampered home with the runs that insured a draw at least and Zimmerman sneaked around to third a toenail ahead of Paskert's throw in. Moran pumped a bounder to Huggins, who made a fine shot to the plate in time to nail Zim's run, but Frank Roth dropped the ball after touching the Bronx and the Cubs' winning run was in.

Howard went to bat for Reulbach to make it safe as possible and drew Ewing's only pass. Schulte followed with a sizzling grounder close to second base. Mowrey tore across and scooped the ball with one hand brilliantly, then had only to stop on second and fire a shot to Hoblitzell to stop the grandest rally that has been pulled off this season in any section of the map.

Subsidiary features to the great finish were the debut of Schulte in his old job in right field after the first inning, the swatting of Zimmerman and Hofman, each of whom bagged three safeties, and the fact that Reulbach for the first time in his major league career has worked in two championship games in April.

Schulte on the Job.

Schulte reported to the P. L. that his charley horse in the chest had disappeared entirely and he was ready to work. Consequently he was given his chance after the first inning, Hofman moving over to center to replace Browne. Frank celebrated by singling his first time at bat and by nailing a runner at the plate in old time fashion, thereby preventing possible loss of the game irretrievably in the sixth. Reulbach had good control of the ball for five innings, during which he put the ball over regardless of consequences and held the Reds to four hits, but in the sixth, seventh, and eighth he lost his cunning, and only his brilliant backing saved defeat. Reulbach contributed to his support a grand stab of a hot bounder in the sixth which enabled him to cut off a runner at the plate. But it was Jim Sheckard's miraculous one handed stab in the eighth which proved most timely and won the furniture merchant the plaudits of a hostile crowd.

Oakes scratched a hit over second, but with one out, in the first inning, Paskert drove him around to third with a swat to left center. Lobert popped out, but Mitchell poled a mighty drive into left, of which Sheckard barely missed making a murderously brilliant catch. It went for two bases, scoring two runs. Not until the sixth did Reulbach let the Reds get another run, although twice the first man up reached first base.

The sixth was opened by walking Paskert. Lobert followed with a two bagger to right center, on which Paskert tallied. Mitchell walked and Mowrey sacrificed. Reulbach pinched sensationally with one hand Hoblitzell's hot roller and nailed Lobert at the pan. Mitchell moving up to third and Hobby to second on the play. Roth plunked a single to right, scoring Mitchell, but when Hoblitzell tried to follow across the rubber Schulte's throw nailed him easily.

Two more passes to the Reds in the seventh were unfruitful, but in the eighth Lobert opened with a walk, advanced a bag on Mitchell's third single, and scored when Sheckard performed his unbelievable stunt of dragging down Mowrey's home run smash to left center. Hoblitzell hit into a double play. While this was going on the Cubs had hard work getting started. Three hits widely separated were all they could get off Ewing in the six rounds. But in the seventh Chance started by leading off with a single. Steinfeldt struck out and Tinker flied. Hofman scored Chance with a single to left and moved up on the throw to the plate. Zimmerman drove a liner into center which scored Artie, and Moran popped out. That was all till the scrumptious ninth already recorded.

Mordecai Brown replaced Reulbach on the slab in the last half inning, and held on to that lead of one, although Roth tried to start trouble by leading off with a single. Score:

NOTES OF THE CUBS.

Cincinnati, O., April 28.—[Special.]—That's four straight. Ninety-three more like that will cinch another flag.

Mitchell bagged a batting average of 1.000 off Reulbach getting a double, two singles, and a pass in four times up.

Chance expects to work Pfiester and Hagerman in tomorrow's double bill, saving Brown and Overall for the Pirates.

Chance led both rallies in the seventh and the ninth innings, which produced runs and found plenty of willing followers.

Zimmerman should have had four straight hits today, for the first time up he cracked one on the nose straight out, only to have Oakes pinch it on the run.

The Columbus club of the American association is after Carl Lundgren, but there is no certainty that other National league clubs will waive claim to the Illinois veteran.

Evers is expected shortly after noon tomorrow, but will not get into harness for a few days, although he may resist any effort to keep him watching the game from the bench.

The Cubs and Reds play two here tomorrow to dispose of Tuesday's postponement, and it means fast work for Chance's men to work off eighteen innings and catch the early rattler for Pittsburg.

President Murphy tonight disposed of Toots Hofman to the Quincy club of the Central association under an option agreement to repurchase him in August. Toots declined a chance to play in a higher class league at Springfield, Ill., by demanding $100 a month over the Three Eyes league salary limit. The St. Louis Cardinals decided they did not want Artie's brother.

CONKLIN DEFEATS MAYER

Takes First Game to Settle Ownership of Second, Third, and Fourth Prizes.

New York, April 28. — [Special.] — H. A. Wright of San Francisco and Clarence Jackson of Chicago played at the German Liederkranz today to settle which was entitled to the prize offered for the player who made the best average in the amateur billiard tournament. Wright won by a score of 400 to 198.

Wright's high run was 85 and his average 26 10-15. Jackson made a high run of 60 and his average was 13 3-15. In the tournament proper, Wright and Jackson each made an average of 16 16-24.

In the evening C. F. Conklin of Chicago and Joseph Mayer of Philadelphia played the first game of three which are to determine which is entitled to second, third and fourth prizes. Conklin won by a score of 400 to 237. Conklin's high run was 60 and his average was 12 4-33. Mayer's high run was 65 and his average was 7 6-33. Tomorrow Conklin will play against Jackson.

"FOXY" GRIFFITH IS BAFFLED.

After Long Session with Chance Behind Closed Doors All Trades Fall Through.

Cincinnati, O., April 28.—[Special.]—Managers Chance and Griffith were in executive session for five hours tonight without pulling off the trade for which "Foxy" Griff is angling. Griffith wants Zimmerman, but has nothing to offer in exchange that does not make Chance laugh. The Red manager wanted to trade Hulswitt for Zim or Hulswitt, Spade and McLean for Zim and Kling. There is nothing doing from Chicago's end which involves Kling and it is a cinch Griff could not get President Herrmann to go back on his word regarding a trade for either Kling or Spade. If Zim keeps on making three hits a day Griffith may offer a fair trade for him, and at that can't get him.

Premier Second Baseman Leaves Troy After Performing as Umpire in School Game.

Troy, N. Y., April 28.—[Special.]—John J. Evers delayed his start for Cincinnati until midnight in order to umpire the first game of the Public School Athletic league, in which a younger brother is a star player. Evers left for Cincinnati tonight and expects to join his team at that city tomorrow. He is feeling well, but remarked before leaving that he was not anxious to break in the game for a week or ten days. A large crowd saw the popular second baseman off. Evers has been practicing with the Troy team and coaching the Rensselaer Polytechnic institute nine.

Close Races for A.A.U. Swimming Title. Bowling Leaders. Pugilism.

YOUNG SWIMMER DEFEATS HANDY.

Huszach Wins Central A. A. U. Championship at 220 Yards in Record Time.

SETS NEW MARK OF 2:40 2-5

Cherry Circle Men Have a Slight Margin of I. A. C. Natators in Seven Events Held.

Kenneth Huszach, swimming under the colors of the C. A. A., defeated H. J. Handy, the Illinois A. C. crack, in the 220 yard swim and established a new Central A. A. U. record of 2:40⅖ for the distance in the Central A. A. U. indoor swimming championships held in the Illinois A. C. tank last night. Handy's defeat was the feature of the evening, as before last night he was considered next to Daniels, the national champion, over this route.

Huszach is slight of build and has all the movements in the water of Daniels. The new cherry circle star is only 17 years old, and critics are unanimous in their opinion that with proper training Huszach will be the American amateur champion in a few years.

At the crack of the pistol Handy and Huszach quickly drew away from the other competitors and swam side by side for 150 yards, when Huszach responded grandly to the instructions of Capt. Laughlin and gradually pulled away from his opponent. Handy tried to hold the pace, but was not equal to the task, and Huszach won by eight yards, breaking Handy's old record of 2:42⅗ made in the Evanston Y. M. C. A. tank in 1906.

Seven Events Decided.

Seven Central A. A. U. championship swimming events were decided last night and the C. A. A. carried off the honors by scoring 28 points while the Illinois A. C. made 26. All the races were contested hotly, because of the intense rivalry existing between the two organizations.

In the plunge for distance, the first event on the program, National Champion Brown of the I. A. C. had an easy time winning from Healy and Meigs of the C. A. A. Brown went the length of the tank, 60 feet, in :32, while the best his nearest competitor, Healy, could do was 60 feet in :37⅗.

Hanson of the C. A. A. sprung another surprise when he defeated Perry McGillivray of the I. A. C. in the 50 yard swim and covered the distance in the fast time of :26. Healy of the C. A. A. and Vosburgh of the I. A. C. had a hard fight for third place, which was awarded to the Cherry Circle swimmer after a lengthy discussion of the judges.

Bornaman Best Diver.

The fancy diving contest was won by Bornaman of the C. A. A., who had an advantage of eight points over his club rival, Gaidzik. Both men gave a pretty exhibition of diving off the high board.

The 100 yard swim went to Frizelle of the Illinois A. C., who defeated Huszach of the C. A. A. by a scant yard. The Cherry Circle swimmer did not have enough strength left after the 220 yard swim and succumbed to defeat after a brilliant struggle.

Handy had little trouble winning the 150 yard back stroke and partly retrieved his lost laurels. He won the event by yards with his team mate Weber in second position a yard ahead of Olson of the C. A. A.

Contrary to expectations, the water polo game for first and second places between the C. A. A. first and second teams resulted in an easy victory for the first squad, 7 to 1. The seconds held the first team to one goal in the first half, but Kehoe and his men got going in the second period and made six goals, scoring at will.

Capt. Kehoe the Star.

As usual, Capt. Kehoe was the star. He made three goals and was a big factor in the other scores. Durand, Healy, and Gaidzik also did splendid work and the general team work could not have been improved upon. McConnell and Loehde did good work for the second team, the former making the only score for his side.

The remaining events on the program, the 440 yard, 880 yard, and the mile, will be decided today, tomorrow, and Saturday, respectively, and Handy probably will win them all, although Merriam of the C. A. A. will make him hustle in the half. The results of these races will decide which club will win the swimming championship of the Central A. A. U. Summaries:

Plunge for distance—Won by Brown, I. A. C., 60 feet in :32; Healy, C. A. A., second, 60 feet in :37 3-5; Meigs, C. A. A., third, 60 feet in :48 4-5.

50 yard swim—Won by Hanson, C. A. A.; McGillivray, I. A. C., second; W. Healy, C. A. A., third. Time, :26.

220 yard swim—Won by Huszach, C. A. A.; Handy, I. A. C., second; Frizelle, I. A. C., third. Time, 2:40 2-5.

Fancy diving—Won by Bornaman, C. A. A., 193 points; Gaidzik, C. A. A., second, 185 points; Sevrens, C. A. A., third, 178 points.

STARS ENTER TANK EVENTS.

A. A. U. Water Polo and Fancy Diving Championships Start Tomorrow at C. A. A.

Alex Meffert, swimming instructor of the C. A. A., announced the entries yesterday for the National A. A. U. indoor water polo and fancy diving championships to be held in the Cherry Circle tank tomorrow and Saturday nights. Missouri A. C., Illinois A. C., and the C. A. A. will be represented by their strongest teams.

The New York A. C., which always has been represented by one of the strongest water polo teams in the country, has not sent in its entry, but Mr. Meffert has received assurances from the eastern club its water aggregation will be on hand. The Cherry Circle team is anxious to resume relations with the New York A. C. At the last water polo game played between teams representing the two clubs in the New York A. C. tank several of the Chicago swimmers were nearly drowned by the easterners, and the westerners are anxious to get back at them.

In the fancy diving championship all the local stars are entered. Bornaman, Gaidzik, and Burton will represent the C. A. A.; Swatek, Jensen, Bell, Jaeger, and Frizelle, the I. A. C.; Grote, Missouri A. C., and Winzell the Montreal A. C.

The water polo team will be composed of the following men: C. A. A.—Capt. Kehoe, Laughlin, Gaidzik, McConnell, Durand, Loede, Meigs, and Healy. I. A. C.—Capt. Jaeger, Jensen, Johnson, Barker, McLaughlin, De Mar, Gasperik, Walsh, Elliott, and Hajek. Missouri A. C.—Capt. Martin, Dr. Davis, Grimes, Cohn, Toeppen, Siegel, and Goessling.

CITIZENS RAP GUNTHER PARK.

Petition Mayor Busse to Refuse License for North Side Baseball Grounds.

A petition signed by F. J. Innes and R. C. Bierdemann, officials of the Sheridan Park Protective association, asking Mayor Busse to refuse a license to the Gunther baseball park, Leland avenue and Clark street, was received yesterday by the mayor and turned over to Corporation Counsel Brundage for his opinion.

The petition is the result of the objection of the residents to a baseball park in their neighborhood. With it were inclosed resolutions against the park passed by the association.

Billy Niesen, president of the Gunther team, had nothing to say about the action of the Sheridan parkers. He did state, however, that there would be a ball game at Gunther park Saturday between his club and the Joliet semi-pros.

SETTLE SEATTLE GOLF DATE

Big Exposition Officials Name June 11 as Opener.

GLEN VIEW IN GOOD SHAPE.

Lunch and Locker Rooms to Be Installed at Garfield Park.

Directors of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition have accepted the dates of June 14 to 19 allotted by the Western Golf association for an amateur tournament in connection with the big show at Seattle. In addition to the amateur event a seventy-two hole medal play professional tournament will be played June 11 and 12. Official notification of acceptance of dates for these events was received yesterday by Crafts W. Higgins, assistant secretary of the W. G. A.

Both tournaments will be played over the 6,200 yard course of the Seattle Golf and Country club. For the amateur event, which will be open to any amateur in the country, regardless of club affiliation, there will be prizes in plate of $400, $300, $200, and $100, while for the professionals there will be $500 in cash prizes.

E. A. Engler, chairman of the grounds committee of the Glen View club, made his first visit of the year to the course yesterday and found it in fine shape. The club has engaged the services of Alexander McPherson, late of the Oakmont club of Pittsburg. The Scotchman is an authority on grasses and under his care the Glen View course is expected to be in fine condition all the year. Mr. Engler will take up his residence at the club cottage and will supervise personally the work on the links.

Expert Tom Bendelow has returned from a trip during which he laid out a new 6,200 yard course at Dallas, Tex., a 3,190 yard course at Kalamazoo, Mich., and a nine hole course of 3,007 yards at Lima, O. Mr. Bendelow will leave soon for the coast to survey a new course for the Los Angeles Country club.

Garfield park commissioners have consented to put in a lunch and locker room at the west side course, which will be welcome news to the players who patronize the course.

WAGNER'S AUTO BREAKS DOWN.

Pirate's Machine Entered in Pennsylvania Endurance Run Quits When an Axle Cracks.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 28.—Twenty-four autoists romped, bounced and slid over muddy roads in western Pennsylvania for about 150 miles today in the first round of the three day endurance run. There were some that did not go the entire distance for various reasons, such as break downs etc. The car of Hans Wagner, the Pirates shortstop—the Regal—was one of the first to quit through a broken axle. The route lay through Butler and Newcastle, Pa., and back to Pittsburg. O. E. Vesta's Peerless car came in first, having covered the distance in about seven hours. Winton cars, driven by J. W. Tracy and Charles G. Corndt, finished second and third.

New leaders developed in the two men event of the state bowling tournament, now running at Geroux & Schuenemann's alleys when George Geiser and Joe Langmayer posted a mark of 1,171 last night, 20 pins ahead of Levine and Houlihan, the former leaders. Bob Krollman and Chris Blind were another pair to roll well, the Coughlin league experts getting a mark of 1,113 for a temporary sixth place in the doubles.

In the singles George Geiser was high with 594, not enough to disturb Peter Peth or the other leaders. But one squad of doubles and less than two squads of singles shot their games during the day.

Heavy cannonading by Berghaus and Bauer enabled the Brucks league five to acquire a temporary hold on first place in the five men event, the quintet totaling 2,742 and beating out the Halls for the lead by the scant marging of ten pins. Bauer led the men from Sixty-third and Halsted streets with an average of 207½.

A good middle game by the Scholz players enabled them to count 2,727 and ensconce themselves in their place while the Phoenix leaguers climbed into sixth position with an aggregate of 2,632.

Rolling with the Wentworth No. 1, the veteran Tom Wall reached the coping in the high individual game with a well rolled effort of 265, beating out the count of 257 made by Glassner on Sunday. Scores:

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

A gentleman who was sent abroad by a New York paper to write about English racing as seen through American pop bottles, says of Sandown: "Out of several thousands I heard several talking the United States language, but I had never seen any of them on Broadway."

Consequently, of course, they could not have been Americans. If you do not fall for the prehensile Broadway touch you don't belong anywhere.

W. O'Brien Mac Donough of California paid $150,000 for Ormonde, and, judging from the prices he has been getting for the progeny of that noted horse, you would think he had been raising chickens all this time.

When you come to consider what is about to happen to Carl Lundgren and Jimmy Slagle, you cannot blame the baseball expert for trying to make the most of his possibilities while he is clever at it. It isn't a far cry from the miracle to the mutt in this glorious national pastime.

The Turkish crisis should serve to add a few sprouts to the baseball vocabulary. Take the benching of Hamid and the substitution of Effendi for a hint.

The Kentucky Derby this year will lack none of its historic eclat, although all things about it have been seared by the simoon.

Paul J. Rainey, the Cleveland millionaire, is projecting his racing interest into England, where he hopes he will not be as soft as he was on this side.

Battling Nelson has discovered another excuse for not going through with it. Sometimes we half imagine that the Battler would rather get it in a less romantic way than by fighting for it.

It is still Ed. Walsh's play and it has been from the beginning.

We have had Rube Waddell with all of his possibilities and eccentricities. Who is the next inspiring freak?

The poorest sporting profession to grow old in is billiards. You don't have to dig far to tap a vein of ice water in that game.

Senator Agnew of New York does not think he did his full duty in the furtherance of the Hart-Agnew law. He now wishes to legislatively enjoin the papers from saying anything intelligible about the sorely harassed game. Don't you think this is overplaying it?

Replying to an anonymous questioner, we have never said that Jack Johnson was not as good as his surroundings.

A pipe at the shop windows warrants the prediction that Week-End Willie will be gorgeously arrayed this summer.

Possibly you have noticed the important change in the golf rules. The 12 o'clock train for Midlothian now leaves at 12:05.

The chief of police of Hammond, Ind., has hit upon a plan to discourage auto speeding. He intends to play a fire hose on the reckless. Don't take this lightly, Mr. Scorcher. Hammond water is a fearsome compound.

THE TRIALS OF THE DAY WATCH.

Ting-a-ling—Will there be a baseball game this afternoon?

A.—I have heard nothing to the contrary.

Ting-a-ling—Don't you know for sure?

A.—Honest, I don't.

Ting-a-ling—That's funny. Isn't there anybody around there who knows more than you do?

A.—A bunch.

Ting-a-ling—Well, send one of them to the telephone.

A.—I can't just now. They're busy.

Ting-a-ling—Busy at what?

A.—Conducting the same kind of a conversation that I'm conducting.

BLUES WILL MEET WOODLAWNS.

First Round of Peel Cup Competition Out of the Way, Association Football Starts.

With the first round of the Peel cup competition out of the way, the six teams in the Association football league of Chicago will resume league play Sunday afternoon. The round will complete the first half of the spring series.

The leading Hyde Park Blues are billed to meet the Woodlawns, winners of the fall series, at Fifty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue at 3:30, the game having been set back thirty minutes to make room for the Harvey and Hyde Park Albions motch, which has been transferred from the Harvey grounds. Play will start in this game at 1:45.

At the Northwest ball park the Campbell Rovers and MacDuffs will meet at 3 o'clock, and a great contest is expected from the meeting of the rival Scotchmen. Four clubs from the Coal City district have entered the Peel cup competition there, and it is expected the famous Maroons will have no trouble in reaching the final there. Play in the Peoria and Milwaukee districts is expected to start soon.

Flannery Wins Roller Preliminary.

John Flannery of Cleveland won the first preliminary in the two mile roller championship event at the Riverview rink last night. His time was 5:25 2-5. Midge Sherman of Kansas City was second and Earl Sanford of St. Louis was third.

Rain Stops Maroon-Purple Game.

The Northwestern university-University of Chicago baseball game, which was to have been played at Evanston yesterday, was called off on account of the rain. It will be played at Evanston June 8. Northwestern plays the Maroons at Marshall field May 18.

BILLY BOWMAN WINS ON FOUL.

Is Awarded Verdict in Sixth Round of Bout with Gus Gardner, Who Uses Knee.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 28.—Billy Bowman of Chattanooga was given the decision over Gus Gardner of Philadelphia in the sixth round of a scheduled eight round bout at the Hippodrome tonight. Bowman had the better of the fight from the start and had Gardner groggy when the bout was stopped and the decision awarded to Bowman. Gardner repeatedly planted his knee in Bowman's groin, but it was not until the fourth foul that the referee put a stop to the fight.

NORTON AND 'KID' BROWN DRAW

NELSON WILL NOT FIGHT ON JULY 5.

Dane Postpones Match with McFarland and Changes Date to Sept. 9.

CLASHES WITH GILMORE.

Packey's Manager Insists That the Champion Post $5,000 Forfeit as Agreed.

Battling Nelson, lightweight champion of the world, will fight Packey McFarland in San Francisco on Sept. 9. The men were scheduled to battle on July 5 by Promoter Jimmy Coffroth of the Colma club, but the Dane has changed his mind about fighting on that date.

Rumors flew westward from Rochester yesterday, where Bat is doing a theatrical trick, that he had called off the fight, and it was not until late at night that Nelson came out with the statement that he had postponed the match.

Just how the McFarland party will take this sudden change in plans remains to be seen, but it is most likely Manager Harry Gilmore Jr. and his protégé will come out with a statement deciding whether or not there will be a battle on Sept. 9.

According to Gilmore, Nelson is doing things to suit himself, and the local manager is of the opinion the champion is not over-anxious to get in the ring with Packey.

Gilmore still sticks to his demand that Nelson have his $5,000 up by April 30, or the match from the McFarland end will be off. Nelson has not done so, and the postponement is likely to bring about a new angle that may keep the men apart for an indefinite period.

But Promoter Jimmy Coffroth also has more than a little interest in the scheduled fight. In a letter to Gilmore yesterday he said that he was not worried, and believed that Bat would keep his word and would be ready to fight when the time comes. To this Gilmore said:

"Coffroth doesn't need to worry. He can get his money out of Bat's Hyland fight forfeit, but we lose the chance for the championship."

GOLDFIELD AFTER BIG FIGHT.

Citizens of Nevada Town Pledge Purse of $50,000 for Match Between Johnson and Jeffries.

Goldfield, Nev., April 28.—A massmeeting of 1,000 citizens tonight decided that Goldfield should offer $50,000 for a fight between Jack Johnson and James J. Jeffries, to take place in the latter part of September during the session of the mining congress. Before the meeting adjourned $40,000 of the amount had been pledged and the further decision reached that should $50,000 prove too small a purse to attract the big fighters, any sum within reason would be offered. When the subscription list is completed a formal offer will be made to the fighters.

CHOYNSKI DRAWS WITH HOGAN.

Police on Hand at Memphis to See That Statewide Boxing Law Is Not Violated.

Memphis, Tenn., April 28.—[Special.]—Announcement from the stage that application had been made for a charter satisfied the police who attended the Casino bouts tonight to see that no violation of the statewide boxing law was made. Young Choynski, Memphis, and Patsy Hogan, New Orleans, fought eight rounds to a draw. Choynski landed the only hard blow in the final round, but Hogan rallied.

Lid on Indianapolis Fights.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 28.—The bout scheduled here tonight between Jimmy Clabby of Milwaukee and Jack Morgan of this city was called off by the Indianapolis Athletic club because it is understood the grand jury is to begin an investigation next Monday of several prize fights that have been held in this city.

GRAND OPERA IN CHICAGO.

Grand opera is primarily a question of cash rather than culture. It is a brilliant social game played with the amiable complicity of one of the fine arts, which in this instance consents to a humbler office than is usually claimed by the haughty sisters.

But isn't it time Chicago may permit herself the luxury? There is plenty of wealth here, and social ambitions are by no means homespun. The report that one lavish citizen proposes to donate a million, and that other men and women are pledging comfortable sums to make up an adequate endowment, is, or ought to be, credible. Certainly such a project would add much to social brilliancy of our "season."

Besides, there is a substantial musical public to be drawn upon for additional support. Chicago's musical appetite is sound and reliable. Concerts and recitals are numerous and well attended, and opera, even at the price usually asked, draws many people for whom the purer forms of music have no attractions.

The gallant and public spirited attempt, we hope, will not fail. It deserves prompt encouragement. The plans, as outlined, are promising and plausible, and should not be permitted to lapse from want of a sympathetic reception.

ELECTRIFICATION.

When the telegraph companies were ordered to put their Chicago wires underground their electrical experts said the city was demanding an impossibility—that the wires could not be worked. But it turned out that they could be. When the traction companies were urged to give up the old style rails they said that if they put down the new fangled ones the cars would be constantly running off the track. The change was made, but they do not run off. When track elevation was put up to the steam roads they began by saying that the cost would be prohibitory. They have discovered that it is not.

So when members of the legislature are told that the complete electrification of railroad terminals is impossible, that electric locomotives would not stay on the track, and that the cost of a change of motive power would bankrupt the roads they would better take those statements with many grains of salt. They should not be so far influenced by them as to refuse to pass the bill authorizing cities to govern the motive power used by railroads within their corporate limits. It must not be assumed that if the power shall be given a city council will make an unreasonable use of it or require impossibilities. If it were to do so the courts would review and reverse the action of the council.

Nor should legislators from outside of Chicago be influenced by flippant statements that the women's clubs are asking for legislation because some pansy beds on Michigan avenue are spoiled by the smoke. It is not a matter of ruined flowers, but of homes made almost uninhabitable by soot and smoke, of health injured, of wearing apparel and furniture spoiled. None have a better right than women to protest against the filthy and costly smoke nuisance.

The arguments of the railroad employés have been put in their mouths by their employers, who have sent them to the front, not for the first time, to fight legislation the roads were opposed to. Electrification would cost some firemen their jobs but would not reduce the wages of engineers. Their work would call for no less skill than it does now, and skill determines wages. The adoption of a new motive power should make railroad men more cautious than they are now and thus decrease the frightful number of deaths and injuries in the railroad service.

The bill may need amendment in some particulars, but the power it aims to confer should be conferred. The courts will see that it is not abused.

SELLING FUTURES.

During the summer of 1864 Secretary of the Treasury Chase came to the conclusion that the trading in gold which was carried on by New York brokers put up the price of the metal and decreased the purchasing power of the paper dollar. So he got congress to pass a law prohibiting sales of gold unless the seller had it in his actual possession and delivered it the same day. The effect of the law was not what congress and the secretary expected. The gold room was closed, but gold, instead of falling, went up rapidly from 198 to 250. Two weeks' experience was enough to convince congress that it had blundered. Not a voice was raised against the repeal of a law which manifestly was hurting the business interests of the country.

Probably the judiciary committee of the Illinois house of representatives was not familiar with this interesting attempt to keep people from selling what they had not, otherwise it would not have reported favorably on the bill which makes it a felony to sell grain, meats, stocks, etc., unless the seller is the actual owner. Nor would it have done so if it had been familiar with the failure of other attempts to stop legitimate dealings in futures.

If this bill were to pass the only effect, as far as it had any, would be to transfer to the Milwaukee board of trade a mass of legitimate business now done on the Chicago board. Milwaukee would be helped and this city harmed, but business men would keep on buying and selling grain futures for business reasons. The laws of trade cannot be successfully regulated by a legislature, and no attempt to regulate them should be made.

FIREMEN IN THEATERS.

The theater fireman has been considered a necessary official, at least since the Iroquois disaster. There is no record that he has accomplished much in preventing conflagrations or allaying panics. But there is little doubt that many theatergoers have felt safer because of the occasional sight of this blue coated, brass buttoned attendant on duty. He has belonged to the class of emergency men, with little to do, much of the time but supposedly ready for prompt and intelligent service in the moment of threatened peril.

The fire marshal believes that the time has come to withdraw his men from such assignments. As may easily be imagined, the effect on the individual has not been satisfactory. It needs no argument to convince any one that the active, aggressive work of fighting the flames gives better training than the necessarily indolent occupation of guarding against the danger of exceptional disaster. It is easy to see, also, that the withdrawal of sixty men from regular work with the engine companies weakens the fire department just that much.

As a substitute the fire marshal proposes that the theaters be required to provide two men each, one for stage fireman and the other as fire guard in the auditorium, to protect patrons from fire or panic. While thus engaged, they shall be under the orders of the fire marshal. When no performance is in progress they may engage in other occupations. The head of the fire department believes that this arrangement will afford every needed safeguard. In some ways it looks like a relaxation of strict vigilance. But, if supervision is maintained and the service is kept at a high stage of efficiency, the new plan may meet every demand of the people. For there is no patron who will not feel safer if he sees the evidence that the danger from fire or panic never is forgotten for a moment.

REFERENDUM ON BONDS.

A bill was introduced in the legislature day before yesterday to amend the cities and villages act so that municipal bonds cannot be issued, except to refund old indebtedness, without a popular vote. It should become a law along with the bill to raise the debt limit of cities and villages.

The state can contract no debt above a small amount, except to repel invasion or put down insurrection, without a popular vote. No county board can issue bonds of its own motion. It has to submit the question to the voters. So when it was a matter of issuing bonds for the construction of a new courthouse the Chicago voters, being a part of the Cook county electorate, had to be consulted. But when it came to issuing bonds to begin work on a new city hall the approval of those voters was not asked, though it would have been given if asked. The council attended to everything.

Candidates for directors of a country school district are known to all the voters. The latter are much better able to pick out trustworthy men than are the voters of a great Chicago ward to select a competent alderman. But the board of directors of a school district is not permitted to issue bonds until the voters shall have given them authority.

It is illogical, to say nothing else, that city councils should be more exempt from popular control than the state legislature, the county boards, and school directors. The taxpayers of a city should be allowed, like the voters of a county, to say whether a new mortgage shall be put on their property. Absolute confidence should no more be reposed in a city council than in a county board. Hence there should be no opposition to the referendum bill.

BOMB THROWING.

The bomb throwing business should be stopped, and that, too, speedily. The explosion of bombs in various localities alleged to be connected with gambling interests received no check, although the offense was repeated again and again. The suggestion was taken up in connection with building operations, bridges, single structures, and flats being wrecked. The inevitable result of such careless use of dangerous mechanisms is the death and physical injury connected with the latest explosion credited to the bomb thrower.

The business of making bombs will gain support in Chicago if this sort of work is suffered much longer, and bombs are weapons which have many uses. The peace and safety of the community are threatened by the toleration of the evil. It ought to be possible to uncover the people who are resorting to this reprehensible method of getting revenge. A few punishments would check a growing habit that has nothing but danger connected with it.

London Losing Music Halls.

Not only are there fewer music halls, but competing forms of amusement—picture shows on the one hand and skating rinks on the other—have arisen in fast increasing numbers. Business has probably been affected more by the growth of these forms of entertainment than by an excess of music halls.—London Stage.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1909: By the Brentwood company, all rights reserved.]

PRINCE CHUN, regent of China, has just issued an edict confiding to the grand secretary of the empire, a mandarin of the name of Shi-Shu, the task of attending to the hair of Emperor Pu-Yi, so that the latter may be found to possess a queue worthy of his rank as monarch when the period of mourning for the late emperor and the late dowager empress comes to an end.

While this mourning is in progress the head may not be shaved. But as soon as it is over the 3 year old sovereign of China will be required not merely by custom but also by law to shave his head, save for the queue, in accordance with the legislation imposed by his Manchu ancestors when they conquered China near 300 years ago and forced their own particular style of head dress upon the vanquished.

The orientals are nothing if not dignified, and to the Chinese their emperor is something so awesome and sacred that it never would do for the tiny ruler to have a queue which by its lack of material and its meagerness would invite ridicule. That is why one of the grandest dignitaries of the realm, a mandarin of the highest rank, has been assigned by means of a solemn imperial edict to the important duty of caring for and, above all, promoting his little sovereign's pigtail.

In every picture portraying either the execution of Emperor Maximilian at Queretaro, in Mexico, or the farewells in his prison cell just before he went to his doom, there appears the figure of a priest. This was the Rev. Father Augustine Weber, the ill fated emperor's chaplain and confessor, who was with him from the time when he landed in Mexico until the last. This faithful and devoted companion of Maximilian has just died at an advanced age at Budapest, thus severing a link with the past. Needless to add that he enjoyed the gratitude and the affectionate regard of all the members of the house of Hapsburg, especially of Emperor Francis Joseph.

Young Ronald Ramsay's disappearance from shipboard while on his way from New York to England constitutes an addition to the long list of people who have vanished from human ken in this fashion, notable among them being the late Lady Brassey, first wife of Lord Brassey, and authoress of that at one time so popular book entitled "The Voyage of the Sunbeam," the latter being the name of the steam yacht which was her second home, and from which she mysteriously disappeared in the Indian ocean while the boat was on its way from Bombay to Australia.

Still more extraordinary was the fate of the late Landgrave of Hesse, brother of the present blind Landgrave and first cousin of Queen Alexandra. Traveling round the world with a large suite of gentlemen in waiting, doctor, and servants, he was on his way from Singapore to Batavia, and one day, when the weather was perfectly calm, he left his companions on deck after tiffin, or luncheon, announcing that he was going to take a siesta in his cabin. When the prince failed to reappear, and a message was sent to his cabin, the latter was found to be empty. The porthole was open, but so small that he could not possibly have wriggled through it. He had been seen to enter the cabin, but not to leave it. All the vessel was searched, but no trace of him could be found anywhere. Neither had any one seen or heard him jump overboard. To this day his fate remains inexplicable.

The late earl of Aberdeen vanished from shipboard while serving as a sailor before the mast on a sailing ship bound from Boston to Valparaiso. There are scores of these ocean mysteries which could be mentioned; that is to say, of people who have vanished from shipboard unseen and unnoticed, and which are entirely distinct from cases of drowning voluntarily or by accident in the presence of witnesses.

Ronald Ramsay was a subaltern of the Scots guards, but had left the regiment, and was the elder of twins. He had, moreover, three other brothers—namely: the present Lord Dalhousie, the Hon. Patrick Ramsay, who was for a time third secretary of the British embassy at Washington, and Alexander Ramsay, who is a lieutenant in the royal navy. The present earl is married to a daughter of Lord Ancaster, and, therefore, has an American sister-in-law in the person of Lady Willoughby d'Eresby, wife of the heir to the earldom of Ancaster, and a daughter of the late William L. Breese of New York.

The earl of Dalhousie is not a descendant of the celebrated marquis of Dalhousie, who received his marquisate for his splendid services as governor general of India. That Lord Dalhousie died without male issue, whereupon his marquisate became extinct, while his Scotch barony, created in 1618, and his Scotch earldom, dating from 1633, passed to his cousin, Fox Ramsay, as eleventh earl of Dalhousie. He, too, died without issue, and was succeeded by a cousin, Admiral George Ramsay, grandfather of the present earl.

The Ramsays have been settled in the Lothians since the twelfth century, and have played a notable rôle in Scottish history ever since the days of King Robert the Bruce, William de Ramsay being one of the signatories of Bruce's famous letter of 1320 to the pope asserting Scotland's independence. Lord Dalhousie's ancestral home is Brechin castle, a grand old Forfarshire structure perched on a precipitous rock not far from the ancient town of Brechin, one of its features being its curious round tower, like the ancient round towers of Ireland. It is there that is preserved the famous talisman known throughout Scotland as the Coalstoun Pear, which Sir Walter Scott in his "Diary" mentions as having seen there during his stay at Brechin castle. The pear is said to have been given by the great wizard, Hugo de Gifford of Yester, on the occasion of the marriage of his daughter to a scion of the house of Broun of Coalstoun, informing the young couple that as long as the gift was preserved good fortune would never desert their descendants. It came into the house of the Dalhousie Ramsays through marriage, is now shrunken to the size of a dried plum, and is preserved with great care in an ancient silver casket.

Prince Scipio Borghese's feat in traversing central Asia from Peking to Moscow and Paris in a motor car two years ago has encouraged certain enterprising Chinese and Russian merchants to form an association for the transport of the finest qualities of Chinese tea across the desert of Gobi by means of automobiles. The best grades of tea, those for which gourmets in Europe, and particularly wealthy Russians, are willing to pay almost their weight in gold, become impaired in aroma and in taste by sea transport, no matter how carefully they may be sealed in hermetically sealed cases, and for years have always been borne across the central Asian desert by means of caravans of camels, whence the name "Caravan tea."

Now, however, the motor car is to take the place of the camel, which will have the effect of shortening the trip across the Gobi desert by no less than fourteen days, and the tea merchants of Kiakhta, just north of the Gobi desert, which is the great receiving station for the tea caravans, and which is within easy reach of the Trans-Siberian railroad line at Irkutsk, are now engaged in completing the organization of this automobile service which is to supplant the camel caravan.

Some New Jersey Patents.

Our friend T. Ewing Riddel, who is in the business of promoting and selling patents, has got out a new card. It has on the back: "Some new companies just incorporated, the Artificial Bird Seed Trust, for the manufacture of artificial bird seed for the feeding of cuckoo clocks; the Woodpecker Punching company, a new process for punching holes in the tops of salt and pepper shakers, the punching is done by trained woodpeckers; the Direct Butter Producing company, butter direct from the cow. We inoculate the cattle with St. Vitus dance germs—and they do the churning."—Newark Call.

It is felt in many quarters that the time has arrived when both the wholesale and retail members of the drapery trade shall seek to overcome the present difficulties by a unanimous action and change the seasons. Speakers Bona Fide Workers.

Chicago, April 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In the letter of H. M. Shoninger, president of the Chicago Garment Manufacturers' association, appearing in The Tribune, the writer asserts that women who appeared at the hearing on the eight hour bill in the senate on Wednesday, April 21, were not working girls, but that they are on the executive board and are officers of the Women's Trade Union league of Chicago.

As Miss Agnes Nestor and Miss Elizabeth Maloney were the only two girls who spoke at the hearing, it must be to them that he refers. It was because of Miss Nestor's long years at her trade (glovemaking) that she was able to tell the story of working conditions and to describe the evil effects of the piece work system. As for Miss Maloney, she works at her trade as a waitress every day.

Among the girls ready to speak if called upon were workers who have no official connection with the league, but who are at one with the principles for which it stands.

As to "Tom" Lawson's "Ads."

Chicago, April 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your act in turning down Thomas W. Lawson's advertisement was commendable, and as a reader of your paper and a student of finance I wish to congratulate you on your move for better conditions in financial affairs.

A good, strong editorial scoring such papers that do publish his advertisements and aid him in his vile tactics would make a hit, as I have heard numerous people condemn the advertisement which appeared today and at the same time expressed appreciation of the course taken by The Tribune.

The future will bear out the fact that his attack on the stock he mentioned was absolutely unwarranted and was for stock jobbing purposes only.

Calls Library System Obsolete.

Chicago, April 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have visited and done considerable literary work in many public libraries in eastern cities, and believe our system of circulation for home use is antiquated and cumbersome. The fact that there are no "school library branches" or that there is no cooperation with the public schools and the library is disgraceful. The "temporary commission" appointed by the board should pay especial attention to this phase of the case.

As for the ventilation of the reading rooms, one cannot condemn it sufficiently. The health department should take action, as the rooms are filled with foul atmosphere.

Equal Pay for Equal Work.

Chicago, April 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—May I be permitted to reply to two of your correspondents? Mr. S. H. Shoninger errs in stating that the women who spoke before the senate on the need of restricting the hours of women's work are not working girls. If Mr. Shoninger will take luncheon where I shall be pleased to direct him he will see two of them carrying their trays.

"J. E. G." writes in the same column that women are demanding the vote to enforce legislation securing "equal pay for equal work," and avers that women wish through the vote to enforce pay to which they are not entitled. Equal pay for equal work does not mean equal pay for unequal work, but just what it says. So far the boot has been on the other foot.

Thanking The Tribune for its editorial on "Women's Work Hours" in Friday's issue, I am,

IN THE THEATERS.

The Creation.

Last evening was a good one for the giving of "The Creation." The "Heavens were telling" a tale boisterous and tempestuous, and the waters "which were above the firmament" seemed determined to come down all at once to mingle with those "which were under the firmament," and poor "man, the lord and king of nature all," had to be clad in something more substantial than "native worth and honor" if he wanted to get comfortably around the Pullman building or the Railway Exchange and land respectably in Orchestra hall.

There were many representatives of both man and of "the partner for him formed" who braved the storm and assembled in the concert room to listen to the presentation of the Haydn oratorio by the Marshall Field Choral society.

The work is not such a descriptive product as our friend Richard Strauss or the late lamented Wizard of Baireuth would have fashioned, had either of them decided to put into tones the processes of the making of the universe, but dear, old "Papa Haydn" lived in the age of simpler things, and he wrote daringly for his time, but naively in the light of today. And yet hearing his clear, sweet melodies, and noting his neat miniature painting of the mighty events of creation, one could but marvel anew at the skill and delicate clarity with which he, while using only simple means, suggested all the happenings of each momentous day as he came to describe them.

There is imagination and a fine sense for the musically pictorial in all that he has done—an imagination and a sense as true and as keen as are evidenced by even our greatest workers in this same line today. His methods are simple but the power of suggestion is there just the same and more than that no composer of the present can accomplish.

The performance of the evening was a thoroughly commendable one. The chorus, which numbers some 140 singers, is well balanced, is composed of voices which evidently have been selected with care and the training has been such that the singing is characterized by praise meriting precision, accuracy, and spirit. The enunciation is clear and clean, and the phrasing and shading intelligent. The volume of tone is full and strong, and the quality smooth and agreeable.

The leader, Thomas A. Pape, clearly is a painstaking, authoritative conductor, and he had all the forces well in hand. Some thirty-six members of the Thomas orchestra supplied the orchestral accompaniments, and the solos were in the hands of Miss Helen Buckley, soprano; William Clare Hall, tenor; and William Beard, bass.

It has been several seasons since Miss Buckley had been heard in downtown concert, and hearing her last evening was productive of pleasure. Her voice has broadened and strengthened since last listened to, is now much fuller in quality, and her singing has more of authority and impressiveness because of this. She sings with her usual good taste and scored success with her auditors.

Mr. Hall's tenor is of light quality but agreeable, and he also gave commendable account of himself. Mr. Beard was as usual authoritative and sure, and his strong, full baritone was heard to good advantage in the grateful Haydn recitatives and arias.

Vaudeville.

The bill at the American Music hall this week ranks among the best which have been offered there since vaudeville became the policy of the house. Among the ten acts which make up the program there is not one of an inferior grade and each and all are entertaining. The offerings are sufficiently varied to suit all classes of patrons. There are popular songs for the lover of ragtime and operatic airs for the operatically inclined.

There is fun for every one in the two playlets presented and even the most blasé vaudevillian is forced to laugh at the sheer nonsense of the James J. Morton monologue. For those who delight in exhibitions of acrobatic skill the performance of the De Wynne brothers will prove attractive, as it is exceptionally neat.

The featured entertainer is Julian Eltinge, the creator par excellence of feminine characterizations. Mr. Eltinge has the power to present himself at will as a handsome man or a beautiful woman. To the bathing girl specialty, which was seen before in the Honey Boy minstrel show, he now adds three new characters—a Nell Brinkley girl, a 10 year old miss in a short frock and half stockings, and, lastly, an East Indian princess. As the Brinkley maiden he sings in a rich contralto voice the Brinkley song from "The Follies of 1908." The juvenile number is hardly as taking as any of the others, as Mr. Eltinge's stature does not conform to the picture exactly. However, in the Hindoo costume the illusion is complete and satisfying and in a series of three dances many striking effects are achieved.

The Eltinge artistry is unique and is distinctly different from that of the familiar female impersonator. The costuming is always rich and in the best of taste, and no extreme or daring effects are attempted. There is never a false or jarring note or a departure from the real task set—the portrayal of feminine types replete with truly feminine charm. It must not be imagined that the real Julian Eltinge is effeminate in any way, however. On the other hand, he is a mannish athletic chap, and at the conclusion of the act, when he removes his wig, he reveals features handsomely masculine and a closely cropped head of hair.

The Kohler trio, composed of vocalists who range in height from five feet to at least six feet five, sing the Miserere from "Il Trovatore" and "The Holy City." Their foreign extraction is betrayed in the "Geeruzalem," which rings out clearly in the latter selection. Halliday and Curry in "The Battle of Too Soon" and Ed Blondell and company in "The Lost Boy" each make merry and drive dull care away during the time they are on view. The Song Writers' contest is in its second stage and its novelty still appeals.

HITS CHOICE OF LIBRARIAN BY MEANS OF EXAMINATIONS.

Harry Pratt Judson, President of Chicago University, Believes Test Plan Won't Bring Results.

A librarian for the Chicago public library cannot properly be chosen by means of tests and examinations, and attempts to find a successor for Frederick H. Hild in such a fashion is likely to meet disaster.

This is the opinion of Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago. In line with an announced determination on the part of the civil service commissioners to conduct the approaching examination for librarian on the highest plane and to exert every possible means to bring forward the best man for the place, Elton Lower asked assistance of President Judson yesterday in naming three men qualified to draw up a set of questions for the candidates.

"I think such a plan is futile and that attempts to get the right librarian in that manner will be barren of result," said Mr. Judson.

Librarian Hild denied during the day he would seek the aid of the law in retaining his position as head of the library.

ESTIMATES DEATHS FROM DRINK

Evanston Pastor Tells W. C. T. U. That Drunken Mothers Smother 2,500 Babies Every Year.

Figures concerning deaths caused by liquor were quoted by the Rev. E. L. Eaton, D. D., pastor of the Emanuel Methodist Episcopal church of Evanston last night at the Cook county W. C. T. U. convention in Moody church. He asserted that 2,500 babies were smothered to death annually by drunken mothers and that 1,000 wives were murdered by drunken husbands.

"There are 9,000 other murders committed because of drink each year," he said. "Drink makes 40,000 widows each year and ruins 60,000 girls. Paupers to the number of 200,000 are made from liquor annually and in the same time there are 100,000 drink-murdered men."

The sessions will continue today.

PLAN TO END PARTY FARES

Chicago-Twin City Railroad Men Meet in Minneapolis.

SEEK HIGHER FRUIT TARIFF.

Californians Appeal in Vain for Aid of Local Lines.

Passenger officials of the principal Chicago-Twin City railroads left last night for Minneapolis to attend a passenger meeting called for this morning, at which the proposition to abolish all second class party fares will be considered.

A committee representing the California Fruit Growers' exchange, headed by B. A. Woodford, vice president and general manager, was in the city asking the railroads to aid them in their efforts to secure an increase in the tariff on citrus fruit imports.

They were informed that the railroads felt they had done enough to aid the industry by giving low rates, which were reduced from $1.25 to $1 last year, and by spending large sums to improve the fruit service. The committee is on its way to Washington to confer with the senate committee.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, in connection with the Evansville and Terre Haute and the Louisville and Nashville roads, will put on a new fast passenger and mail train for the southeast on Sunday morning. The train will leave the La Salle street station at 2:20 a. m., and will provide greatly improved service to points south of the Ohio river.

Seventy members of the Railway Business association left last night for Springfield where today they will urge the legislature not to take any action on the pending measures which affect railroads.

COURT CAN'T FIX RAIL RATES.

Kansas City, Mo., April 28.—A supplementary decision in the rate cases involving the eighteen railroad companies operating in Missouri was filed in the federal court today by Judge Smith McPherson.

Judge McPherson declines to recede from his first opinion, rendered on March 8 last, either in the matter of the division of the costs of the proceedings or to change his original holding that the court cannot fix rates. In effect the decision means that the railways and the state each must pay one-half of the costs, which aggregate $18,000, and that the court refuses the railways' petition which asked it to specifically state what passenger rates they should charge.

As to the contention that the court was in error in its original opinion in that the penalties of the statutes render them void, Judge McPherson now holds that this section of the state statutes imposing penalties is void.

In the matter of fixing rates Judge McPherson holds that that is for the legislature, acting itself with experts, or through a commission with like assistance.

ANTHRACITE WAGE AGREEMENT CONTAINS NEW CONDITIONS.

Tri-District Convention Approves Three Year Contract—Rate Not to Be Less than Under Old Award.

Scranton, Pa., April 28.—After weeks of consideration the final stage in the work of settling the differences existing between the anthracite mine workers and their employers has been reached and tomorrow is expected to see the end of the controversy.

The tri-district convention of the union miners today unanimously approved the three year agreement reached by their representatives with the operators and authorized them to sign it tomorrow in Philadelphia. The agreement is identical with the one signed three years ago in New York, with the following additional conditions which the operators have conceded the men:

"The rate which shall be paid for new work shall not be less than the rates paid under the strike commission's award for old work of a similar kind or character.

"The arrangement and decisions of the conciliation board permitting the collection of dues on the company property, and the posting of notices thereon, shall continue during the life of this agreement.

"An employé discharged for being a member of a union shall have a right to appeal his case to the conciliation board for final adjustment.

"Any dispute arising at a colliery under the terms of this agreement must first be taken up with the mine foreman and superintendent by employé or committee of employés directly interested, before it can be taken up with the conciliation board.

"Employers shall issue pay statements designating the name of the company, the name of the employé, the colliery where employed, the amount of wages and the class of work performed."

The United Mine Workers' union under the agreement is not officially recognized, the miners having waived this demand.

GUILD DECLARES NO NATION CAN LIVE WITHOUT RELIGION.

Former Governor Declares Atheism and Anarchy Are Inseparable—Universal Faith Not Expected.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28.—"The dangers that threaten a free, popular government come not from this religion or that religion, nor from any religion—but from irreligion. Atheism and anarchy are sisters. Strip from man the sense of his responsibility to God and you dissolve by the same act his sense of responsibility to man."

So declared former Gov. Curtis Guild Jr. of Massachusetts this afternoon in an address on "Liberal Religion a Positive Faith" before the first congress of the National Federation of Religious Liberals now being held in this city.

"No republic of atheists ever has endured," continued the governor. "We are likely to see in our time neither a universal language nor a universal religion, but world's congress after world's congress for the promotion of the industry, the world's comfort, the world's health, the world's peace is bringing in its train at least the quickening sense that in a reverent and universal acquiescence in the fatherhood of God is included the ever increasing recognition of the brotherhood of man."

WHEAT WEAKENS AT FINISH

May and July Score Sharp Gains, but Rally Is Not All Held.

WET WEATHER BULL FACTOR

Heavy Pressure on Corn and Oats and Prices Decline Sharply.

Heavy offerings of wheat during the last half hour of trading wiped out a large part of sharp gains scored early, but there was still a substantial improvement in the price of May and July at the close. September and December did not respond so sharply to the buying early, the former closing ⅜c higher, while the far off month was ⅛c lower. May and July each closed 1c higher. Cold, wet weather in the northwest, a material advance at Liverpool, and light receipts were the influential factors early, profit taking and a renewal of bear pressure being offsetting influences late in the session. Scarcity of offerings more than any big buying made the advance possible. At the opening there was little wheat in the pit, initial prices being at radical advances. Trade throughout was largely of a professional character.

Foreign News Is Bullish.

Foreign news was more bullish, reports contradictory to recent advices regarding Russian shipments being forwarded by Broomhall, who now states exports will probably be much lighter than expected. Predictions of small Argentine exports were also forwarded and the trade here was uncertain in regard to the situation owing to the changing character of the advices. Liverpool was up 1⅜@1½d at the close; Paris, ½c; Berlin, 2¼c; Antwerp, ⅝c; and Buenos Aires, 1¼@1¾c. Hungarian crop advices were more favorable and there was a decline of 3c in the Budapest market. Advices in regard to the foreign spot demand indicated a material improvement in the situation, cargoes being in good demand both in united kingdom and continental markets.

Cash Prices Still High.

High cash prices continue to be the mainstay of the bulls and there has been no reduction in premiums for wheat. In fact, in some directions there has been a further increase in them. Kansas City sold hard wheat at the highest price on the crop and the local market No. 2 red sold on track at 20c over May. Country advices indicate no increase in the movement, and holders are firm in their views in all markets. The export demand is slow both for spot and forward shipment, small sales being reported of Manitoba wheats—40,000 bu No. 2 hard, new, is being offered on the basis of 6c over Chicago September free on board Galveston for last half September shipment. Receipts were a little larger at primary points, but still small—210,000 bu, against 231,000 bu a year ago. Local cars were 6, with 7 expected today. Winnipeg had 75 cars, against 66 cars a year ago.

Seeding Is Progressing Slowly.

Seeding operations in the northwest are not being carried on under as favorable conditions as could be desired, but so far there is no real alarm expressed. While not as early as usual, there is still plenty of time to finish in proper time. In North Dakota it is claimed less than one-third of the wheat is in, and north of the international boundary the freezing weather has seriously retarded the seeding. Warmer weather is also needed in the winter wheat belt, but conditions are generally favorable. The Minneapolis flour output was a little larger than a year ago and local millers report an excellent demand, especially for soft winter wheat flour. Local cash sales were 80,000 bu. Minneapolis reported the sale of 50,000 bu No. 1 northern to country mills. Export clearances were only 58,000 bu.

Heavy Selling of Corn.

Heavy selling of corn by local longs caused a weak finish to this market. At the start substantial advances were scored, but the pit gave indications of being overbought, and with an increasing volume of selling prices melted rapidly. Comstock, Pringle, Champlin, Edwards, Harris-Winthrop, Wagner, and Logan-Bryan were all heavy sellers, while the buying was scattered after the opening and principally on resting orders. Increasing country offerings and the desire to take profits were the chief factors. Final prices were ⅝@¾c lower. Receipts were small at 41 cars, with 79 expected today, and the cash demand was good, with sales of 165,000 bu, but there was not sufficient new buying to take care of the offerings. Primary receipts were 213,000 bu, against 318,000 bu a year ago. Liverpool closed 1d higher. Offerings of La Plata corn were not so large. Cash prices were ¼@¾c higher.

Oats Show Small Losses.

Country commission houses were big buyers of September oats in the forepart of the session, but the late weakness in corn unsettled the market and free realizing by longs caused a decline, final quotations showing net losses of ⅛@⅜c. Northwestern advices in regard to seeding were bullish, but the market has been advanced sharply on these conditions already and a reaction was considered due. Receipts continue to run light, arrivals here being 95 cars, while shipping sales were 175,000 bu. Primary points had 419,000 bu, against 465,000 bu a year ago. Estimates for today are 90 cars. Cash prices were ¼@½c better. Schifflin, Wells, and Logan-Bryan were heavy sellers of September and July. Ware-Leland and Mauff were on the buying side. Peavey and Buckley bought May and sold July.

Shippers Want Rye.

There was a good shipping demand for rye, sales aggregating 15,000 bu, and prices were strongly held. May sold at 82c. No. 2 sold on track at 85½@86c. No. 3 was quoted 80@85c and No. 4 at 75@80c. Receipts, 1 car.

Malting barley was easy, but mixing kinds were firmly held. Malting was quoted 66½@68½c; mixing, 65½@68½c; and screenings, 50@68½c. Receipts were 51 cars.

Flaxseed had an advance of 2¼c. Unfavorable weather in the northwest and sharp advances in prices at Minneapolis and Duluth were factors. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.66½; No. 1 from the northwest, $1.65; and No. 1 southwestern, $1.56½. Receipts, 1 car.

Timothy seed was unchanged. April was quoted $3.80 and September $3.60 bid; country lots, $2.50@3.80. Cloverseed held firm; April was quoted $9.50; cash lots, $7.25@9.25.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON CHANGE.

An excellent demand was in evidence for cash wheat yesterday and sales aggregated a fair total. May price in store was paid for No. 2 hard and a car of No. 2 red sold at 20c over May on track. At Kansas City the highest price of the season was paid for No. 2 hard, $1.38, and St. Louis reported Tennessee millers good buyers of wheat. Winnipeg wired that the mills were buyers of July wheat. New No. 2 hard wheat is quoted at about 6c over Chicago September f. o. b. Galveston for last half of September shipment. There has been comparatively little new crop wheat sold recently for forward shipment and foreigners are not taking hold as freely as a year ago. Export sales of Manitoba wheat were 40,000 bu. Corn was ¼@⅜c higher and oats ¼@½c up. The demand for both corn and oats was fair. Shipping sales were 80,000 bu wheat, 165,000 bu corn, 175,000 bu oats, and 15,000 bu rye.

The weekly summary of the Northwestern Miller as received by Logan-Bryan said: "The Minneapolis flour output last week increased 5,745 brls. The quantity turned out was 259,670 brls, against 257,775 in 1908. About the same milling capacity was in motion as a week ago and the week's output should approximate 250,000 brls. A restricted business was done by most mills last week. The sensational decline in wheat created distrust among buyers and they took flour only as necessity dictated. However, aggregate bookings frequently made a fair showing. Flour is being ordered out freely and mills quite generally have a much smaller unmber of orders on their books than usual at this time of year. Weather for the week has been cold and not favorable for seeding. The temperature has ranged from 10 to 70 degrees."

Corn prices are beginning to attract a little country selling and premiums suffered materially yesterday. On Monday No. 3 yellow sold at a premium of 3c over the May, while yesterday it was sold at 1c over. In this state country offerings were much larger than they have been for some time, and there were only moderate offerings from Iowa. Some interior points are selling corn, but find the market for it at small points throughout the country better than at Chicago. In Iowa considerable corn is being shipped into the northwest.

At one time yesterday July wheat was nearly 5c up from the recent low point, most of the advance having been scored in the last two days. On the theory that prices had reacted far enough to let the majority of the smaller shorts cover there was some disposition to sell for profits and also to put out fresh short lines. Bulls are still pinning their faith to the small receipts and extravagant cash prices and were more confident of a return of high values yesterday than at any time since the big decline.

Broomhall's advices in regard to Russian shipments were contradictory to the reports he forwarded a few days ago. Last week it was stated that Russian shipments would be large for five or six weeks. Yesterday the statement was made that exports from that country would again show a sharp falling off in a week or so.

Some confusion has been caused by the report that John Hill, Jr., had gone to New York to take charge of the cotton department of Logan-Bryan. The cotton man is John C. Hill and not the John Hill, Jr., who is well known on the board of trade.

Lake had a number of reports from the northwest saying weather conditions were unfavorable and that seeding in North Dakota was only one-third completed.

Weather conditions in Hungary were much improved and this betterment in the outlook was reflected in a 3c decline at Budapest.

Linus S. Hoyt has applied for membership on the board of trade and Robert G. Tennant has posted his membership for transfer.

Winnipeg receipts of wheat were 75 cars, compared with 63 cars a week ago and 66 cars the corresponding day last year.

Estimated receipts are: Wheat, 7 cars; corn, 79 cars; oats, 90 cars; rye, 3 cars; barley, 33 cars; hogs, 24,000.

Minneapolis stocks of wheat decreased 575,000 bu for four days.

Charters were made for 80,000 bu corn to Buffalo.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, April 28.—All fresh receipts of live stock sold at firmer prices than were obtainable on the preceding day, but the strength resulted more from the limited offerings than from any urgency to the demand, as buyers devoted most of their time in trying to keep values from advancing. Most of the steers made firm to 10c higher figures, while a few loads of extra choice beeves, suitable for shipping and exporting, cleared at a gain of 15c. Butcher stock values remained practically unchanged, but sellers had less difficulty in disposing of their holdings at the prices.

Shippers and speculators paid an advance of 5c for hogs of all weights, but packers refused to follow this advance and at the finish there were many loads of hogs left in the hands of the early buyers. Sheep sold at an advance of 5@10c, while lambs cleared at a general advance of 10c, all grades being up to a new high level for the year. Sheep topped at $5.80, while wool lambs reached $8.50, and clippers sold up to $7.45.

CATTLE.

There was a fair demond for beef cattle from eastern shippers and exporters and sellers succeeded in getting an advance of 10@15c for offerings suitable for these buyers. Local packers also showed a willingness to operate on a fairly liberal scale, but they were reluctant to pay all of the gain established by the outside buyers, and salesmen were compelled to let them have their quota of stock at an advance of only 10c after most of the shipping commissions were executed. The trade was minus the snap which should have characterized the market with arrivals of only 13,000 head, but the outlet was broad enough to absorb all of the offerings, and nothing was left unsold at the finish.

There were no choice finished beeves included in the run and the best price secured was $6.85, comparing with a top of $7.00 Monday. A large share of the good beeves cleared at from $6.00 to $6.55, while the medium grades made $5.50@5.75, and the plain light offerings sold at from $4.75 to $5.25. About the only change reported in the market for cows and heifers was that sellers could dispose of their holdings with less difficulty than on previous days at practically unchanged prices. Bulls made firm values, while calves sold readily at an advance of 25c. Quotations:

Beef steers, good to prime	$6.30@7.00
Beef steers, plain to good	4.35@6.30
Exporters	5.40@6.25
Beef cows, good to choice	4.50@6.00
Beef cows, plain to good	3.50@5.00

Calves, common to choice heavy	2.75@5.00
Good to prime vealers	5.00@6.35
Feeding steers	4.00@5.80

Cattle at six western markets, 26,300, against 33,600 a week ago, 27,200 a year ago, and 40,500 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 2,304,600, against 2,424,000 the same period in 1908.

HOGS.

Shipping orders were only moderate, as usual on Wednesday, but with fresh arrivals only 19,000 head speculators looked for advancing prices, and they came into the trade early, paying largely 5c higher than Tuesday's best figures for hogs of all weights. Shippers were compelled to follow this advance in order to get hogs started to their destination at an early hour, and salesmen had comparatively little difficulty in disposing of all their holdings at the full advance. One scalper paid up to $7.52½ for prime butcher hogs, but $7.50 was the stopping point for the shippers, and they secured all the stock they wanted without passing this figure.

Packers positively refused to pay any advance, and they stayed out of the trade until the shippers had filled their orders. By that time all the hogs left for sale were in the hands of the speculators, and as they did not want to unload at lower figures than they were forced to pay early the packers were forced to be satisfied with moderate droves, and many hogs were carried over unsold. Packers paid $7.20@7.35 for most of the mixed hogs they secured. Strongweight pigs were in good demand at firm prices, but the lightweights were neglected. Quotations:

Bulk of sales	$7.20@7.40
Selected butchers	7.45@7.52½
Prime heavy shippers	7.40@7.50
Medium weight shippers	7.30@7.40

Average price of hogs at Chicago $7.35, against $7.32 Tuesday, $7.18 a week ago, $5.59 a year ago, and $6.47 two years ago.

Eleven markets received 73,000 hogs, against 75,100 a week ago, 69,900 a year ago, and 94,900 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date 9,008,000, against 10,653,000 the same period in 1908.

SHEEP.

Buyers tried hard to check the upward trend of live mutton values, but with receipts of only 19,000 head, they were at a disadvantage, and salesmen forced them to add another 10c to their bids before they let them have the bulk of the offerings. The early trade was inactive, but when buyers saw that the higher prices were inevitable, they filled their orders without restriction, and the market closed strong and active at the best prices of the season. Sheep did not meet with as broad a demand as the lambs, but they made up a smaller part of the offerings, and prices held firm to 5c higher, with instances of 10c gain.

Prime Colorado wool lambs reached a new top for the season at $8.60, while clippers made further progress towards the $8.00 mark by selling up to $7.45. The quality of the offerings was desirable and the big bulk of the prime wool lambs cleared at from $8.35@8.55, while clippers sold at from $7.25@7.45 for choice lots, and at from $6.90@7.20 for the medium to good killers. Most of the arrivals consisted of clipped lambs, but they met with favor with the buyers and nothing was left unsold at the finish. Shorn sheep sold at from $5.50@5.80 for the bulk, while a string of wool ewes cleared at $6.15, and some wool yearlings made $7.50. Quotations:

Fat wool wethers	$6.00@6.60

Clipped yearlings	5.50@6.25

Receipts for April 29 were estimated at 4,000 cattle, 17,000 hogs, and 9,000 sheep, against actual arrivals of 5,490 cattle, 17,874 hogs, and 14,936 sheep for Thursday, April 30, 1908.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Weakness in grains and a fair amount of realizing, with less aggressive support, caused an easy tone to the provisions market after a firm opening. Hog receipts were 21,000, against 25,000 expected, with prices at the yards 5c up, and this helped to firm the list at the outset. Trade was narrow, with a little buying of May ribs, supposed to be for Armour, about the only feature. Cash trade in meats is excellent, and local stocks of dry salted meats are expected to show a sharp decrease this month. Western hog receipts were 71,500, against 63,000 a year ago. About 24,000 hogs expected here today. Lard at Liverpool 3d higher, but other quotations were unchanged.

Chicago Horse Market.

Increased offerings of horses had a depressing influence on the market, and the trade did not have the snap which was so prominent a week ago. Prices were not lowered, but salesmen could not secure the satisfactory values that were obtainable for intermediate grades a few days ago and more peddling was necessary before a clearance of the offerings could be effected. Drafters were held at from $175.00@215.00 for the average offerings and at from $225.00@250.00 for the extreme weight lots. Medium weight chunks met with a fair inquiry at from $140.00@175.00, while farm mares moved at from $130.00@175.00. Drivers cleared at from $150.00@350.00. Mules held at from $75.00@200.00 for light to heavy truck classes. Receipts for three days were 1,622 head, against 1,563 a week ago and 1,854 a year ago.

IN THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

EGGS.

CHICAGO, April 28.—All grades of eggs met with a steady demand at unchanged prices. Shippers, speculators, and retailers were on the market for supplies, and the market closed in good condition and entirely free of accumulations. April storage packed eggs attracted more general attention and were quoted firm at 21¾c per doz. Quotations:

CHEESE.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Offerings of new cheese met with a quiet demand, and holders were willing to make concessions in prices rather than have arrivals accumulate on the market. Limburger and Swiss cheese were not affected by the increased receipts of new cheese, and they sold at unchanged figures. Quotations:

Western twins	13½@14c	Longhorns	14@14½c

POULTRY.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Live poultry offerings met with an uneven demand, and while prices of fowls were advanced ½c, turkeys and ducks had to sell at a decline of 1c a lb. The recessions were not reflected in the price of iced turkeys and ducks, but the advance in live fowls was followed by a like gain in the value of iced offerings. Quotations:

Live chickens	14½c	Iced chickens	14½c
Do roosters	10c	Do turkeys	16@20c
Do turkeys	16c	Do ducks	11@12c

VEGETABLES.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Potatoes met with a quiet demand and although receipts were only 30 cars, the supply on track was increasing. Prices were not lowered, but buyers held the upper hand and recessions were expected. New potatoes were freely offered at declining prices. Asparagus sold at a reduction and weakness was the chief characteristic of the market for all green vegetables. Quotations:

FRUITS.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Strawberry prices covered a wide range, with sales of fancy offerings in quart cases at up to $3.00, and of common soft and green berries at around $1.00 and lower. Salesmen had no difficulty in disposing of the choice offerings, but they had to let the inferior lots go to peddlers at unsatisfactory figures. There was no change in the market for other fruits. STRAW.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Rye, $9.00@9.50; oat, $6.50@7.50, and wheat, $6.00@6.50.

Groceries.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Jobbers were in receipt of advices from the coast telling of poor prospects for the new crop of apricots and of rapidly vanishing stocks of old crop offerings. Consequently there was a firming up of the local market for these goods and buyers found it more difficult to place orders without paying higher prices. The market for prunes was in an unsettled condition, with holders of stock anxious to sell out before the warm weather compelled them to place their holdings in cold storage. Peaches, apples, and raisins met with a steady demand at unchanged prices. Firmness pervaded the market for corn products and there was a strong upward tendency in prices of oatmeal, rolled oats, and other cereals, but little business was being transacted in flour and other wheat products.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Advanced values for refined sugars were momentarily expected and holders were keeping offerings off the market. Following were the ruling prices in wholesale circles, quotations being on 100 lb lots: Standard granulated, beet and cane, $5.25@5.34; cut loaf, H. & E., $6.27; standard powdered, $5.75; extra C, $4.95; canary, $4.75; chemically pure milk sugar, 20c per lb in brl lots.

NEW YORK, April 28.—SUGAR—Raw steady; fair refining, 3.42c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3.92c; molasses sugar, 3.17c; refined steady; crushed, 5.75c; powdered, 5.15c; granulated, 5.05c.

COFFEE.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Offerings met with a quiet demand at unchanged prices. Active buying of previous days has left dealers with small stocks on hand, and they were not pressing sales. Receipts at Rio and Santos were 2,000 bags each.

NEW YORK, April 28.—COFFEE—Spot steady; No. 7, Rio, 8¼c; No. 4, Santos, 9c; mild quiet; Cordova, 9¾@13c. Prices steady to an advance of 5 points, notwithstanding a decline of ¼ franc in the French market on covering by near month shorts and renewed agitation of an import duty. Prices advanced sharply on a bullish interpretation of these advices and the market closed steady net 10@25 points lower. Sales were reported of 39,250 bags, including May at 6.85@7.05c, July at 6.55@6.65c, September at 6.10@6.20c, December at 5.90@6.00c, and January at 5.90c.

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Firmness pervaded all branches of the wholesale dry goods market and manufacturers found jobbers ready to anticipate their wants for fully a year ahead, while the jobbers had no difficulty in interesting retailers in goods to be delivered as late as the closing months of this year. While the buyers were anxious to make contracts, the sellers were inclined to go slowly, however, as while values are down to a level where less profitable selling prices cannot be expected unless the bottom should suddenly drop out of the market, general indications point to a much more satisfactory trading basis in the near future.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The dry goods markets are generally quiet, with values holding steady on cotton goods and tending higher on men's wear. Silks are quiet, with a better business reported on ribbons for immediate delivery. Hosiery and underwear are quiet. Cotton yarns hold fairly steady.

Cotton.

NEW YORK, April 28.—COTTON—Spot closed quiet. Middling uplands, $10.75; middling gulf, $11.00. No sales. The market opened steady at an advance of 2@4 points, which was not a full response to firm cables. After selling 2@3 points net lower prices rallied to about the closing figures of the previous day, but there was no aggressive support, and later the market weakened again under a renewal of scattering liquidation and local bear pressure. The decline during the afternoon was probably promoted also by reports that cotton was being shipped in this direction a little more freely for delivery on the near months, and the close was within a point or two of the lowest. Arrivals of cotton at New York yesterday were the heaviest for some time, amounting to a little over 2,000 bales. Southern spot markets officially reported early were generally unchanged to ⅛c lower. Futures opened easy and closed steady. Quotations:

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 28.—COTTON—Spot quiet and easy, 1-16c lower; middling, 10¼c. Soles on spot, 550 bales; to arrive, 200 bales. Futures opened barely steady at a decline of 1@4 points. Liverpool was about as expected, but more favorable weather conditions in the western belt caused the bulls to pause. That shorts figured in the selling to some extent was shown toward the closing, when a slight recovery was caused by bear realizing. The closing, however, was at about the lowest, prices showing a net decline of 12@16 points. Futures closed steady. Quotations:

ADMITS THREATS IN LETTERS.

Evanston Youth's Lawyer Pleads, However, That Client Is Mentally Irresponsible.

When arraigned before Federal Judge Landis yesterday a plea of guilty was entered by William J. Pollard, the Evanston youth who wrote threatening letters to Dr. Adolph Gehrmann, the Rev. D. P. Roberts, the Rev. William O. Waters, Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler, and others, signing them "The Knights of the White Death." Demands for money were made in the letters.

W. H. Dyrenforth, attorney for the young man, maintained to the court that Pollard is mentally irresponsible and asked that he be not punished but paroled instead to his mother.

Judge Landis took the case under advisement and said that before he disposed of it he would have the young man examined by an expert to determine the condition of his mind.

WELLS, FARGO CO. GETS LEASE

Secures Control of U. S. Express Company Building.

MORE SOUTH SIDE DEALS.

Van Wagenen Alling Adds to Michigan Avenue Holdings.

In connection with its acquirement of the express business of the Milwaukee and St. Paul road from Chicago to the Pacific coast, Wells, Fargo & Co. have leased from Thomas C. Platt of New York, president of the United States Express company, the building and ground now occupied by the latter at the northwest corner of West Water and Washington streets. The lease is for ten years from May 1 next at an annual rental of $7,500.

The lot has an east front of 153 feet by 41 feet on the south and 50 feet on the north, and is improved with a three story and basement building. It will be used as a depot office, and has been occupied by the United States company during the fifteen years it has been operating over the St. Paul road. The acquisition gives Wells, Fargo & Co. 9,000 more miles of operating territory, and altogether it has recently added to its former mileage of 59,900 by 12,000 miles.

Wells, Fargo & Co. are about to construct an outbilling station in Fifth avenue, south of Polk street, of 259 feet frontage, which, together with the land, will represent an investment of about $500,000.

Adds to Michigan Avenue Realty.

Van Wagenen Alling has added to his recent extensive purchase in south Michigan avenue by the acquirement from A. R. Spear of the premises 2451, being 24x112 feet, and from Mary E. Gilman the premises adjoining at 2453, 14x112 feet, making thirty-eight feet in all. The consideration is said to be around $600 a front foot, and the deal was negotiated by Farnham, Willoughby & Co.

Bernard Horwich has purchased from the estate of Frank J. Merz the apartment house property at the northeast corner of Fullerton avenue and Halsted street, with 73x140 feet of ground, for $65,000, subject to an incumbrance of $30,000, assumed.

S. M. Becker has purchased through Willis & Frankenstein from Charlotte Erickson and others seventy-five feet front in Ontario street, west of Orleans street, for $25,000. The purchaser plans the erection of a six story warehouse building to cost $50,000.

Acquires Aberdeen Street Holdings.

Frederick Becklenberg has acquired by quitclaim from Joseph Uhrig eight parcels of property in Aberdeen street, Emerald, Princeton, and Howard avenues for a total consideration of $47,850.

STEEL REPORT AIDS STOCKS

Favorable Showing Makes for Higher Prices of Issues.

RAILWAY SHARES ADVANCE.

Money a Trifle Easier at Home but Little Changed Abroad.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, April 28.—[Special.]—The earnings statement of the United States Steel corporation for the March quarter was not published until after the close of the stock market on Tuesday, and the excellent showing of the company, far beyond the expectations either in Wall street or trade circles, was, therefore, the principal influence making for higher prices at the opening of business today."

There can be no doubt of the good impression created in financial circles by the progressive improvement in the iron and steel situation as illustrated by this return of the steel corporation. The earnings for each succeeding month of the quarter disclosed advances, and the total for the period was at least $3,000,000 above the minimum of the preliminary estimates current in the financial district. Only one source of disappointment existed in the document; unfilled orders on hand on March 31 were 59,000 tons under those of Dec. 31.

Effect of Cuts Not Shown.

This showing was much commented on, since it apparently failed to reveal any decided increase in business following price reductions. In an entirely unofficial way it became known today, however, that the full effects of the cuts in stimulating orders were not experienced in the quarter covered by the report, having been delayed until near the opening of the present month, during which incoming business has far exceeded the volume of the earlier months of the year. All the testimony as to betterment in steel and iron does not need to be drawn from the steel corporation's report, however, for after mentioning the growing firmness in prices of certain steel products, so excellent an authority as the Iron Age commented on the pig iron situation today in these words:

"The feeling is becoming more general that the tide is turned, and that for the near future higher rates rather than lower prices are likely."

Steel Prominent in Trading.

Under these circumstances it was not at all strange that United States Steel shares occupied a prominent place in trading today, the common rising 1½ points on transactions of over 100,000 shares and the preferred attaining a new high record price at 115¼. Standard railroad stocks did even better, Union Pacific and Reading gaining 2⅝ and 2¾ points, with other issues following their lead closely. Foreign markets, particularly those of London and Berlin, seemed impressed by the steel showing here, and their substantial purchases of stock were based upon this in part. It also was obvious that the progress of events in Turkey was creating no anxiety abroad.

Money markets were a trifle easier again, call money dropping to 1¼ per cent, with certain maturities in time money also quotably lower. In the foreign exchange market quotations were little altered; abroad discounts were lower. The banks here continued to lose ground on routine transactions with the subtreasury, having lost since Friday last $2,676,000.

Money on call, steady, 1½@2 per cent; ruling rate, 2; no bid; offered at 1. Time loans, slightly easier; 60 days, 2¼@2½ per cent; 90 days, 2½ per cent; and 6 months, 3 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 3¼@4 per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at 486@486.15 for 60 day bills, and at 487.30 for demand; commercial bills, 485¼@485⅜. Bar silver, 52⅝c; Mexican dollars, 44c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds strong.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, April 28.—Money was easily obtainable on the market today and discounts were quiet. The stock exchange maintained general steadiness without an expansion of business. Consols hardened on government buying, while foreign rails and bonds met with speculative as well as investment attention, principally for continental account, which also was responsible for the strength in Kaffirs. American securities, under the lead of Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, and with general buying, went over parity in the forenoon. United States Steel benefited by the quarterly statement. Later New York bought Baltimore and Ohio, Union Pacific, and United States Steel, which caused a further improvement, and the market closed firm.

IN THE WORLD OF FINANCE

Rock Island System Has $358,337 Decrease in 9 Months.

MARCH SHOWS $400,000 GAIN

Canadian Banks Show Heavy Increase in American Loans.

Earnings of the Rock Island system for March were issued yesterday. The Rock Island showed a gain of 4.2 per cent in operating revenue and a considerable increase in operating expenses, so that the net gain was $110,466.

Frisco made a relatively better exhibit with an increase of 11.8 per cent in gross. Chicago and Eastern Illinois had a comparatively large decrease in gross. Evansville and Terre Haute also showed a falling off in gross.

All the lines for March, however, gained more than $400,000 in gross. For the first nine months of the fiscal year the gross earnings of the entire system were $84,585,128, a decrease of $358,337.

The Missouri Pacific figures for February showed an increase of 16.3 per cent in freight revenues, but a small decrease in passenger revenues. The St. Louis and Iron Mountain for February made an excellent exhibit with a gain of 35.6 per cent in freight revenues and a small increase in passenger earnings.

North Butte Recovers.

North Butte, which Thomas Lawson has been bearing, had a sharp recovery from 58¾ to 64. The Lawson influence usually is short lived. In the case of North Butte he has been able to do considerable damage, owing to the dissemination of stories to the effect that the lower levels of the mine were proving disappointing. This statement having been officially denied, and the nature of the attack on the stock having become fully known, the price rallied accordingly.

Heavy Canadian Lending in U. S.

The Canadian banks are sending more money out of the country on call loans than ever before, according to advices from Montreal. It is reported that at the end of March the call loans of the Canadian banks, outside of Canada, reached $117,850,000, which compares with $52,500,000 at the corresponding date last year.

The foregoing figures indicate that the Canadian institutions are well loaned up and that the credit they have extended in the United States is extraordinarily large. This fact, together with the closely loaned condition of the banks of this country, foreshadows higher money rates in this country upon the appearance of the first demand of any consequence, from either the country or mercantile interests.

Gain in Chicago Railways.

Gross earnings of the Chicago Railways company for April will be approximately $1,000,000, an increase of 15½ per cent over the corresponding month last year.

Predicts Broad Market.

F. D. Countiss of S. B. Chapin & Co. wired the following from New York:

"I think we are running into a good, broad stock market and look for higher prices throughout the entire list. I understand a merger of the copper companies is contemplated. The United States Steel company statement has created a much better feeling all around."

Dividend Declared.

A semi-annual dividend of $3.50 a share on the capital stock of the Tampa Electric company, has been declared, payable May 15, 1909, to stockholders of record at the close of business May 3, 1909.

General Financial News.

Since Friday the New York subtreasury has gained $2,676,000 from the banks.

It was announced officially that Jones & Laughlin had followed the lead of the United States Steel corporation and advanced the prices of bars and plates.

Directors of the Associated Oil company have voted to issue $25,000,000 bonds. Of this amount $6,000,000 will be expended immediately in the construction of a pipe line from Colinga to San Francisco bay and another from McKittrick to Gavick.

Chicago Securities.

American Can shares were active, but did not hold the high price. The buying continues good.

There is continued trading in Booth & Co. preferred. So far as can be learned the buying is due to a small value in the way of rights.

There was some activity in the elevated securities, but until the leading interests have before them the proposed terms of rental it will not be possible to figure out whether the securities are a purchase or a sale.

Bids must set forth whether or not the bidder will take and pay for in full such bonds as may be adjudicated to him or them, or will take and pay for twenty-five per cent of said bonds and accept delivery at such times and in such amounts as the Sewerage and Water Board may direct upon the giving of thirty days' notice.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

In order to secure the time for the signing and delivery of said bonds, and in the event that the entire $2,000,000 of said bonds are adjudicated for cash and immediate delivery, the same will be delivered to the purchaser or purchasers as follows:

'Be Somebody'

Buy a ten or twenty acre orchard home in the Pacific northwest.
Be one of a unique colony with suburban home comforts in the celebrated, scenic, irrigated BITTER ROOT VALLEY.

This land is sold to discriminating people—to men of good social position, reasonable capital, sane business judgment, and love of outdoor life.
Berries and vegetables yield silver dollars at once; apples and hardy fruits yield golden eagles later. Own a country place that will give an income of $5,000.00 to $20,000.00 per annum.
Hundreds of successful business men from the East have proven that it can be done. Hundreds of "the best people" are living a happy, healthy, contented outdoor life on estates that are giving an independent income and appreciating in value every day.
Thousands of acres surrounding this recently irrigated tract have been cultivated for 40 years with no suggestion of a crop failure, no unseasonable frosts, no insect pests, no low market prices, no disappointments from any source.
Is your future and the future of your children based on a sure, healthy, congenial foundation?
Come in and talk it over or send for printed matter.

FOR SALE—

ARCADIA COMMERCIAL ORCHARDS.
The Arcadia Orchards Company is operating the largest commercial orchard proposition in the world —10,000 acres, requiring only auxiliary irrigation—being rapidly planted to apple trees. When the trees come to bearing the land will be worth at least $1,000 an acre and will produce from $200 to $1,500 an acre in net fruit yield.
The company is capitalized on the basis of $1,000 per acre. Two-fifths of the stock is preferred, now on the market at $50 a share, one-half the par value.
Write for illustrated prospectus giving detailed information concerning apple growing in the Inland Empire, and demonstrating how you can invest in Arcadia Orchards with these results:

1. Investment absolutely safe.
2. Interest 8% from the start—guaranteed.
3. Stock increase in market value from $50 a share to $100 a share in five years.
4. Dividends on preferred stock, in addition to guaranteed interest, of from $20 to $100 a share, depending on age of the trees and beginning when orchards come to bearing. Address

ARCADIA ORCHARDS COMPANY,
Room 625, Hyde Block, Spokane, Wash., U. S. A.

FOR SALE—

COLORADO FRUIT LANDS.
NUTSHELL ARGUMENTS.
IX.

On April 21st I filed on my water in the Grand River for irrigating Virginia Mesa.
This will settle the water question in the minds of those familiar with the flow of Grand River. There is no source of supply in Colorado that is more reliable. Irrigated lands are a misnomer unless ample water is available for use when required.
The other essentials in my fruit land proposition are no less complete.
Proven fruit district; first class railroad service; ample water; rich, sandy loam soil; good water and air drainage; natural protection; delightful climate; beautiful scenery.
Write me for raw lands or orchard proposition.
C. M. PAINE, De Beque, Colo.

GREER & COMPANY,
BANKERS TO SALARIED PEOPLE,
Suite 813, 140 Dearborn-st., cor. Madison.

LOANS ON INCOME—
NO RED TAPE.
NO EMBARRASSING INQUIRIES.
CONFIDENTIAL.
NO INDORSER OR MORTGAGE.

We do a straight, legitimate loan business, dealing only with the BETTER CLASS OF MEN and WOMEN, and can afford to make the LOWEST and BEST TERMS. No "banking," "merchandising," "insurance," or other scheme tacked on to swell the cost to borrowers.

We state from the start just what a loan will cost and there are no notary's fees, charges for papers, or investigating, interest added or deducted, or other extras twisted in on customers when they come to the point of getting their money. They get the full amount they ask for, too.

While we prefer the large loans, we treat the applicant for a small loan with the same courtesy and consideration accorded those who borrow $500 or more.

Our facilities for dealing with the class we cater to are ideal. Our money is no better than that of others, but there is a difference; you'll see it. Private waiting and "talk" rooms.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or incomes from other sources], who want large or small sums, confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 min. from loop district] and my being the president of a large manufacturing, wholesale, vehicles establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show its standing], and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings where money lenders congregate. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average straightforward citizen realizes that an exorbitant interest for any time is burdensome. My average rate, all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. Ask for WILLCOXE, care The Englewood Co., 538-540 E. 63d-st., cor. Greenwood-av. Tel. Hyde Park 4333.

BANKERS TO THE PEOPLE—
YOU CAN borrow money of us in small sums as well as large. Men and Women employed—Business Men, too—we will give you the fairest rate in Chicago. LADIES of reputable family may easily borrow on their own name and promise. We will give any new patron the same consideration we have given a host of honorable borrowers of quick and emergency money in our eleven years of the people's banking business, which has culminated in our now occupying new quarters, not only the most commodious but considerately convenient for those desiring to transact a personal business. Close to State-st. stores—heart of business district. We have no "insurance" or "Mercantile connection" or other device or deceit. But straightforward and courteously we offer our services and just terms to any honorable person, with or without security. Tel. Central 7064, or call, private offices [also ladies' room], in conection, with banking room, at Seventh Floor, 122 Monroe-st., cor. Clark. WEST & COMPANY.

CHANGING NAMES OF CITY STREETS.

Council Committee on Nomenclature Resumes Its Task of Simplification.

NEW NUMBERS READY.

They Will Be Sent Out Soon to Residents of Wards One to Eight.

The work of rechristening streets the names of which are in conflict under the new system of street numbering was resumed yesterday by the city council's committee on street nomenclature. Under the program contemplated, the names of many of Chicago's most aristocratic thoroughfares are to be changed back to the plebeian names they bore originally.

Juggling with street names is about the most delicate pastime in which the city's aldermen engage. Many an alderman has seen his popularity wane into positive antipathy merely by lending countenance to the change of a time honored street name.

For this reason the work of restoring order and method to the city's street names was suspended during the early spring when one alderman in each ward was meeting his constituents face to face. With the next election almost a year away, the aldermen hastened yesterday to resume their unwelcome task.

The committee, of which Ald. Hey is chairman, is contemplating some radical departures like the restoration of the honored name of Halsted street to exclusive Clarendon avenue, but they are going at it by easy stages.

They are considering taking two chunks out of Sheridan road and straightening out the kinks in the street arrangement in the northwest corner of the city known as Norwood Park. Supt. Riley of the map department submitted the names of nineteen streets which he would like to have changed.

Proposed Changes.

The list, which in some cases includes recommendations of new names, follows:

Sheridan road, between the lake and Sheffield avenue, to Byron street.

Sheridan road, between the lake and Evanston avenue, to Devon avenue.

Gilbert avenue, between Halsted and Morgan streets, to Fifty-fourth street.

Montgomery avenue, from Rockwell street 414 feet west, to Forty-first street.

Twenty-fifth street, between Robey and Leavitt streets, to Coulter street.

Levee street, between Ashland avenue and the river, to Fuller street.

Wilmot avenue, between Robey street and Hoyne avenue.

Roberts court, between Roberts and Milwaukee avenues, to Roberts avenue.

North portion of Roberts avenue to North Fifty-third avenue.

Lull place, between Ellen and Lull streets.

Hobart avenue, between West Circle and Avondale avenue, to West Seventy-first court or Wilton avenue.

East Circle avenue, between Ceylon and Mulberry avenues, to West Circle avenue.

East Circle avenue, between Mulberry and Ceylon avenue, to Circle avenue.

Portion of Crescent avenue between East Circle and Avondale avenues, to North Crescent avenue.

East and West Ravenswood Park to Ravenswood Park avenue.

State street, between Bryn Mawr avenue and west city limits, to Sanford street.

The committee was informed that the Lincoln park commissioners would consent to the change of one link in Sheridan road to Byron street, that being the thoroughfare with which the boulevard coincides at that point. The list of proposed changes was referred to a subcommittee composed of Ald. Capps, Fulton, and Redwanz.

Changes in Numbers.

A subcommittee composed of Ald. Lawley, Nolan, Redwanz, and Hey and Supt. Riley was appointed to confer with the west park board on the question of adapting the new system of street numbering to certain west side boulevards, including Marshall and Franklin.

The new street numbers by which it will be possible to tell at a glance the exact location of a residence will be sent out beginning tomorrow with the city water bills. The distribution affecting wards 1 to 8 will be made April 30.

To Fight Riot Losses.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Robert N. Holt left yesterday for Washington to argue an appeal before the United States Supreme court in the case of Frank Sturgis, who has a judgment for $702 against the city for property destroyed at Green and Congress streets during the Kellogg Switchboard company strike of 1903.

Dependent upon the court's decision in the case are claims aggregating more than $500,000 against the city.

Protest Against Park.

Protest against the opening of the Gunther baseball park in Ravenswood was received by Mayor Busse. The protest was referred to the law department.

HUSBAND FROWNS ON KISS; PRIMA DONNA LEAVES CAST.

Georgia Caine Announces She Will Take Trip in Europe Following Visit to Chicago by Spouse.

A lingering kiss, the finale of the last act of the comic opera now playing at the Princess theater, has robbed the company of its prima donna.

Georgia Caine, who repeatedly has sung through three acts to fall into the arms of the prince at the close of the third, will quit the cast soon, it was announced yesterday. She is booked to sail from New York on May 10 with her husband, Alphonse B. Hudson, a broker, for a six months' automobile tour in Europe. Mr. Hudson doesn't like the kiss, and is said to have insisted that his wife terminate her engagement in Chicago.

Seven weeks ago Mr. Hudson came from New York to see a performance. He argued the kiss was too real, so it went through a platonizing process. A week ago Mr. Hudson paid his prima donna another visit, and the kiss again became the subject of discussion. Now the broker declares he may prevail upon his wife to abandon the stage.

"Yes, my husband wants me to quit the stage," said Miss Caine. "But I can't do it all at once. I might do it slowly.

"To tell the truth, my husband and I never have had a honeymoon, and we are going to have a long, beautiful one now."

CONFERS WITH NEW YORKERS ON CHICAGO OPERA SCHEME.

J. C. Shaffer Goes to Consult Directors of Metropolitan While Offers of Support Are Reported.

Great interest was aroused throughout Chicago yesterday by the report that there is a possibility of J. Ogden Armour making a gift of $1,000,000 to aid in the establishment of a Chicago grand opera company. J. C. Shaffer, who is promoting the project, left for New York to consult with some of the directors of the Metropolitan Opera company regarding the plan.

There was no report of an immediate response on the part of any of the fifty persons invited to subscribe $10,000 each as an additional endowment fund in case Mr. Armour's gift should be received. It is understood, however, that nearly a dozen persons already have made verbal promises to make such subscriptions.

Edward C. Wentworth writes to THE TRIBUNE that in the event of it being considered wise to raise a still larger endowment fund he will be one of 100 persons to subscribe $500 a year until the company should become self-supporting.

Tariff Notice

To the Man of the House

All articles imported to the United States that are listed in the Dingley Tariff of 1897 are subject to a tax.

The price you pay for such an article at the stores includes that tax, which has been added to the cost of the material itself and the expense to manufacture.

As an example: If some person in Chicago should demand the luxury of an imported gas range, the duty on it would be 45% of its value, and that expense would be included in the selling price.

Or, a gas range that sells for $30.00 would cost $43.50 if it was imported.

Sometimes the price you pay also includes some middleman's or jobber's profit, a saleman's commission—and often other expenses are added.

* * *

The Man of the House can avoid all these added expenses.

Because the ranges sold by The Peoples Gas Light & Coke Company are manufactured in the United States according to their own particular specifications.

That means no tariff duties, jobbers' profits or salesmen's commissions.

You only pay for the best of material, strictly high-class American workmanship, and the price of each appliance represents the economical features, conveniences and extra durable construction.

This extra good quality at a reasonable cost price is what appeals to the head of every home—and these facts, backed up by our liberal guarantee, are an assurance of your sincere confidence in a "Double Economy" Gas Range.

You feel convinced that this is the very range for your home when you recall that it cuts kitchen hours in half and makes cooking easier—particularly the "cabinet" style with elevated ovens.

These ranges are delivered and connected ready for use FREE.

They are sold for cash or small monthly payments—and in case you cannot call at our nearest salesroom, write to the Peoples Gas Light & Coke Company, 155 Michigan Avenue, or telephone Central 1076. Ask for our beautifully illustrated art catalog; it is bulging with useful information.
